

Camp Fire Girls Invite Parents

Camp Fire members and guardians from the Central Oregon district have issued a special invitation to all parents and interested friends to attend a council fire tonight at 7 p.m. at the Bend skating rink, according to an announcement made this morning by Mrs. Joe Elder, executive secretary of Camp Fire activities for this area.

Miss Eldora DeMots, national associate field secretary for the northwest district, arrived today from Klamath Falls and will conduct the ritual tonight. Over 300 girls are expected to take part. Trail seeker's and Wood gatherer's ranks will be awarded.

Hall Made Available
Clair Fuller of the skating rink has placed his hall at the disposal of the Camp Fire workers for this occasion, and Ted Mesinger will operate the check room for the convenience of participants.

Besides Camp Fire girls representing Bend and vicinity, delegations from Shevlin and Redmond are expected.

Okinawa Gains Scored By Yanks

Guam, April 25 (AP)—Seventh division troops broke the stalemate on southern Okinawa today in seizing a new height on the western sector north of the capital city of Naha.

Behind a pulverizing naval bombardment which blasted a path through strong Japanese defenses, the army troops hammered across the hilly terrain and captured an important high position west of Ishin village.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz also disclosed that elements of the 3rd marine amphibious corps had landed on Heanza island, east of Okinawa's Ketchin peninsula, and Kouri and Yagachi islands north of Motobu peninsula. There was no opposition at Heanza and Kouri, but some enemy remnants still were being mopped up on Yagachi.

The breakthrough in the southern line came as the Americans prepared the northern section of Okinawa for the next phase of the march on Japan and Tokyo radio admitted that "nothing now seems possible to stop" the extermination of the Japanese nation.

Sgt. Crosswhite Leaves for South
Following a 30 day furlough, Marine Sgt. Keith Crosswhite has returned to Cherry Point, South Carolina for reassignment.

Sgt. Crosswhite who recently returned from ten months active service with the marine air wing in the south Pacific, is the son of C. E. Crosswhite, former Bend resident and now chief of police in Anchorage Alaska.

He was accompanied south by his wife, the former Miss Patt Skinner of Bend.

CLOSE BUT COMEY!
Portland, Ore., April 25 (AP)—No one but authors need look for a rented house in Portland today and even writers can't be too choosy for spacious quarters.

Here is the lone classified ad in the "for rent" section of the Oregon Journal:
"Writers roost, 1 room, modern, cozy house, electric water heater, shower and kitchenette, wired for range. Lovely setting."

The Leningrad Institute of Applied Chemistry has developed a method of obtaining freon, which previously had to be imported.

Suicide Attacks Termed Failure

Aboard Admiral Turner's flagship off Okinawa, April 25 (AP)—Vice Admiral Richard Kelly Turner, commander of Pacific amphibious forces said today that Japan's ability to mount major air and naval attacks against U. S. operations was "nearly finished."

Turner, who was marked for "elimination" by radio Tokyo, declared there was "no question" the invasion of Okinawa would be concluded successfully and hinted at greater blows against Japan in the future when he added:
"I think our take-off from here will be quite effective against the main Japanese military power."

Called "Ineffective"
Turner, a thorn in the side of the Japanese from Guadalcanal to Okinawa, termed enemy suicide air attacks "ineffective."

Referring to the four major air onslaughts against U. S. forces around Okinawa and the "suicide" naval task force which was almost annihilated April 7, the Admiral said:
"If this is the best the Japs do, I think they've shot their wad. I believe we cannot only take what they are trying to give us, but we can take a lot more while delivering additional punishing strikes in return."

Japan's ability to attack is nearly finished. Not only will we stay here but possibly we can do more."

He described the efforts of Japanese suicide pilots as "amateurish" and asserted they were neither effective nor good military practice.

Snow Whitens Midstate Area

Snow fell on top of April dust here this morning, to give Bend its heaviest precipitation of the month, .35 of an inch, and whiten much of Central Oregon.

So heavy was the snow in the higher country that logging operations were suspended this morning in both the Brooks-Scanlon and Shevlin-Hixon woods, it was announced. However, only light snow fell on mountain summits, which appeared to be fairly well above the storm clouds. Little more than a trace fell on the Santiam summit.

In Bend the April snow started falling at 4:30 a.m., and by daylight the ground was white. Later, a depth of an inch was measured.

Light rain started falling in Bend shortly after noon, and by that time the ground was black again.

SHRINE DANCE SLATED

Music is to be furnished by Larson and Russell's orchestra. All Masons from the first degree of the Shrine, their wives and invited guests are urged to attend, and tickets may be obtained from any Shriner, it was reported.

By the Way:—

We have that 1940 Pontiac on the floor. It has five wheels (only four on the car), the doors open and shut, the windows run up and down, the horn blows when you press the button (most of the time) and while it has been on the display floor for a week I would almost bet the engine will start and go until it reaches the street. No extra charge will be made for the wax job. Further to show you we have sporting blood, we will warranty the car under OPA regulations.

And a word to you youngsters, nine to 90, that Ford Convertible home-painted job, is getting hot. There has been a steady stream of young bucks looking at it. I don't think it will last out the week. Better hurry!
