Juvenile Problem Aired at Parley

Drastic action to curb juvenile delinquency in Bend was promised today following a meeting between Mayor A. T. Niebergall and County Judge C. L. Allen. Allen, who is also the juvenile judge, and the mayor agreed to a conference between city and county law enforcement officers to be held next week.

At this conference, it was learned that the officers would be given definite instructions to enforce city and state laws governing juvenile delinquency. The mayor and judge also agreed to a policy of citing into juvenile court first offenders, rather than the practice of giving them a police reprimand and sending them home. A second offense would result in confinement of the offender in an institution, and the possible arrest of the parents on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The mayor said that the city would undoubtedly employ a full-time juvenile officer to work in cooperation with police, and Judge Allen said that the county would take similar action if deemed necessary.

Meantime reports of further vandalism and rowdiness continued to come into The Bulletin office and the police station. Officers were told that someone had tossed the Tumalo avenue bridge life preserver into the water of the Deschutes.

A local business man told of walking home shortly before midnight through Drake park when he was accosted by two large boys. One of them charged up to him and in a menacing manner said: "Want to fight?"

The resident said that he continued on his way, and that he believed the boys had been drinking either beer or wine.

Mrs. Livingston Gets 25 Year Pin

Mrs. Minnie Livingston today was proudly wearing a 25-year service pin, presented to her this week in recognition of her long service with the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., as chief operator in the Bend office. All of Mrs. Livingston's service has been in Bend, and for the entire 25 years, with the exception of six months, she has been chief operator.

The presentation was made at an informal ceremony in the Bend office by H. L. Deal, general traffic manager, and G. P. Mock, district traffic manager of the telephone company.

Mrs. Livingston completed her 25 years of service in January.

Parents Talk to Son, in Pacific

G. L. Conklin, who is recovering at the Lumberman's hospital from an operation, last night heard the voice of his son, Ensign James L. Conklin, in a surprise telephone call from overseas. Present also at the hospital when the overseas call was received was Ensign Conklin's mother and his brother, Bob.

Before Mrs. Conklin was permitted to accept the call, the overseas operator explained to her that no military information could be mentioned. Ensign Conklin called from his overseas post when he learned his father was in the hospital.

Ensign Conklin is in the Pacific theater of war.
