

Red Cross Quota Seems Assured

Canvassing theater patrons for four successive nights, 13 members of the Soroptimist club raised $589.55 for the American Red Cross fourth war fund, it was reported today. This sum, added to previous collections, reduced the sum necessary to complete the $22,300 county quota to $920.51, it was announced by Bruce Gilbert, campaign chairman.

The Soroptimist members worked in the theaters, covering both shows, on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, it was stated. The members, who volunteered their services, were Velma Buckingham, president, Grace Donner, Erna Hamm, Goldie Sullivan, Grace Bear, Ruth Wheeler, Tommie Schultz, Alma Holst, Carrie Hafstad, Lena Zeek, Flora Miller, Edith Whitcomb and Marguerite Anglin.

Men in Uniform Aid
The women reported that men in uniform donated heavily as they were solicited in the theaters.

Workers in charge of collections at Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Company Inc., reported today that employees of that company contributed a total of $2,215.

Chairman Gilbert expressed confidence that the county would be over the top if all reports were turned in. He said that a large number of Bend business houses have not yet reported, and he asked that they do so at once in an effort to place Deschutes county high in the state in the current campaign.

18 Drivers Win Safety Awards

Eighteen drivers of Pacific Trailways were presented with non-accident safe driving awards issued by the National Safety Council at an informal dinner held last night in the Pine Tavern with Jerry Chester, traffic manager, making the awards.

The accumulated safety awards represent 55 years of driving without a reportable accident, Chester declared, building the local accident record to a par higher than that of national figures.

Prince W. Staats received a five-year award with one-year awards going to Art Moore, Don Waddell and Earl Wear. Drivers unable to attend, who have received or will receive awards shortly are: Charles Paddock, seven years; William Waddell, six years; John Blis, two years; Hubbard Day, two years; Eugene Friessy, two years; Ted S. Holliday, two years; Bud Holliday, three years; Ralph Parkee, three years; John Pezzetti, one year; Fred Spivy, one year; Ray Swassey, one year; Stanley Younger, one year; Ralph Dye, one year; Harold Nicholson, one year; Bill Moore, five years; Clayton Brutsman, two years; Don Smith, one year.

L. J. Cox of Portland, representative of the National Safety Council and the United Pacific Insurance company, presented a detailed account of safety work and paid tribute to the Trailways' drivers for their fine established record, revealing that "statistics prove that 90 per cent of all accidents which occur are a result of human failure and ten per cent of the accidents spring from mechanical failure."

Following an introduction by William Niskanen, secretary-treasurer of Pacific Trailways, Commissioner J. W. Cornell of the Idaho Public Utilities commission of Boise, Idaho, presented an oral sketch of the value of safety to public carriers.

Salem Man Buys Mill at Mowich

Mowich, Ore., March 20—Sale of the Odell Mill company plant here to John Friesen of Salem, who plans to start operations on next Monday, was confirmed here today by the new owner. The plant, with 35,000 board feet capacity daily, was operated the past year by the Globe Lumber company.

Friesen said that a crew has been hired and that it is en route to Mowich. He said that some overhauling is necessary to the mill before full-scale operations may be expected.

Besides this plant, Friesen operates the Salem Box company and the box factory of the Goose Lake Box company at Lakeview.

Refuses Medal

Describing the Bronze Star he was awarded for courage and leadership in battle an "ill-conceived sop to my conscience," Sgt. Joseph Kusula, above, of Waterbury, Conn., refused the medal. Kusula, now recovering from wounds in Louisville, Ky., called the award a "reversal of decision" of the Fort Benning, Ga., officers' training school, where he was washed out.

which was well attended. A one-act play and musical numbers were given, with Mrs. Art Carr acting as announcer, after which the auctioneer, A. Glasebrook, took over the auctioning of the pies which netted around $90. Dancing was enjoyed by everyone at the close of the auction. The proceeds are to go toward a curtain for the stage and playground equipment. The seventh and eighth grade boys also had a pop stand and sold drinks.

Egg in Salem Stands on End, Serves as Meal

By Eric W. Allen, Jr. (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Salem, Ore., March 20 (UP)—My wife thinks that all this excitement about Chinese eggs standing on end is a lot of foolishness. "Shucks," she said, "I'll bet Salem eggs do that!"

And darned if they didn't! We read about United Press war correspondent Walter Rundle standing eggs on end in Chungking, on the first day of the Chinese spring. We also read about United Pressman Edward S. Twardy standing eggs on end in New York.

And because last night was the eve of the American spring, we tried it.

It Works
And it worked. Two fresh eggs just out of the refrigerator were used—and they stood right up on end on our breakfast table.

One was a round brown one. My wife stood that one on end. The other was a long, narrow white one. I stood that one on end. The small end.

It's the truth I'm telling you. I had the white egg for breakfast this morning. Tasted fine.

Two Drivers Cited On Traffic Counts

Accused of speeding on main Bend thoroughfares, two local residents were arrested by police yesterday, reports indicated today.

N. A. Peterson, 845 Delaware, was fined $20 for allegedly speeding in a school zone, $10 of which was suspended upon good behavior. He was arrested after driving his car from Norton street to Broadway and St. Helens place.

Norman Henry Mikelson, 224 Miller street, was arrested for asserted fast driving on Franklin avenue.

Everett Donahue of Carroll Acres, was cited for parking an automobile on a cross walk.

Barn Dance Plans Made by Riders

Arrangements have been completed by the Rim Rock Riders for another barn dance to be held in the Carroll Acres dance hall next Saturday at 9 o'clock, it was announced today. The hall will be decorated in the "wild western" motif, and all dancers are urged to attend dressed in cowboy fashion.

Paul Jones and circle dances will be featured early in the evening, and music is to be furnished by Tommy Fair's orchestra.

New U. S. battleships have 50 complete separate cooling systems. Tickets may be obtained from the dance committee, consisting of Walt Smead, Florence Fley, Helen Terwilliger and Loraine Bowns, or other members of the riding group.
