Bill Would Deny Wagner Act Rights To Unions Dominated By Communist Leadership

Industry-wide Bargaining Also Target of Proposal; Voluntary Closed Shop Policies Would Be Agreeable; Changes Are Expected

Washington, March 25 (UP)—The house labor committee staff has drafted a sweeping labor control bill which would deny Wagner act rights to communist-dominated unions, it was learned today.

Veto Invoked By Russians; Greece Target

Lake Success, N. Y., March 25 (UP)—Russia used the United Nations veto power to kill a security council action aimed at Albania today, then attacked the Greek government for the first time since President Truman proposed United States aid to Greece and Turkey.

Andrej Gromyko, the soviet delegate, invoked the veto power to nullify a security council resolution finding Albania guilty of knowing about mines which damaged two British destroyers and killed 44 seamen in the Corfu channel last October 22.

In his subsequent attack on the Greek government, Gromyko made no mention of the American program to aid Greece and Turkey and prevent the spread of communism in the eastern Mediterranean.

Gromyko complained that the Greek government failed to comply with the secretary council resolutions in its treatment of soviet delegates on the UN Balkans investigating commission.

Charge Made
He referred to the Greek government's refusal to "guarantee the safety" of a soviet representative and some other commission members who remained behind in Greek guerrilla territory recently to interview a Greek guerrilla general.

Gromyko charged the government's action was an act against the authority of the security council, which sent the commission to investigate trouble between Greece and Balkan neighbors—Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

Salute To Bend Plans Outlined

Plans for a "Salute to Bend" week in which industrial opportunities in this area will be advertised on a local, statewide and national scale, were outlined this noon by George P. Griffiths, promotion manager of the Oregonian, at a joint luncheon meeting of the Lions and Kiwanis clubs at the Pilot Butte Inn.

A feature of the week, May 5 to 10, will be a full page advertisement on Bend in Newsweek magazine. The Oregonian will carry a full page article on Bend in its Sunday magazine section and this city will be featured on "Horizons of Tomorrow," a radio program originating over KGW and to be carried by KBND.

New Migration Here
Griffiths said the northwest is now experiencing its third great migration and the current advertising campaign is to throw the spotlight on several communities in Oregon doing outstanding jobs in promoting industrial development.

With Griffiths in Bend are Ted Bushman, of the MacWilkins, Cole and Weber advertising agency, and Miss Helen Alexiene, of the KGW staff. They will remain in Bend today and tomorrow to gather information to be used in the advertising program.

A main feature of the joint club program today was an appearance of the high school a cappella choir, directed by Don Pence. The choir presented four well-received numbers with Jeanne Moore, David Coyner and Maureen Lyons as soloists.

Roll Call Report Made
Del Hale, chairman of the Red Cross drive, reported that 60 per cent of the county quota had been reached. The Easter egg hunt in Drake Park on Easter Sunday will be the largest ever held, if

Yalta and Potsdam Pacts Published; No New Major 'Secrets' Are Divulged

Manslaughter Charges To Face Actress

Redlands, Calif., March 25 (UP)—Actress Helen Walker today was ordered held for trial on a charge of manslaughter resulting from a traffic accident in which a hitchhiker was killed.

Another hitchhiker in her car, Joseph Montaldo, Los Angeles, testified at the preliminary hearing that he begged her to slow down just before her car hit a traffic island and rolled over six times.

"I told her we were driving too fast," he said.

Montaldo has filed a suit for $150,000 damages against the pretty blonde actress, seriously injured herself in the New Year's day crash. She got out of bed only two weeks ago.

Senate Opens Arguments On School Aid Bill

Salem, Ore., March 25 (UP)—The senate without debate or a vote of dissent today passed legislation amending the rural school district act, passed by the voters last November, and opened argument on the bill to distribute the $16,000,000 basic school support fund.

The rural school district act amendments by the senate education committee make the law operative starting January 1, 1948. The house had amended the measure to delay the act until January 1, 1949, a move which Sen. Paul Patterson, Hillsboro, described as an attempt to "slowly chloroform the bill."

The measure now goes to the house for approval of senate amendments and probably will be ironed out in a conference committee.

Terms Outlined
The measure would place labor unions under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act. But it would forbid federal courts to issue injunctions under that law in any dispute that arose out of "terms and conditions" of employment.

Industry-wide bargaining would be permitted for plants only 50 miles apart and with less than 100 employees each. In addition, local unions would be permitted to affiliate with a national organization providing that the terms of their bargaining "are not subject directly or indirectly to common control or approval."

Declaration Set Forth
The act would set up a number of policy statements including a declaration: "The public shall have the right to freedom from strikes, lockouts and other forms of industrial strife growing out of matters that may be adjudicated, adjusted or settled under the provisions of this act, in the courts of law, or under the provisions of collective bargaining agreements."

