Singapore Base Again Blasted

Washington, March 2 (AP)—B-29 Superfortresses bombed war factories and the great naval base at Singapore, crossroads of the Japanese empire, today.

The fifth B-29 daylight attack on Singapore was revealed in a brief war department announcement that promised details after the giant raiders have returned to their 20th bomber command bases in India.

Designation of the naval base as among the prime targets indicated that the Superfortresses may have been searching for units of Japan's elusive fleet. In a raid Feb. 1, the B-29s sank a naval dry dock, largest of its kind in the world.

Singapore lies off the southern tip of the Malay peninsula and is the main defense and communications link between Japan and her stolen empire to the south and southeast.

Trees of various kinds should be planted on city streets and in parks because of a total loss if a serious disease appears.
