FOR ADEQUATE RAILROAD REGULATION

A few months ago the U. S. department of justice, under the business-baiting leadership of Secretary Francis Biddle, brought about the indictment under the Sherman anti-trust law of a group of western railroads. They were charged with having entered into a conspiracy on freight rates and the funny part of the business was that the agreement had had the approval of the government agency charged with regulating railroad affairs—the interstate commerce commission.

It is not intended by this Bulwinkle measure to take the railroads out from under the operation of the Sherman law. What is intended is to confirm the controls hitherto supposed to be in the hands of the I.C.C. It would do so by specifically extending the authority of the commission to cover rail procedures collectively undertaken for the handling of inter-related operations in the interests of efficient and economical transportation.

According to Representative Bulwinkle the "treatment which this bill gives to surface carriers is similar to that now given to air carriers under the civil aeronautics act." It has been said, also, that the bill is patterned after the shipping act of 1916. Clearly, the railroads cannot function efficiently if they are subject to regulation by both the I.C.C. and the frequently capricious justice department.

NOTHING DOING

The Epley column in the Klamath Herald and News recently carried these paragraphs:

Final word has not yet been given on the location of a navy rehabilitation center in the west, similar to the highly successful Marine Barracks of Klamath Falls. Our tip is that the places considered for this installation are Klamath Falls, Camp Abbot site near Bend, and Pocatello, Idaho.

We are able to supplement them with the report that, according to the latest statement from Admiral McIntire's office, there will be no additional rehabilitation center set up at the present time. The Klamath Falls marine barracks will not be enlarged nor will Camp Abbot be used.

One of our friends editorializes on the subject, "The Trouble With Meat." The business sums up into one answer, "It's too rare."

Bend's Yesterdays

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO (May 21, 1930)

Culminating 20 days of bad weather, snow strikes the Cascades, depositing 10 inches along the McKenzie route. At an organization meeting in the offices of Elmer Lehnberg, E. H. ("Spec") Kennedy is named manager of Bend's baseball team, and L. R. Pickard of the Bend Hardware company is named head of the club.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO (May 21, 1920)

Twenty-two Bend Knights of Pythias attend the district convention at Madras. William R. Speck, local manager for the Standard Oil company, reports only 15 days' supply of gasoline on hand in Bend.

Nazi Sub Surrenders to U. S. Navy

The Stars and Stripes proudly wave above conning tower of this German U-boat, captured by men from escort carrier Guadalcanal near Cape Blanco, West Africa, almost a year ago but news of which was just revealed by the Navy. It marked the first time since 1815 that a foreign enemy ship has been boarded and captured in battle on high seas. U. S. Navy photo.

Marriage is a serious BUSINESS by Randolph Ray - RECTOR OF THE LITTLE CHURCH AROUND THE CORNER

THERE'S A LITTLE CHURCH AROUND THE CORNER... The marriage relation has been my constant preoccupation, and naturally so, for during the 20 years in which I have been rector of the Little Church Around the Corner, more than 50,000 marriages have been performed there.

During those years, almost a century, fashions have changed. Brides have come to their weddings in handsome gowns and taxicabs; they have worn bustles and short skirts—and more recently, uniforms. They have worn trailing robes and been surrounded by large parties; they have worn simple street clothes and borrowed attendants at the church.

Next: Marriage Must Be Permanent Relation.

Redmond

Redmond, May 21 (Special)—Roy Carpenter was called to Portland Thursday night by the sudden death of his father. He received word of his father's passing late in the evening and, with his family, immediately left for Portland.

The minister listened to his story and shook his head. "We cannot," he said firmly, "bury an actor from this church. It is impossible." He saw Jefferson's expression and added, "However, there is a little church around the corner where they do that sort of thing."

At that time, the theatrical district was downtown and actors, learning the story of George Holland's funeral, began to attend the Little Church Around the Corner in great numbers. Many of them were married there. Little by little, more and more people desired to be married from the church which had a reputation for turning out happy marriages.
