The Pacific coast baseball league paused today in respect to the late President Roosevelt, but all eight teams will swing back into action tomorrow with double bills in parks at San Diego, Hollywood, Sacramento and San Francisco.

Yesterday the veteran "rookie" of the San Diego Padres, Carl Dumler, became the first hurler in the league to chalk up four victories when he blanked the Oakland Oaks 2-0 in one of the better-played games of the evening—played before a crowd of 4,000.

Errors Costly
The San Francisco Seals continued their slipshod play, making three errors as they bowed to the Portland Beavers, 7-4; Guy Fletcher out-pitched Red Adams as Sacramento won a 1-0 mound duel from the Los Angeles Angels, and the Seattle Rainiers edged the Hollywood Stars, 7-5.

Dumler fashioned a six-hitter for manager Pepper Martin's Padres and won when successive singles by Del Ballinger, Vern Reynolds and Johnny Kreevich, plus young Vic Picetti's error scored both runs.

At Sacramento, the lone run came in the fifth frame when Gene Handley beat out an infield hit, went to second on Pete Elko's wild throw of Roy Younker's drive, to third on an infield out and scored on catcher Norm Schuleuter's outfield fly.

Portland Club
The Portland club pounded three Seal moundsmen for 12 safeties, including two doubles and a single by the veteran outfielder, Ted Gullic. Another veteran, Ad Liska, on the mound for the northerners got credit for the victory as he scattered the four Seal runs over four innings.

Young Alex Palica, although in difficulties on many occasions, squeezed through for the Seattle victory over the Stars. Palica, the league's brightest young mound hopeful, was touched for nine hits, but he scattered them well in the clutch and got good batting support from the slugging Rainiers.

Eggs and breeding stock of the five to 12 pound adult turkey developed at the U. S. department of agriculture Beltsville station have now been widely distributed and these small-type turkeys will be on the market soon.

Thousands Fish Oregon Streams

Bears Winners In Track Meet By Close Score

Portland, Ore., April 14 (UP)—Approximately 150,000 anglers were eligible to participate in Oregon's trout season, which started one hour before sunup today.

Reports from favorite fishing sections of the state varied as to conditions of streams, many of which are swollen by continued rains. Most reports agree that, high water or not, the streams will be muddy.

Some experts said that a week or more of clear weather was needed before Oregon streams will be in good condition, but they warned hot weather may make matters worse, because of melting snow.

Ann Curtis Wins Over Miss Helser

Chicago, April 14 (UP)—San Francisco's Ann Curtis, rated by swimming authorities as the greatest feminine speedster ever developed in American waters, felt like a real champion for the first time today.

She scored her first indoor 100-yard free style victory over Brenda Helser, budding Hollywood starlet, last night in the national women's A. A. U. championships. It was something that even the Frisco Flyer didn't think she could do.

"I didn't believe I had a chance to beat her," Ann said. "I thought she would be out of the pool and drying herself off by the time I finished. She was the only swimmer I've never beaten indoors and at last I feel good."

World of Sports Honors President

New York, April 14 (UP)—The world of sports took "time out" today to mourn the death of "The Champ."

In final tribute to President Roosevelt, who did so much to perpetuate the American sporting scene throughout the war, there will be a virtual blackout in competition.

Both major leagues cancelled all exhibition baseball games and most of the minors followed suit. In other sports, where events were not cancelled, arrangements were made to halt competition at 4 p. m. EWT, the hour of funeral services for Mr. Roosevelt at the White House in Washington.

Lee B. Ellington Free of Charges

Lacking sufficient evidence, Justice of the Peace Wilson George released Lee B. Ellington, convicted on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, yesterday at a court house hearing.

Ellington, on the night of March 20, reportedly attacked Henry Lutzhoft who was employed as a painter in the home of Mrs. Pauline Donnelly, former wife of Ellington. Lutzhoft suffered several light cuts and one severe abdominal gash, it was revealed.

Ellington has been released from all charges. Attorney for the defense was W. F. Cashow.

In This Corner

By Mickey Myrick
Today (Friday) is a perfect day, balmy and bright with cotton clouds floating in a lake-blue sky. Answer to a fisherman's prayer!

But, readers, if today (Saturday) is rugged and rough, with furies of snow in the air and gusts of wind spitefully snatching shreds from the racing clouds, weep not for the writer of this column—for storm or sunshine opening day is fishing day, and fun!

Prognostications are not our forte, but here are a couple of safe ones: most of the fishermen will not be found today and tomorrow where they said they'd be; and the junior anglers of the city park will show their elders a thing or two.

The way most fishermen spin them at the slightest provocation it's a surprise that so few stories have reached the Fishermen's Tables as offered at KBND. George Childs is offering a weekly prize of $5 for the best story (150 words or less) with a $25 war bond as grand prize for the best of the series.

Shoot some in, fishermen. $5 will buy a lot of trout flies.

Old timers hereabouts predict that the best early season catches will be made down river—the farther down the better the fish.

Today's Sport Parade

By Leo M. Petersen (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 14 (UP)—Luke Sewell, pilot of the St. Louis Browns, came out boldly today and predicted his team was the one to beat in the 1945 American league pennant race, but most of the other major league managers were more cautious in pre-season statements to the United Press.

"We're the team to beat," Sewell, who led the Browns to their first pennant last year only to lose out to the Cardinals in the world series, said. "I'll take our pennant chances over any other club providing further inroads of the draft are distributed equally. Our most valuable asset is last year's pennant winning experience."

Here is how some of the other managers sized up their clubs in the United Press poll:

Billy Southworth, Cardinals—"I can't predict because I don't know the assets of the other clubs. Our pitching looks good with the addition of Partenheimer, Creel, Burkhardt and an improved Beryl, who will be a starter. Our outfield is shaping up with youngsters."

Charlie Grimm, Cubs—"If our pitching holds up, we'll be up there in the first division somewhere all season long."

Jimmy Dykes, White Sox—"Having lost key men in all departments, it doesn't look much better than where we finished last season, seventh."

Leo Durocher, Dodgers—"I never make predictions, but I will say that the pitching will be better and therefore the club will be better. We'll have a hustling ball club."

Mel Ott, Giants—"I think the club has definitely improved over last year and I think the Giants will finish in the first division."

Freddy Fitzsimmons, Phillies—"We've added defensive and pitching strength and I think we'll give them all a lot of trouble."

Ossie Bluege, Senators—"Our pitching should be strong, our catching adequate, our hitting will improve. I believe we have a chance for the first division."

Bob Coleman, Braves—"It doesn't have too many players hurt or drafted I think we have a good chance to end up in the first division."

Lou Boudreau, Indians—"I am confident we will finish in the first division after a long, hard struggle."

Connie Mack, Athletics—"Things look pretty bright and we are hoping to finish in the first division."

Frankie Frisch, Pirates—"I'd say we were a cinch to finish one two. Like all other teams we have our problems but we aren't going to be easy to beat."

Joe McCarthy, Yankees—"I'm not concerned about the Browns or anyone else. The Browns are Luke Sewell's worry. My worry is the Yankees."
