

Cooper, Ferriss Share Spotlight In Zero Battles

By Carl Lundquist
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, May 28 (UP)—Morton Cooper's American league jinx still plagued him today—his fourth shut out with the Braves rated only second billing in Boston because the incredible Dave Ferriss of the Red Sox topped the performance with a one-hitter.

Cooper always has had trouble with the American league in world series and all-star games, so it was no surprise that even with a 4 to 0 triumph over Cincinnati he was heaved out of the headlines by Ferriss, who gave the White Sox just one dinky single in winding, 7 to 0.

Ferriss lost out on a no-hitter only because outfielder Bob Johnson barely missed making a shoe-string catch on Tony Cucinello's hit in the second inning. Only three men reached base, the others on a walk and an error, and two more were expired on double plays, so Ferriss faced only 28 men.

Topped Records
Ferriss has topped all records in both leagues for rookie pitchers over a comparable period and at his present pace of .50 earned runs per game may break the major league mark of .80 set by Ferdinand Maurice Schupp of the 1916 Giants.

Teammate Emmet O'Neill gave Ferriss a run for his money, holding the White Sox to two hits in a 2 to 1 second game victory. The defeats ran Chicago's losing streak to six.

Cooper, purchased from the Cardinals last week, worked his fork ball to near perfection against the Reds. Only one player reached third base and he struck out eight. Bucky Walters countered Cooper's fine work, winning the second game, 5 to 0, and holding the Braves to three hits, for his best effort of the season.

In Rough Sunday
It was a rough Sunday for last year's champions, both the Cards and Browns losing double-headers. The humiliation was worse for the Cards, who lost to the last place Phillies at St. Louis, 2 to 0 and 3 to 2.

The Yankees ran their winning streak to seven games and increased their league lead to a game and a half by besting the Browns twice in the rain, 10 to 9 in 14 innings, and 3 to 1 in an eight inning second game called because of darkness.

Three runs in the ninth gave the Yankees a tie and they went on to win with two runs in the 14th on singles by Oscar Grimes, Frankie Crosetti and Bud Metheny after the Browns scored once in their half.

The Pirates defeated the New York Giants in the National, beating the league leaders, 16 to 4, in the first game and leading them, 10 to 5, in a suspended second game, called in the eighth because of the Pennsylvania curfew. The unfinished game will be completed today. The Bucs made 26 runs and 31 hits in the two games.

Ends In Deadlock
The Cubs won and tied against the Dodgers at Chicago, taking the opener, 6 to 1, behind Ray Prim's eight-hit pitching. The second game ended in a 2-all dead-

Nelson, Snead Duel Not at End

West Orange, N. J., May 28 (UP)—The debate still raged today as to whether Byron Nelson or Slammin' Sammy Snead was the unofficial golf champion of the world—their 72-hole match for the crown having proved only that the payoff still is in the putting.

Nelson, who lost one down to Snead Saturday in a 36-hole medal test, came back yesterday over the rolling acres of Essex county club to win their 36-hole match play test, 4 and 3.

But nothing was conclusive except that it was raining to a tune that suited Nelson, the Toledo umbrella man who was elated at the array of bumbershoots; that Nelson didn't carry one of his products; that Snead sported a pretty pink parasol with red trimmings, and that Snead couldn't putt but a putt over two feet.

Nelson Hot
Nelson was hot as a fire cracker when they started their jaunt over the drenched Orange mountain foothills and when he finished the first nine five under par he already was four up. That went to six up before Snead won two holes to finish the 18 four down. He was only three down at the end of 27 holes when his putter flailed him miserably and on five straight holes he hung his first putt on the lip and stood there amazed as the ball refused to drop.

8-Year-Old Wins Race At Tijuana

Tijuana, Mex., May 28 (UP)—My Universe, Bert McFarland's eight-year-old gelding, won his first race of the 1945 season with an easy two and one-half length victory in the seven furlong Nogales handicap at the Hipodromo de Tijuana yesterday.

My Universe, eight-time winner last year ridden by Jockey Tim Sina, covered the distance in 1:25 and paid $9.80, $7.80 and $3.60.

Mrs. A. V. Mellen's Riskaduce was second, Red Tick was third and Tuddo, the favorite, was fourth.

GENERAL ALLEN HONORED
Frankfurt-On-Main, May 28 (UP)—Brig. Gen. Frank A. Allen, Jr., director of public relations at Allied headquarters, received the legion of merit award from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today for "super execution" of his duties during the European war.