Train Derailed In Washington

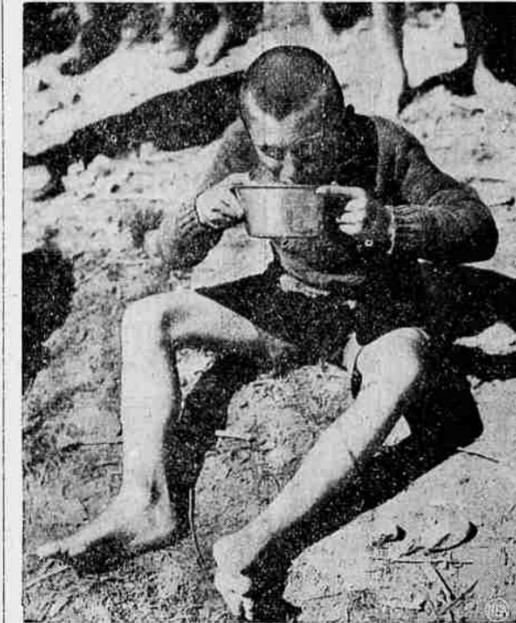

Portland, Ore., March 25 (UP)—A Spokane, Portland and Seattle east bound passenger train ran into a rock slide 20 miles east of Pasco, Wash., early this morning, blocking traffic on the line for four hours.

A company spokesman in Portland said the train was not derailed and no one was injured. The train returned to Pasco and was rerouted on the Northern Pacific lines while the slide was cleared, the spokesman said.

Restaurants Told Competition Due
Chicago, March 25 (UP)—Restaurant operators were told today that they must utilize all their resources and skill to compete for dollar conscious customers, and that the days of the spending binge are over.

Walter F. Clark, of Seattle, Wash., president of the National Restaurant association, told the organization's convention here that "we are definitely in a buyer's market," and "the abnormal, liberal spending binge is but a memory."

UNRRA Soup For Greek Boy

This lad illustrates one of the problems in Greece, the nation President Truman declares the U. S. must help if she is to avoid internal collapse and likely Communist domination. The lad is hungry and without proper clothing, as is most of the Greek population. He gulps soup as lunch, provided by UNRRA, is served in his school in the village of Zarouhleika. Russell Acheson Gets Support For Berth as Bend Basketball Coach; Played Under Stiner

The teachers' committee of the Bend high school board will recommend at the next board meeting the appointment of Russell Acheson, of Coos Bay, as high school basketball coach to succeed Claude Cook, who resigned this portion of his duties early last month, it was announced today by James W. Bushong, Bend school superintendent.

Acheson, a veteran of four years of service in the army, is a graduate of Oregon State college and received high recommendations from both Lon Stiner, head football coach, and A. T. (Slats) Gill, basketball coach whose team this year won the Pacific coast conference title. He was a member of the varsity football squad for two years under Stiner and had his basketball training under Gill.

Acheson, whose recommendation by the committee will undoubtedly receive approval of the school board, was in the Medford school system from 1935 to 1942, when he entered the army. He was physical education instructor and coach in the junior high school there in 1935 and 1936 and was advanced to a senior high school position in 1936, serving as basketball coach and assistant football coach. Following his discharge from the army last year he entered the Coos Bay school system and is currently coaching football and basketball and instructing in physical education there.

He received his high school education at Hood River and Washington high school in Portland and then attended Pacific university for a year before going to the University of Oregon.

Persons who park their cars all morning on downtown streets will have just one week to mend their ways, according to Chief of Police Ken C. Gulick, who said that morning checks of vehicles in the one-hour parking zone would be started on April 1.

At the request of City Manager C. G. Reiter, police were instructed to check parking conditions on downtown streets last week in the morning hours. At 8 a. m. it was found that 50 per cent of the parking spaces were occupied, at 9 a. m. 90 per cent of the spaces were full and at 10 a. m. nearly 100 per cent of the available parking spaces were used.

Traffic tickets will be given for one hour parking violations on and after April 1, according to Gulick, and regular fines will be levied.

Chabot Receives 2-Year Sentence
Charles F. Chabot, 37, pleaded guilty yesterday in circuit court to a charge of larceny by embezzlement and was sentenced by Judge R. S. Hamilton to three years in the state penitentiary. Chabot was returned Saturday from Colfax, Wash., where he served a six-months jail sentence on a similar conviction.

Chabot admitted taking $285 from W. E. Pland, by whom he had been employed as a meatcutter. The theft occurred in October, 1945, when Pland was out of the city. From Bend he went to Colfax, then to Chicago, where he was arrested and returned to face the Washington charge.

CHICO MARX ILL
Las Vegas, Nev., March 25 (UP)—Comedian Chico Marx, one of the three famous Marx brothers, suffered a slight heart attack and cancelled an engagement at the Nevada Biltmore hotel here, it was announced today.

Turks Pledged To Enter War, Papers Reveal

Washington, March 25 (UP)—The text of the Tehran protocol, signed December 1, 1943, by the late President Roosevelt, Premier Joseph Stalin and Churchill, shows that:

1. Turkey was to have entered the war on the side of the allies and Russia was pledged to fight Bulgaria—now one of the soviet satellites—if that nation attacked Turkey. Turkey declared war on Germany and Japan effective March 1, 1945, but never took any direct military action.

