Stocks Curtailed, Also Irregular

(United Press Financial Editor)
New York, Nov. 7 (IP-Stocks) An advanced irregularly today on curtailed volume after a sharp break in the previous session.

Opening prices sagged as cotton broke another $10 a ball.

Later cotton railled from the lows and railled from the lows.

Later cotton railied from the lows and prices firmed. An adverse Chrysler report chilled the list for a time but hopes for a rise in railroad freight rates brought a new rally under lead of the rails. When the rails lost their snapprospect of a rise in ateel prices perped up the list.

None of these hypodermics had a prolonged effect, nor did they attract buying in sufficient volume to please the trading element. As a result realizing came ment. As a result realizing came late in the day and prices fell from the highs. Some leaders like Du Pont, off a point, Douglas Aircraft, off 2½, and J. I. Case, off nearly a point, pulled down the general average from its top.
