

Brooklyn Beaten By Pirates, 12-3; Giants Crawl Up

By Carl Lundquist
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, May 18 (UP)—"That's the spirit."

Those three words, shouted by manager Mel Ott to his victorious Giants as they lumbered into the dressing room yesterday after coming from behind to beat the Cubs, 8 to 5, typified more than anything else what is making his club look more like a pennant winner all the time.

It is axiomatic in baseball that a pennant-winning team must win the tough games—the ones in which they have to come from behind or break late inning deadlocks. And that is just what the Giants have been doing. In sweeping to eight victories out of nine against the so-called tough western clubs, they have come from behind or broken ties to win six times. They have been ahead all the way on only two occasions.

Winning Spirit Aids
For the season they either have had to come from behind or break a tie to gain 12 of their 20 victories and if that isn't pennant winning technique it will do until something better comes along.

The winning spirit never was more apparent than yesterday. They appeared to be a beaten team as they went into the eighth inning, 5 to 2. The Cubs had flattened the margin by scoring twice in their half off relief pitcher Ace Adams. Adams, who pitched only that one inning, gained credit for the victory in his 13th relief appearance in 26 games.

The victory, 12th in the last 13, finally enabled the leading giants to gain on the Brooklyn Dodgers, whose 11-game winning streak ended at Ebbets field as the Pirates won, 12 to 3. Tom Seaver, who pitched a shutout in his last appearance, was mauled badly in a five-run Pittsburgh third inning highlighted by Bob Elliott's triple. Nick Strincevich, the winning pitcher, also stopped the hitting streak of Louis Olmo at 14 games.

Double Beats Braves
Ken O'Dea's fifth inning double with the bases loaded gave the St. Louis Cardinals the three-run margin they needed to beat the Braves at Boston, 7 to 4.

Walter (Boom Boom) Beck, 41-year-old Cincinnati pitcher, gained his first victory of the campaign, 4 to 2, over the Phillies at Philadelphia, shading Wilow Wyatt in a battle of veterans. Frank McCormick won the game with a two-run homer in the eighth.

For the fourth straight day, the entire American league game was rained out.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, May 18 (UP)—Is the American league pennant race over? Did Jimmy Dykes and his hustlin' White Sox from Chicago win it with only 12 victories and are they going to sunny California or Florida to take it easy until time for the world series?

There was good reason to wonder about such things today since there hasn't been an American league ball game since last Sunday. However, the "junior" leaguers haven't adopted an abbreviated war-time schedule. There will be plenty of baseball from now on out if there is just a little bit of cooperation from the weather man.

But for four long days and nights the teams have been on the inside looking out upon what must be the most prolonged spell of rain since Noah built the ark. The rain has been bad for National leaguers, too, through most of the season, but the teams in the American have been catching the brunt of it lately and it's going to be pretty hard on the pitchers later on when the lost ground has to be made up in double headers.

The picture grows more alarming by contrast with last season. Thus far there have been 42 games postponed in the American league and that compares with a total of only 35 for all of 1944.

The weather last season was the best in the history of the league and it probably is no coincidence that the pitching along with it certainly was of higher caliber than in most years. Managers were able to work their moundmen more or less in rotation, keeping their arms in shape without the added burden of numerous late season double headers. It is doubtful if Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouser of the Detroit Tigers would have been able to win 56 games between them had there been a late season epidemic of double headers to prevent them from getting at least a day or so of rest between turns.

All of the clubs have been hit hard, but the most damage has been done to the White Sox and Cleveland Indians, each with 19 postponements to date. Since Dykes has a crew of aging veterans on his staff, the coupling up later on is likely to be particularly hard on the White Sox.

The Tigers are next with 13 postponements and the champion St. Louis Browns have had 11. Games rained out, Boston's Red Sox have been drenched most often among the eastern clubs, with nine of their games rained out. The New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics have "lost" eight each to the weather and the Washington Senators have been washed out on seven occasions.

That total of 42 games postponed looms more impressively when it is taken into account that there have been only 114 on the schedule to date. That means an average of better than one out of every three times the teams have had to "sit it out."

The eastern clubs departed last night for new opposition after having been rained out of an entire series. There was some doubt that all teams would be able to play today because of saturated diamonds that look and feel like fresh chocolate cake frosting by now.

And the forecast for today wasn't much help. Throughout the Midwest it was "threatening."

Solons Beat Oaks By 12 to 1 Score

(By United Press)

Only two games were played in the Pacific Coast league again last night as continuing rain in the northwest prevented San Francisco-Seattle and Los Angeles-Portland from getting started on their series.

Sacramento took a 12-1 win over Oakland after two straight defeats, while San Diego made it two out of three against Hollywood by pounding four Twink pitchers for a 16-2 decision.

Jo-Jo White, veteran outfielder, paced Sacramento's triumph with six hits, including two doubles, in as many trips to the plate. The Solons hopped on Jack Lotz for five runs in the opening inning. Lotz was battered for 10 runs and 13 hits before manager Dolph Cammill lifted him in the fifth. Norm Dewesse homered for the only Oakland tally.

