

Coercion Attempt Charges Made in Debate in House

Salem, Ore., March 8 (UP)—Charges of attempted coercion on the part of "an employe of the liquor control commission" were made in the house of representatives by Rep. Jack Bain yesterday.

In the course of a debate on senate bill 117, which would grant the liquor commission additional regulatory powers, Bain, a Portland nightclub owner, said that he had been threatened with possible action against him if he did not vote right. He had the charges read into the house journal.

The bill, up for final action later this week, was before the house on a divided report of the house alcoholic control committee. Both reports were "do pass" as amended.

The majority report was adopted by the house after more than two hours of sometimes heated debate. Previously, a motion to substitute the minority report for the majority failed 42 to 16 with two excused.

The majority report amendments provided that virtually all property of any unlicensed drinking establishment could be confiscated after the owner was convicted of violation of commission regulations or the liquor law.

The minority report amendments limited the property which could be seized to liquor, glasses and mixers, but kept the original law's provisions that the act apply to all establishments, licensed or unlicensed.

Rep. John Hall, who spoke for the minority report, said that he objected to the manner in which the liquor laws and regulations have been enforced in the past.

The bill had been presented as one to eliminate bootleggers, Hall said, but added that the bill would not do that. The commission has the tools to enforce the laws, Hall said, if they only used them right.

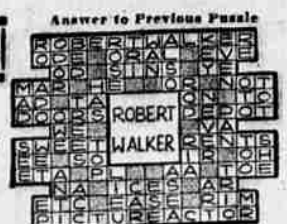

He was not criticizing the commission members, Hall stated, but he said that the trouble was the fault of the "underlings" of the enforcement division. In many instances they use illegal methods of enforcement, Hall said, and cited figures to show that nearly half of recent arrests had been dismissed for lack of legal evidence.

Would Be Costly
"If the majority report were enacted into law," Hall said, "I have no doubt that it would result in costly, expensive litigation. Under that bill you would be taking away a man's property rights, and he will appeal to the highest courts."

Hall also objected to the "most intensive lobbying in my career," he said.

Adherents of the majority report took the stand that the commission had asked for the bill (one of a series) to enforce the Knox law more efficiently, and that if they needed it, they should get it.

Rep. Stanhope Pier, chairman of the alcoholic committee, defended the provision in the majority report which exempts licensed establishments from most of the provisions, by saying there had been few violations in licensed clubs, while Rep. William Morse, Crook-Jefferson county, said "we ought to back up the commission."

Report Attacked
The majority report was also attacked by Hall and Rep. Alex Barry as unconstitutional inasmuch as it discriminated against one class of persons. Hall cited two supreme court opinions in support of his contention.

Red Cross Drive In Crook Starts

Prineville, March 8 (Special)—The response to the Red Cross war fund drive which officially began March 1, has been very fine, reports G. S. Vergeer, chairman of the drive. Before the beginning of the drive $100 had been turned in by the Lone Pine community.

Up to Wednesday, $1988.32 has been received with only half of the business section yet reporting, and a partial report by the block leaders for the residential districts. The Powell Butte Farmers association is the first organization to report, having voted $175.

A special Red Cross meeting has been planned by the county chapter for Friday, March 9, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium at which Hugo Vindall, field representative of the American Red Cross for the past 14 months in the European war will be the principal speaker. Vindall

House Approves Higher Pay Bill

Salem, Ore., March 8 (UP)—The house has passed the bill (HB333) which in its final form raises the pay of the superintendent of public instruction from $4200 to $5100.

The house originally passed the bill gave the superintendent, currently Rex Furnam, $5400, but the senate whittled it down to $4500. A conference committee came out with the $5100 compromise.

The senate was expected to pass the amended bill today.

- The plentiful sotol plant on west Texas rangelands is now being used in making alcohol and is a cheaper source of industrial alcohol than corn or other grains. Indians in old days made a strong drink from it.

After acceptance of the majority report, a motion was made to refer the bill to the judiciary committee to examine its constitutionality, but was defeated 34 to 24. Another move to refer it to the revision of laws committee was also defeated.

The house also defeated a motion to place the bill on final passage, and it will take its place on the calendar. Senate bills 144 and 145, related bills over which a similar scrap is expected, are set for committee report consideration for late today.

Prineville Radio Studio Is Bought

Prineville, March 8 (Special)—The Prineville radio studio, owned and operated the past five years by Rev. A. Ted Goodwin, has been sold to Edward Van Winkle, local insurance man and real estate dealer.

Van Winkle announces that he plans to follow the policy of Rev. Goodwin, broadcasting the Prineville hour three times a week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday. A quiz program of 15 minutes is being planned for Monday, March 12, says Van Winkle. The subject for the quiz will be the Prineville school building program, with the questions to be presented by R. M. Cox, local editor, and the answers by C. W. Woodruff, chairman of the school board.

Rev. Goodwin and family will leave for their new home in San Jacinto, California early next week.

Grazing Service To Erect Guard

At its regular bi-monthly session held yesterday at 10 a.m. in the courthouse, the Deschutes county court approved the petition of the grazing service to install a cattle guard across the Lower Bridge county road at expense of the service. Judge L. C. Allen reported.

The remainder of the meeting was spent completing routine business.

LARRO CALF BUILDER IS THE FEED - TO MAKE A CALF'S LIFE HAPPY INDEED!

And it doesn't make a dairyman burst into tears either, to save as much as 500 quarts of milk by the Larro Calf Builder Plan, over raising calves on whole milk. The Larro way gives the calf an early start toward complete weaning from milk — without interrupting its normal, steady, healthy growth. Larro "Farm-tested" Calf Builder can do much to improve your herd by helping you build heifers into big, strong, sturdy milkers. Make it a Larro year this year!
