

Spartan Quint Falls Before Bend Attack

Bend's high-geared Lava Bears, definitely off form for the evening but still able to stage their customary whirlwind finish, eliminated a Corvallis lead in the final minutes of play here last night in a Big Six league battle to nose out the Spartans 41 to 39. It was a finish that again brought the capacity crowd to its feet as the Bears successfully struggled to maintain their lead against a team that topped the Bend boys in height, with one lad, Bob Edwards, towering rafterward 6 feet 8 inches.

However, the Spartans did not have the service of the veteran Edwards, center, in the final minutes of play. He left the floor when an official emphatically ruled that the lanky lad had roughed Phil Gillis, Bend center. That appeared to be the turning point of the game, for the Bears at that time, woefully poor in their marksmanship, were trailing.

Bears Catch Up
Well along in the final quarter, Bend caught up with the Spartans, surging into a 34 to 34 tie. Dick Mauldin made a basket to shove the Bears into the lead, and after that they were never headed, as the clock ticked off the final 4 1/2 minutes of play. With Bend leading 36 to 34, Dick Mauldin missed two free tosses, then, in an effort to quiet the teams, officials called time in the game.

When play was resumed, Frank Hughes, Spartan substitute forward whose break-away plays occasionally befuddled the Bears, shot at the basket, but missed. Bend lost the ball, regained possession and missed a shot. Corvallis was awarded two free throws and Salvesson made one good, cutting down the Bend lead to 36 to 35. A foul was called on Jim Dunn, tall Corvallis forward, and Sheoffield made the point good. Toole added a basket, and Bend was out ahead, 39 to 35.

With 1 minute and 15 seconds left to play, Toole took a pass and made a lay-in shot that ended Bend's scoring. However, the Spartans were still in the game, with only seconds left on the clock. Elusive Hughes dropped in one basket, and as the timer was signalling the end of the game, Taylor, a substitute, scored two points to bring the count to 39 to 41.

Spartans Are Tall
The height of Edwards and Dunn gave the Spartans a definite advantage over the Bears, with the visitors commanding the backboard most of the evening. However, it was not a tall boy, but diminutive Jerry Toole, of Bend who garnered high point honors for the evening—a total of 15. Bill Sheoffield, who scored 16 points against Marathia, was definitely off in last night's game, emerging with only one field goal and a free toss. The Mauldin brothers, Dick and Lowell, divided family honors, each getting nine points.

In the preliminary game, the Corvallis Sparbates defeated the Bend Cubs 36 to 26. Tonight on the Bend floor, the Bears will swing back into Central Oregon action, with the Madras Buffa-

Four Bend Skiers On O.S.C. Team

When Oregon State college sends its first five-man ski team since 1941 down the snowy slopes at the inter-collegiate and Pacific coast conference ski meets, Bend will be well represented. The reason: Four of the five men are from this city. The four are Phil Peoples, Sam Peoples, Sterling McGarvey and Jim McGarvey. The fifth man is LaVern Hughes of Portland, well-known to all of the Bend ski fans.

The first meet on schedule is the National inter-collegiate ski meet at Sun valley on Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31. Such colleges as Minnesota, Dartmouth, Iowa and Stanford will send competitors to the four-way meet which includes jumping, downhill, slalom, and cross-country. Hughes will be the only boy on the Oregon State team to enter all four.

The rest of the institution's schedule is tentative, but so far as known, it will include meets in the PCC with University of Washington, Washington State, Oregon and Idaho. Another big affair which has not definitely been scheduled is the big ski carnival at Reno, Nevada, sometime in March.

Washington State Beats Montana

Missoula, Mont., Dec. 21 (AP)—Washington State college, tired from a Rocky mountain basket ball junkie, still had enough power left to roll over the University of Montana, 60 to 49, last night. The two teams play again tonight. The squads fought on even terms until late in the first period, when the Cougars pulled ahead to take a 24 to 26 halftime lead. Bob Svendsen and Bob Elliott shared scoring honors for WSC with 10 points apiece.

