Los Angeles, May 4 (UP)—There aren't many familiar faces out there today when you look at the Los Angeles team that will play the University of California today in the first game of the 1945 football season. The team that played last year was almost entirely new, and the new team is almost entirely new.

There are a few old faces around, but most of the aspirants never dreamed they'd one day be wearing a Trojan numeral.

The old timers—most of them all 19—are husky Capt. Jim Callahan, and Harry McKinney, ends; bone crushing John McGinn, guard; Jackie "mighty mite" Musick, tackle; and goal kitting Pat West, fullback.

Four other lettermen can't make it for spring drills but will be on hand when fall practice rolls around. They're John Pebar, mammoth tackle; Clark Higgins, guard; Blake Headley, Troy's first three-point letter winner in a decade; and Bob Morris, speedy halfback from the track squad.

But it's the backfield, particularly the key quarterback spot, that has genial Jeff trumping his partner's aces in bridge sessions these days.

The loss of Jim Hardy, brilliant passer and director of the Trojan-T, was a terrible one. And Jeff realizes it all too well. But he's playing a season's average of 159 pins per game. Other high averages included Arlene Roberts, 151; Edna Roats, 151; Lillian Anderson, 135; Dot Applegate, 135, and Vivian Curd, 135.

A singles sweepstakes has been scheduled for next Wednesday, at which time the season's prize money will be distributed. The event will start at 8 p. m., and all regular bowlers are invited to participate.

Results of Wednesday night's final league matches follow:

been working overtime to find a capable replacement.

Right now he's undecided between 17-year-old Eddie Callanan, fourth of the famed football family to cohort for USC, and Roy Cole, ex-Redondo high star who's just returned to the Trojan camp following a medical discharge for a leg injury received in maneuvers.

Roy led the Trojans to an impressive win over Ft. MacArthur in the spring of 1943 and before that starred for the Oregon State frosh. If that legs holds up, Cravath thinks he might have the answer to Hardy's departure.

But as for the rest of the backs, Cravath will really have to scrape the barrel. Right now he's praying that Ted Tannehill, a Notre Dame transfer, and Vaughan Phelps, a transfer from Whitman, look as good next fall as they do in spring practice.

Jeff finds it hard to find anyone to cry on his shoulders these days. Fans haven't forgotten his two consecutive Rose bowl wins and the classy appearance his undefeated Trojans made last fall.

But he's exhibiting the old crying towel once again. And this time, he claims, the trouble is one Mr. Buck Shaw of California.

"What'll we do now?" cries Jeff. "From now on we'll really have to play ball."

Stern Rule Due For Ball World

By J. R. Williams

Chicago, May 4 (UP)—"Happy" Chandler, the jovial senator from Kentucky, plans to rule baseball with the same stern resolve by which the late Judge Kenesaw M. Landis charted the course of America's favorite pastime for 23 years.

Chandler, appointed to succeed Landis as baseball commissioner 10 days ago, let it be known today that an easy-going Kentuckian can be as hard-hitting when championing the cause of righteousness as was the grim-visaged federal judge from Illinois.

"I have absolute authority over the game," Chandler said during an interview. "And I plan to use it for the good of America, baseball and the people."

Critics Heard

Numerous critics have contended that in choosing Chandler, baseball selected a good-will ambassador rather than an eagle-eyed ruler who would vigilantly see that no wrong was done to America's grand old game.

Sounding his famous political battle cry, "I may be wrong but I'll never be in doubt," Chandler said:

"Remember, I can punish anyone doing anything detrimental to baseball—and I will. There never will be any doubt in my mind if a serious wrong is done. The offender will be shamed, disgraced and run out of baseball."

No matter whom it hurts—club owners included—that's the way it's going to be, he said.

Can Have Job

To emphasize his point, the 46-year-old senator borrowed a phrase from Landis, "If my decisions don't stick, they (the club owners) can have the job back."

Chandler has practically the same powers administered by Landis. The only important change is that the club owners can pass legislation, subject to the commissioner's veto, which they can override. Formerly, the commissioner's word was law.

Veteran Battler Outpoints Eagle

Boston, May 4 (UP)—Lou Nova, one of the veterans in the heavy-weight boxing division picked up another victory along the comeback trail today, but he didn't gain very much prestige by it.