Portland Beavers Losing Headway

The Pacific coast league baseball race that two weeks ago had threatened to become a run-away, has developed into an old-fashioned, knock-down, drag-out battle with the leaders slipping and the challengers closing in for the kill.

After holding a six-game edge over second-place Seattle as of May 7, the Portland Beavers have been shoved all over the lot and finished this week by dropping a 4-2 series to the once-lowly San Francisco Seals. The result is that the manager, Mary Owen's club now holds only a one-half game advantage over the rising Seattle Rainiers.

And close on the heels of the Rainiers are the Oakland Aorns, just four games from the top.

Beavers Lose Again
Yesterday the Beavers played only one game, due to wet grounds, and they proceeded to drop that to the Seals, who finished on a high note by scoring five runs in the ninth for a 9-4 win. Meanwhile Seattle was plastering Los Angeles twice, 6-2 and 8-2; Oakland split with San Diego, winning the first, 4-3, and dropping the nightcap in two extra innings, 9-8; and Hollywood and Sacramento divided, 6-2 for the Stars in the first and 3-0 for the Sacs in the second.

lock when darkness halted pro to 3, at Philadelphia. Felix Mackiewicz with two singles and a triple also gave Charley Embree solid support for his third victory. The second game was rained out, ceedings in the eighth with Claude Passeau of the Cubs and Vic Lombardi of the Dodgers sharing honors in a tight duel.

The Tigers and Senators divided at Washington, Detroit winning, 3 to 1, behind Hal Newhouse's nine-hit pitching while Mickey Haefner countered with a five-hit 2 to 1 triumph for the Senators in the second game. George Bink's single, a sacrifice and a single by Gil Torres scored the winning run in the ninth.

Today's Sport Parade

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, May 28 (UP)—They came—38,378 strong, all curious to see the kid with the empty sleeve and they stayed for more than five hours in dismal rain to give him a thunderous ovation.

The big town got sentimental over one-armed Pete Gray, taking him in as one of its own, which indeed he is, since only a few blocks away from Yankee Stadium, the scene of his triumphant return yesterday, he once played baseball on a semi-pro sand lot.

There was nothing sensational about Gray's day on this dark gray day, except the fact that he could be out there playing at all. It was almost beyond belief that this wasp-waisted Brownie outfielder with the jutting jaw could be playing baseball in the major leagues with a championship team and doing more than his share to keep that team in a contending position.

He couldn't make a move without drawing a cheer from the crowd. Obviously nervous as he stalked each batter in left field, he removed his glove countless times to stroke his head or hitch at his belt.

And he had reason to be tense. Failure to hit had prompted Manager Luke Sewell to bench him so he didn't start in the first game, but went to left field to replace Boris Martin in the seventh in response to Bronx chants of "We want Gray" from the Bronx rosters. Martin, a long ball hitter, had made a homer in his previous time at bat.

In the stands were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gray, who came from Nanticoke, Pa. to see their son play big league ball for the first time. Perfect balance and timing, his chief assets afield, were made difficult by the slippery underfooting from the day long drizzle.

So it was only natural in the last of the ninth that the peckiest of the Yankees, Frankie Crosetti, sent a singing single in Gray's direction and the kid nobbled the play, the bases were filled and two runs came home to tie the score, though neither came as a result of the error.

Gray fielded the ball perfectly but dropped it as he flipped off his glove and attempted to throw to the infield, permitting the runners to move up to second and third.

The game went on into extra innings and Gray batted three times, hitting two sharp fly balls to the outfield and walking. Afield, he had one more chance, a long fly, which he handled perfectly.

He was benched in the second game but had his "big moment" of the day when Sewell sent him in as a pinch hitter for Catcher Frank Mancuso. He came through with a sharp single to right about six feet inside the foul line and seconds later went down in the mud at second base in a beautifully executed slide as Don Gutteridge hit into a double play. Weary and bespattered he got up to leave the game and was acclaimed the standing tribute—the most enthusiastic for any player since Babe Ruth.

"When he walked in the first game, he cat-footed it far off base, worrying Pitcher Jim Turner so much that he also walked the next batter."

Owner Donald Barnes, proud of the youngster whose right arm was amputated near the shoulder when he fell off a grocery truck as a six-year-old, said he was "definitely satisfied" over his performance.

"If it hadn't been for this wet field, he would have done much better," Barnes said. "He was under great pressure with all of this big crowd and with his mother and dad there. But any impression that he isn't a big leaguer is strictly his own, because I know he is."

New York thinks so too. They won't forget the kid with the empty sleeve for a long time.