Bruins Favored By Shift in Odds

Los Angeles, Dec. 21 (AP)—Roosevelt odds shifted today to make the UCLA Bruins six point favorites over Illinois, largely because of halfback Cal Rossi's sensational scrimmage play.

Bruin hopes rose yesterday when halfback Orv Hatcher was unexpectedly given the doctor's okay to work out Monday and then fell when it was learned that tackle Wes Mathews had reinjured his side.

Jerry Shipkey was kept out of scrimmage but will drill Monday. The Illinois team will arrive in Los Angeles Monday.

SALEM TEAM WINS

Salem, Ore., Dec. 21 (AP)—The Salem Trailblazers came up from behind in a blazing finish in the last quarter last night to edge the Seattle Blue Devils, 62-60, in a Pacific coast professional basketball league game.

The win was the second straight for the Salem team over the Puget Sound club.

Popular screen star Cornel Wilde and his wife, Patricia Knight, do their bit to add to the scenic attractions of Nassau, Bahamas Islands, where they are vacationing.

Blanchard Choice Of Dodger Eleven

Cleveland, Dec. 21 (AP)—The New York Yankees today named all-American Charlie Trippi, Georgia halfback, as their first choice in the player draft of the all-America conference, while Felix (Doc) Blanchard and Glenn Davis, Army's touchdown twins, were chosen by Brooklyn and San Francisco, respectively.

Gene Roberts, Chattanooga university back, and Francis Barlaszkas, Yale guard, were chosen by the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Cleveland Browns were reported to have made Dick Hoerner, University of Iowa fullback, their first choice.

Other all-America draft selections were withheld, pending completion of the drawings at today's meeting of the league owners.

Fight For Crown

The two tall negroes fought for the crown left vacant when Marty Servo retired from the ring on Sept. 25 because of nose injuries.

And what a fight it was! The crowd of 15,670 was on its feet during those six rounds, in frenzied anticipation of the biggest boxing upset in years as Bell, a 5-1 underdog, shook the great Robinson with crisp left hooks that had him groggy again and again.

Bell of Youngstown, O.—a slender, dark-brown youngster with the big shoulders and muscular arms of a light heavy-weight—had the garden in pandemonium in the second round when he floored the pride of Harlem with a left hook to the chin for a count of seven. Robinson, badly hurt but desperately clever, evaded a kayo and was fighting back gamely before the round ended.

Going into the seventh round, Bell 23, was ahead on the United Press score sheet, three rounds to two, with one even.

But in the decisive seventh round, Robinson 25, bargared Bell's body with such an explosive hooking attack that Bell never recovered completely. During this smashing attack, Robinson hammered his opponent into a corner and blasted him so terrifically that Tommy's knees buckled.

Vince Dimaggio Studies 2 Deals

Redondo Beach, Calif., Dec. 21 (AP)—Vince Dimaggio today admitted he was "considering" two baseball deals, but declined to say whether one of them was the manager-ship of the Salt Lake Bees of the Pioneer league.

Dimaggio, eldest of the three baseball-playing Dimaggio brothers of San Francisco, said he had signed no contract but was considering two proposals.

Radio station KDYL, Salt Lake City, Utah, announced last night that Dimaggio had signed with the Bees. Charles Graham, president of the San Francisco Bees, which has a working agreement with the Bees, said the last rumor he heard was that Dimaggio was to manage San Bernardino in the new Sunset league.

Awards Word
"I am waiting for word from a friend of mine before deciding what I'll do," Dimaggio said.

He would not comment when informed of the KDYL announcement, but said, "I promised not to name the clubs with which I'm dickering until the deal is closed."

The Bees' manager-ship has been vacant since Joe Oringo was given his release a few weeks ago so he could "negotiate with a spot for a bigger team." The team topped the Pioneer league last season.
