

2 Motor Vehicle Bills Are Due for Debate in House

By Eric W. Allen, Jr.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Salem, Ore., March 1 (UP)—Two motor vehicle bills were due for debate in the Oregon house today. A bill to provide for a graduated system of penalties for overweight logging trucks (HB 275), and senate bill 168, which would grant cities authority over commercial vehicles operating in or within three miles of a city, came to the floor for final passage.

A proposed reapportionment bill, which would change the representation of certain eastern Oregon counties in the senate, was due for an airing at a public hearing tonight.

Three Bills Passed
The senate yesterday passed three bills to define duties of the state agriculture department and the state board of health, particularly as regards food and farm production.

A senate bill (SB 29), resulting from an interim committee study, to create a new department of public health instead of the present board, remained in committee.

The other bills (SB's 127, 177 and 242) would define the legislative policy of each of the two departments and their jurisdiction; give the public health board control of eating and drinking places, and give the agriculture department control of the milk industry while taking away its powers over eating places.

A bill to create small claims departments in justice courts (HB 174) passed the house after sharp and unexpected opposition arose.

Objections Voiced
Reps. Robert Bennett and Paul Hendricks said the bill would simplify small action procedure with less formality, but Reps. Carl Francis and Max Landon objected to the bill on several grounds.

It would create the opportunity for small-time racketeers to flourish, they said. They maintained that every defendant was entitled to his day in a real court, and that the informal small claims courts would be against the "dignity" of the bench.

Francis may call for reconsideration, as he changed his vote from no to aye after the voting.

A bill to place a tax on domestic as well as foreign insurance companies passed the house (HB 390). It would also lower the premium tax from 2 1/2 to 2 per cent. Rep. R. C. Frieble said that it was in conformity with federal regulations, and the new law may avert the loss of as much as $1,250,000 in revenues yearly.

Another insurance bill (HB 391) also passed. It provides for the adoption of new mortality tables.

Watzek Named To State Board

Salem, Ore., March 1 (UP)—Aubrey R. Watzek, Portland, has been named to the state board of higher education, Gov. Earl Snell announced today, to succeed Robert W. Ruhl, Medford, for a nine-year term.

Committee Seeks Doe Protection

Salem, Ore., March 1 (UP)—The senate game committee today approved sponsorship of a bill to close the Oregon doe deer season for the next two years.

Five members of the Junior Rifle club, which is sponsored by Percy A. Stevens post No. 4, American Legion, competed in the Hearst matches at the 14th and Elgin streets range on Tuesday night. Hans S. Roedelstad, organizer and instructor of the group, reported today.

Pay Increase for Justice Sought

The salary of Justice of the Peace Wilson George, Bend, would be upped $300 annually, if the state senate follows the recommendation of its county affairs committee, according to word received from Salem today.

The committee also urged passage of HB 353, which already has passed the house, and increases generally the salaries of Deschutes county officials.

Edwin Crawford Gets Army Call

Edwin J. Crawford, a member of the class of 1945 at Bend high school who enlisted in the army air force some time ago, was ordered to report for duty and left yesterday afternoon for Camp Fielding, Calif.

Ed, a member of the Abner club, was guest of honor at a farewell party Tuesday night at the home of Ray Allen with Wayne Allen acting as host. He was presented with a cake lettered, "Good luck!" Dancing followed the presentation.

Those present were: Loretta Lechner, Shirley Dunnigan, Fern Grindle, Dolores Anderson, Grace Wandever, and Ginger Bright; Wayne Allen, George Chase, Gal Sigmund, Edwin Crawford, Norman Mikelson, Don VanLanduyt, John Berrigan, members of the Abner club; and Ray Howard.

ments were made. But at Yalta "the time had come for getting down to specific cases in the political field."

Called Compromise
He frankly described the "Big Three" decision on the boundaries of Poland as "a compromise." But he said he was convinced that "under the circumstances" it was "the most hopeful agreement possible for a free, independent, and prosperous Polish state."

The agreement would give Russia about one-third of pre-war Polish territory. Poland would receive German territory in the west, in compensation.

Roosevelt emphasized that "quite naturally" the Crimea conference did not deal with the Pacific war, but that the combined British and American staffs at Malta "made their plans to increase the attack against Japan."

In this connection, he said, the

"unconditional surrender of Japan is as essential as the defeat of Germany if our plans for world peace are to succeed."

Long Struggle Due
"The defeat of Germany will not mean the end of the war against Japan," he said. "On the contrary, America must be prepared for a long and costly struggle in the Pacific."

He said it was not yet possible to announce the procedure of voting in the United Nations security council, but that Great Britain and Russia had unanimously adopted a proposal made at Yalta by the American delegation.

It will be possible to disclose this plan "in a very short time." The president said he believed congress would find it "a fair solution of this complicated and difficult problem."

Hearing, Vision Clinic Sponsored

School children in the vicinity of Bend hear better than they see, it was discovered at the two-day hearing, vision and speech clinic conducted at the Kenwood school by state officials on Monday and Tuesday.

Thirty-five children were examined for defective vision, 22 for speech difficulties and 26 for faulty hearing. The children were from Bend, Tumalo and a rural school district. The children examined had been referred to the clinic by their teachers because of suspected defects. No cases of serious hearing loss or speech difficulties were discovered and few had serious vision defects. Children with vision difficulty will be supplied with special sight-saving books and materials and the required reading will be reduced to a minimum.

Speech and ear training will be given to children to correct specific speech difficulties.

Conferences Held
At the clinic conferences were held with parents, during which it was explained how children could be aided in properly caring for their eyes and ears. The importance of correct diet, sufficient sleep and rest for this group was emphasized.

Teachers received instructions in methods of helping handicapped children adjust themselves to the regular class room situation.

Yesterday a similar clinic was conducted in Redmond for children attending schools in that section of the county. Today a clinic was held in Prineville.

Arrangements Made
Arrangements for the clinics were made through the cooperation of Howard W. George, Bend city superintendent of schools; J. Alton Thompson, county superintendent of schools, and Dr. Wayne S. Ramsey, director of the Deschutes county department of public health. Visiting officials were assisted in conducting the clinics by county health department personnel.

The clinics were conducted by Dr. Leon Lassers, supervisor of speech correction and staff consultant in child guidance, University of Oregon school of medicine; Mrs. Ethel Fortner, supervisor of education of the visually handicapped and staff consultant for the state school for the blind; John E. Taylor, supervisor of the education of the deaf and hard-of-
