

Rural Telephone Line Progresses

Progress in organization of the Swalley Telephone company was reported here today by Jack Kribbs, president of the group, who announced that wire for all the lines has been secured, and about two-thirds of the other necessary materials, with the exception of poles, have been ordered. Construction of side legs is expected to get under way early next year, according to officials of the company.

About 60 families who will be served by the new line have already bought shares of stock in the company, and approximately 20 more who have indicated they wish to join, will be solicited, Gordon Wilcox, secretary, pointed out.

Residents of the Glen Vista section and parts of the Tumalo-Deschutes community, which will be included in the district, are being urged to buy their memberships without delay, so that the remaining materials may be bought and preliminary negotiations completed in preparation for construction.

Re-Survey Due
A re-survey of the proposed service will be made by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company.

Over 600 Pupils Visit At Library

Between six and seven hundred pupils of Bend and vicinity visited the Deschutes county library in groups during Book week, which ended Saturday, Nov. 17, according to Miss Eleanor Brown, county librarian. The number this year was slightly lower than last year because of there being only four days available instead of five. Monday, Nov. 12, the library and the schools were closed for Armistice day observance.

Kenwood school sent the largest number, eight groups. Reid was second with four, and Allen third with two. Mrs. Marguerite Boyd, teacher of Young school, brought her group in by car, and Tumalo had planned to come but was prevented at the last moment by bus trouble.

The lower four grades were entertained with a story by Miss Elsie White, children's librarian, or Miss Edith Brown, her assistant. The new books and special exhibits were shown the children, and all who did not have cards were signed up as borrowers. Nearly 100 new juvenile borrowers have already received cards, and many more are expected as a result of the Book week activities. Simple library instruction and a book report featured the program for the older grades. Book week is observed each year in this fashion at the county library, Miss Brown disclosed.

Strike Situation Still Deadlocked

Portland, Ore., Nov. 21 (AP)—The northwest's five-state AFL lumber strike, going into its 59th day today, remained at a deadlock between the union's demand for a $1.10 an hour wage minimum and the continually increasing employer offers of 12½ cent-compromise raise.

In Vancouver, Wash., AFL workers reaffirmed their determination to continue striking for $1.10 an hour, while at Reedsport, Ore., conflicting reports pointed to both acceptance and rejection of the 12½ cent raise.

E. H. Card, manager of the Oregon coast lumber operators association, announced the Reedsport local has voted to accept the pay boost and resume work "under certain conditions," providing the Coos Bay district council agreed.

But Fritz Hagan, district council business agent, denied the report, and the strike committee in Portland said it had been advised the Reedsport local had rejected the operators' proposal.