Lou Vezelich was the big gun in San Diego's 21-hit offensive against Hollywood. He drove in four runs with five hits. The tall stars committed eight errors. Bob Ferguson coasted to his first pitching win of the year, scattering eight Hollywood hits.

The American Legion Junior Rifle club this week fired a four position match for the Cashman trophy, with Rowan Brick making high score, 341, according to information from Bob Rovelstad, instructor. Next Wednesday, May 23, the boys will hold their final practice night of the season. Boys who have not fired for qualification on the course, and are 14 years or over, will receive free ammunition.

High Scores Turned in for the Cashman Trophy Follow:

Rowan Brick, 341; Carl Leonard Strom, 335; Robert Mills, 333; Thomas Pagg, 303; Robert Messinger, 306; and John Davis, 281.

Jim Kesselburgh Is on Way Home

La Grande, Ore., May 18 (UP)—Capt. Jim Kesselburgh, former Oregon state college football star, today was expected home in the near future by his wife, Mrs. Kesselburgh of La Grande.

Mrs. Kesselburgh received a message from the Red Cross saying that her husband, held in a Nazi prison camp for many months, had been released.

Prineville Boys Join U. S. Navy

Three Prineville boys who enlisted together in the United States naval reserve have completed their boot training and are home together on leave and all three will be present tonight to receive their diplomas with the Crook county high school senior class.

Phillip T. Quinn, HA 2/c, Merle R. Westcott, Jr., HA 2/c, and Maitland T. Waldon, S 2/c, are the three Prineville youths. They were enlisted at Portland after making application through the Bend navy recruiting sub-station and were sworn into the navy on January 31 this year. Quinn and Westcott were taken into the famed navy hospital corps direct as they volunteered for that service and upon reporting back to San Diego naval training center will be transferred to one of the naval hospitals for schooling and training. Waldon has selected general duty and hopes to go to sea shortly after returning to San Diego.

Meat in Locker Causes Trouble

Denver, Colo., May 18 (UP)—Henry J. Kaiser, Jr., identified by the OPA as the son of the west coast industrialist, has been listed as a customer of a black market meat dealer.

The OPA said Kaiser bought 144 pounds of beef without ration points from David B. Sailer and Velma G. Sailer, owners of frozen food lockers who were accused of black market operations.

No charges were filed against Kaiser, who, the OPA said, promised to leave the meat in his locker until the case is settled and then surrender ration points for it or give it up entirely.

Col. Fred Loomis In Army Hospital

Lt.-Col. Fred H. Loomis, winner of the distinguished service cross and twice wounded in action in Germany, has been transferred from Europe to an army hospital in Spokane, Wash., where he is convalescing from his most recent injury. Local relatives have been notified. Colonel Loomis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Loomis, Bend, and entered the service from here.

Legion to Sponsor Local Ball Squad

Plans for the organization of an American Legion softball team, to play in the proposed city league, have been made by Legion officials, it was announced today. A meeting has been called for this evening at 7:30 o'clock, on Harmon playground, to further the organization.

Members of the legion team do not necessarily have to be members of the post, leaders explained, but a special invitation is being extended to veterans of world war No. 2 to sign up.

The American Legion plans to provide players with the necessary equipment, including sweaters, bats and balls.

OTD Rule Poses Track Problem

Albany, N. Y., May 18 (UP)—The decision on Saratoga Springs racing was up to track officials today after the office of defense transportation said the track could be operated but that it could not get special transportation facilities.

James Hagerty, executive assistant to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, protested to ODT director J. Monroe Johnson yesterday against what he said was a ban on Saratoga.

Hagerty said that "Narragansett and Santa Anita are more inaccessible than Saratoga and would draw more war workers than Saratoga, which is a summer resort."

Johnson replied that "no permit is necessary to open race tracks." He said that Saratoga closed before the ban on racing because it could not operate with out special transportation service and the nation's railroads and buses no longer could supply such service. The Saratoga meet was shifted to Belmont two years ago.

Kentucky Derby To Be Home Race

Louisville, Ky., May 18 (UP)—Regretfully but obediently Louisville was substituting a cold shoulder today for the usual warm smile it has for derby day visitors.

Hotel owners, housing agencies and railroads, airlines and bus lines are complying with office of defense transportation regulations designed to limit Kentucky derby attendance to residents of Louisville and vicinity.

The famed horse race will be run June 9, and hotels are getting hundreds of requests for reservations each day—and are refusing all of them.

804 SHIPS LOST
London, May 18 (UP)—British naval losses in World War II have reached 804 ships, one of them a cruiser rammed and sunk by the former luxury liner Queen Mary, an unofficial tabulation showed today.
The loss of 162 of the ships was revealed last night by the admiral. The sinkings had been kept secret in the belief that the Germans did not know of them.

CHAIRMAN NAMED
Madras, May 18 (Special)—Mrs. H. A. Dussault has been named chairman for the annual poppy sale conducted by the American Legion auxiliary. The sale will start this week-end and continue until Memorial day.