He outpointed the veteran Charley Eagle, New England heavy-weight champion, in a 10-round bout at Mechanics building last night, but he had to come from behind to do it. Eagle won the first two rounds, cutting Nova's eye with a left hook at the end of the second. From then on, however, Nova wore him down with heavy right hooks to the stomach.

Prineville Backs 51 Blood Donors

Prineville, May 4 (Special)—Under the sponsorship of the Junior chamber of commerce 51 blood donors left on buses Thursday morning for the Portland blood bank. Each donor was given a round trip ticket and supplied with funds for two meals.

Solicitors for funds to finance the project met with hearty response from townspeople, said Dr. J. H. Dreher, chairman of the committee.

The Business and Professional Women's club will give a benefit dance in the school gymnasium Saturday night for the purpose of adding to the fund.

Fair Deal Asked For Ball Players

Washington, May 4 (UP)—The war department is investigating charges by Rep. Melvin Price, D., Ill., that professional athletes classified 4-F have been inducted into the armed services regardless of physical disabilities.

Price, who protested to the war department that some athletes were taken into the army without even a change in their 4-F classification, said he expected a revision of the draft regulations within a few days.

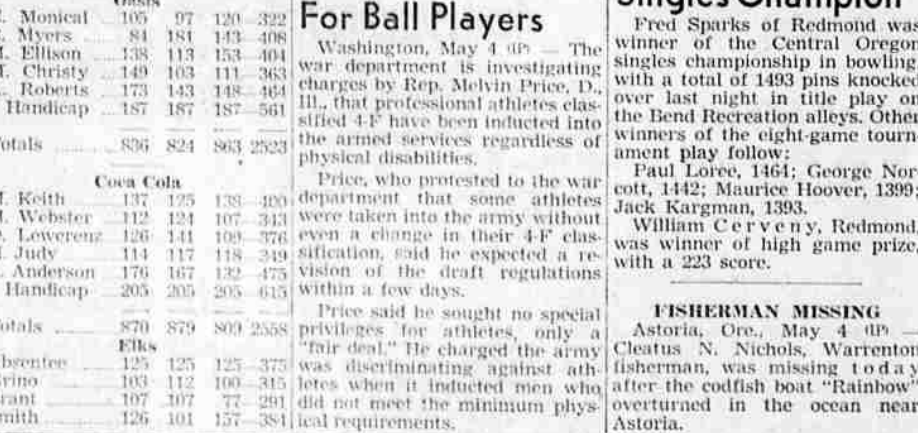

Price said he sought no special privileges for athletes, only a "fair deal." He charged the army was discriminating against athletes when it inducted men who did not meet the minimum physical requirements.

ALLEY OOP

Hollywood Stars Blank Portland

Carl Dumler, pitching sensation of the Pacific coast league, had his victory streak stopped at eight straight last night when the Los Angeles Angels solved his style and raked up a 4 to 2 win over the San Diego Padres.

A hometown crowd of more than 7,000 was pulling for Dumler and the Padres, but the Angels decided the issue in the first inning when they put five hits together for four runs. The big blow was Mal Hlek's homer which followed singles by Charlie Brewster and Lou Novikov.

The improving Hollywood Stars shut out the league-leading Portland Beavers, 9-0, in the first game of a doubleheader behind Joe Mihalasek's five-hit twirling, but dropped the nightcap, 3-1, as Ad Liska gave up only 2 safeties. Ken Richardson contributed a homer and two singles to the Hollywood cause in the opener.

Pallia Wins Again

Young Alex Pallia notched his fourth triumph in five starts while the Seattle Rainiers downed the Oakland A-corns, 10-3. Veteran Roy Johnson socked a round-tripper over the long rightfield wall off Jack Lotz in the opening can. Pallia was wild, beating three Oakland batters, but was effective when the bags were populated.

Joe Wood, Jr., son of the old Boston fireballer, made his first mound appearance for the Sacramento Solons and lasted only four innings as the San Francisco Seals pounded out an 8-3 win. Bob Joyce, one of the league's most consistent pitchers, eased along behind a 13-hit San Francisco offense.
