

W. O. Harriman Dies in California

Funeral services have been held in Los Angeles for W. O. Harriman, 67, for nearly 20 years a member of the Deschutes national forest staff, who died at his Vista, Calif., home last Tuesday from an heart attack. Burial also was in the California metropolis.

Mr. Harriman, who before entering the forest service, had taught school, was born in Neillsville, Wis., on Feb. 16, 1880. He entered the forest service as a guard on Elterroot national forest, Montana, in 1909. He received his first permanent appointment as an assistant ranger in the Deschutes national forest in 1910, and was stationed in the Fort Rock district where he homesteaded. He later was transferred to the Bend headquarters of the Deschutes forest in 1923, and was advanced to the position of assistant forest supervisor.

Ochoco Supervisor

In 1930, Mr. Harriman was promoted to the rank of forest supervisor in charge of the Ochoco national forest, and was stationed in Prineville. In 1934 he was transferred to the Fremont national forest as supervisor with headquarters at Lakeview, until his retirement in 1942.

Mr. Harriman was one of the charter members of the Bend Lions club, and was an active sportsman, devoting much time to hunting and fishing. While here he made an exhaustive study of wild life, especially of the deer fish and beaver in the Deschutes forest.

The veteran forest service official is survived by Mrs. Harriman, who lives at Rt. 1, Box 138 Sunrise drive, in Vista, Calif., and a son, William, Jr., who is in the navy and who recently sailed from San Diego.

OPA Enforcement Attorney Cecilia Gallagher, Portland, presented complaints in the 10 cases, based on recent investigations by Hoke Smith and Alfred Moreau, OPA field representatives.

Medal of Honor Given to Soldier

Washington, April 2 (UP)—Technician Fifth Grade Robert D. Maxwell, infantryman who used his body to absorb the blast of a German grenade to save the lives of three infantry comrades with whom he was fighting off German efforts to capture his battalion observation post has been awarded the medal of honor, the war department announced today.

Maxwell is back in the United States, under treatment for his wounds in Baxter general hospital, Spokane. Plans for presentation of the medal have not been completed.

Story Recounted

The Larimer county, Colorado, infantryman, a communication platoon lineman, and three other linemen faced the assault armed only with pistols. The action occurred last Sept. 7, near Besancon, France, when a German assault threatened capture of the observation post and of the officers directing the advance of the battalion into the town.

The men were in a narrow cement courtyard which was in front of a house being used for observation purposes. The courtyard was surrounded by a wall topped with chicken wire. After beating off the attack, the other men carried the wounded corporal to the rear where they learned the observation post had been safely evacuated.

Maxwell's comrades were: T/4 Cyril F. McColl, Pittsburgh; Pte. James P. Joyce, Kansas City, Kans., and Private James P. Soblesky, Petoskey, Mich.

Range Finders Accurate

Rochester, N. Y. (UP)—The navy's largest range finder, long enough to span the gun turrets of our biggest warships, contains 1,500 mechanical parts and as many as 135 optical parts, its manufacturer, Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., revealed. The optical prisms must be accurate to one-half second of an arc, allowing an angular deviation of only one inch in six and one-half miles.

"We've had PP&L electric service from cellar to garret since 1911" says H. A. Reynolds, of the Prospect Heights District, Walla Walla, Wash.

"When our farm home was built, in 1900, we had a carbide gas lighting system built in, but in 1911, the year after PP&L was organized, they brought electric service to our farm—about two miles south of town. The same line also served the Prospect Heights school house, one of the first rural schools in this area to get electric lights.

"In 1858 a log cabin was built on this place. It's still standing and is quite a historic landmark. Now it serves as a storeroom, and has electric lights like all our other farm buildings.

"As early as 1918, electric lights were installed in our chicken houses to step up egg production. I believe this was the first installation of its kind in the Walla Walla area.

"We have a big well on the place—20 feet in diameter—with two automatic electric pumps. This well supplies water for two houses, as well as for the barns, chicken houses, and quite a bit of irrigation.

"Until a fellow stops and thinks back thirty or thirty-five years, he hardly realizes how much progress we've made electrically since PP&L started in business. And the same 'go-ahead' spirit is bound to carry us along in the future."

Mr. Reynolds was born in 1863 on the farm where he makes his home now. He attended Whitman Seminary (later Whitman College), then went to the University of Michigan, graduating in 1886. Returning to Walla Walla, he studied law and was admitted to the bar.

In 1900 Mr. Reynolds bought his present 240-acre farm, part of the 640-acre donation land claim which had belonged to his mother. He has served four terms as Walla Walla County Commissioner, and two terms as a representative in the Washington State Legislature.

Mr. Reynolds has five adult children. Two daughters live with him on the farm, and one daughter lives in Southern California. His son, Jay, was a flight instructor in Montana until recently, and Allen, his other son, teaches high school in Walla Walla.

New Analgesic Tablet now released to public

Thousands find it gives quicker, safe relief from headache—from pains of sinus, neuritis, neuralgia and arthritis

FOR MANY YEARS aspirin has been accepted by both the medical profession and the public as a safe, sure way to relieve pain.

But many people who had complete confidence in aspirin did not find it gave as quick relief from blinding, maddening pain as they hoped for. Hence in desperation they sometimes turned to other remedies less well proved.

To meet this situation a group of medical research men set out to see what could be done to speed up the analgesic or "pain-killing" action of aspirin—to make it bring their patients quicker relief, without heart or stomach upset.

Out of these researches came a really new kind of analgesic tablet, a combination of aspirin and calcium glutamate. In this new tablet, aspirin does its old, safe job of relieving pain. But through its combination with calcium glutamate, extensive tests by physicians showed it gave most people both quicker relief and greater relief from pain.

After this extensive testing and use by members of the medical profession as a prescription remedy, this new analgesic tablet has now been released for non-prescription sale by every druggist. It is called Superin (from super-aspirin). You can get its blessed, quick relief from pain by asking your druggist for a bottle today—30 tablets for 39¢. Ask for Superin—Superin, Inc., New York.
