

New Equipment May Be Used in War on Nippons

New York, March 1 (AP)—William L. Batt, vice chairman of the war production board, today entered Washington's controversy over whether most of the American war materiel in Europe will be transferred to the Pacific after Germany surrenders.

Batt told the New York rotary club that such a transfer was "simply not practicable." The U. S. army and air force now fighting in Europe, he said, will have to be "pretty completely re-equipped" for the war against Japan.

His remarks were in conflict with recent statements by other high military and production officials who say that a substantial quantity of munitions in Europe will be shipped to the Pacific and used to finish off the Japanese.

Plans Revised
Batt said also that there has been a radical change within the WPB in thinking about cut-backs in war production after victory in Europe.

Last summer, he said, many officials thought the cut would be 40 per cent; but now "our most optimistic figure for post V-E day reversion is 20 per cent."

Turning again to the question of transferring equipment to the Pacific, he said:

"I can tell you that our military men may not use much of the equipment they have employed in Europe against the Japanese. Secretary Stimson says they will use what they can. But men fighting in the tropics and in many parts of the Orient require, as you know, different clothing than men fighting in northwest Europe.

Conditions Differ
"Weapons designed for the fairly good highways and rail transportation of Europe are not necessarily adapted to the primitive conditions of the far east."

On top of that, Batt said, the job of repairing and packing the equipment in Europe for reshipment is "an appalling job and to a very considerable degree simply not practicable."

"I think the inevitable results must be therefore that as we move to the Orient from Europe, our army and air force will have to be pretty completely re-equipped."

Souvenirs Sent From War Zone

Pfc. Glen Stacy, Bend soldier serving with General Mark Clark's Fifth army in Italy, found time when on the road to Naples, Volturno, Cassino, Anzio and Rome, to pick up a few trinkets, it became evident here on the receipt by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stacy, 1465 Ithaca, and his sister, Mrs. Sonny Joanis, of many souvenirs. Glen has been abroad since the first landings in Africa, and his souvenirs range from a letter written in Arabic to German money.

Also included in the package were a crucifix and rosary from Rome, sent to his sister. A bracelet of silver sent home was made with links bearing the names of places conquered by the Fifth army.

Men Lauded
An illustrated booklet sent home by Glen is the "Road to Rome," with a preface by General Clark which states:

"To the Officers and Men of the Fifth Army: You have been privileged to make history. You have taken the 'Eternal City.' You have done what forces of the famous Carthaginian, Hannibal, failed to do. You captured Rome from the south. You are liberators, not conquerors. You came to this sacred spot to drive out the enemy. You did so gallantly and effectively. All Rome welcomed you."

Christmas Tree in India Bears Bend-Made Ornaments

The Deschutes county chapter of the Junior Red Cross, composed of elementary and high school students, is happy over a letter recently received from a Red Cross base in Agra, India. The letter, dated Dec. 21, and signed by Rosalind Rogers, follows:

"We received the lovely Christmas decoration you made for the men overseas. You really do not know how grateful we are and how these things mean to them and to us. Here in Agra, the home of the Taj Mahal, decorations are hard to obtain. We are using everything you have sent on the tree and about the club. Thank you for remembering us who are in India."

Encouraged by this letter the county chapter has shipped four cartons of recreation and comfort articles to San Francisco for distribution to service men here and abroad. Included were story, cartoon and joke books, wash cloths, pads and pencil sets, mounted crossword puzzles, ash trays and utility bags. Small stuffed toys for homeless English children have also been made here and shipped.

The articles were made and collected by pupils of the following schools: St. Francis, Kenwood, Allen, Reid, Pep club and Sub-deb clubs of Bend high school, Redmond high school, Redmond elementary school, Tumalo and Alfalfa.

Council members of the Junior Red Cross packed the cartons for shipment. The council is made up of Mrs. W. R. Brandis, chairman; Mrs. Gail Baker, Mrs. Don Connor, Mrs. Bruce Gilbert, Mrs. Don Higgins, Mrs. W. H. Reed and Mrs. Claude Cook.