2. The big three "took note" that "Operation Overlord" was to be launched on the Normandy coast in May, 1944. A shortage of landing craft, however, held up the invasion until June 6. Stalin agreed to begin an offensive at the same time "with the object of preventing German forces from transferring from the eastern" front.

Frontiers Set Up
In addition to the reparations question, the Yalta conference temporarily set up Poland's present western frontier along the Oder-Niess river. Although the pact states that Poland's final boundaries "should await the peace conference," Russia and Poland maintain that the present location is permanent. The United States will hold at Moscow that the Polish boundary is "open" and can be readjusted to provide additional food-producing lands for Germany.

An "agreement regarding Japan," said that the "Kuril islands" shall be handed over to the soviet union—a brief but much-condemned decision long since made public.

Fleets Divided
Hitherto undisclosed portions of the August 1, 1945 Potsdam protocol outlined the three-power plan for division of the German naval and merchant fleets. In general, all ships and submarines were to be divided equally between the United States, Britain and Russia.

In cutting out the dollar figure on German reparations, the Potsdam declaration further said "that reparations should not be exacted from Austria."

Spring Opening Set For Friday

Both the high school drum and bugle corps and the high school band will appear at the spring opening festivities Friday evening, according to Floyd Burden, chamber of commerce chairman for the event.

This year's spring opening should be one of the largest in recent years, according to Burden, and will incorporate an automobile show for the first time since before the war.

The drum and bugle corps will parade on downtown streets at about 7 o'clock, according to arrangements made by Burden, and a high school band concert will follow at the Wall street-Minnesota avenue intersection. A special radio broadcast of spring opening events is being planned.

Actually the spring opening will get under way about 6 p. m., Burden said, when merchants unveil their store windows to reveal new spring merchandise and styles. The new automobiles will be displayed in a portion of the street in which parking of other vehicles will be prohibited that evening.

Red Infiltration At U. O. Charged

Salem, Ore., March 25 (UP)—Rep. William B. Morse, Prineville, Ore., today told the ways and means committee that he has been informed communists are among the teachers at the University of Oregon and that it would "behoove" the Oregon legislature to look into the matter.

War Danger Still Remote, Says General

Washington, March 25 (UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, said today that in his opinion "there is no immediate danger of a deliberately provoked war."

No nation in the world can afford a war now, he said in a talk to the National Press club.

"But because all wars are stupid, they can start stupidly," Eisenhower said.

Joe S. Innes, 1909 Pioneer, Dies In Bend

Joseph Stuart Innes, 71, member of the Bend city council in 1921 and 1922 and a former member of the Deschutes county court, died in Bend last night, following an illness of six months. A pioneer of Bend, Mr. Innes came here in 1903, when railroads were building up the Deschutes canyon, and was joined here in 1910 by his family.

A native of Detroit, Mich., Mr. Innes left home when a boy, winning fame as a wrestler in his youth. At one time he held the wrestling championship, in his weight division, on the eastern seaboard. Through his long residence in Bend, he retained his interest in amateur athletics, and in earlier days, no bout or match was complete with Joe Innes not at the ringside, in charge of the time going. In recent years, this job was taken over by his son, Bob.

In early day Bend, Mr. Innes operated a barber shop, in partnership with J. S. Davidson, now of Lebanon. In the closing years of his life, Mr. Innes was again an associate with his pioneer partner, Davidson. The men jointly owned a store in Lebanon. Mr. Innes was also in the real estate and insurance business in Bend in early years.

Mr. Innes was preceded in death by his wife, on June 30, 1943. His only immediate survivor here is his son, Robert K. Innes. The family came to Bend from Canyon City, Colo.

Funeral services have been tentatively set for Thursday. The Niswonger and Winslow mortuary will be in charge.

Law Graduates Pass State Tests

Salem, Ore., March 25 (UP)—Fourteen law graduates passed the state bar examination held in Portland, Jan. 27 and 28, Chief Justice George Rossman of the Oregon supreme court announced today.

Successful candidates included John V. Colombo, Mary Louise Dvnl, Shirley A. Fields, George H. Fraser, Francis E. Harrington, John Robert Jordan, Charles R. Mears, Richardson W. Mah-stoll, John W. Purvis, and Wilbur S. Williams, Jr., all of Portland; Charles W. Creighton, Jr., and Claude M. Johns, Jr., both of Salem; Max L. McMillen, Vancouver, Wash., and Francis C. Mel-drum, Eugene.

Japs Warned of Red Menace; U.S. To Fight Communism

Tokyo, March 25 (UP)—The United States will oppose communist aggression "anywhere in the world," a spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters told the Japanese people today.

Tehran Terms Also Released By Officials

Washington, March 25 (UP)—Publication of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements today revealed the preliminary jockeying by the wartime "Big Three" on reparations and other points at issue in the German peace treaty.

The two documents, plus the 250-word text of the Tehran agreement, were released by the state department in answer to congressional demands for full disclosure of commitments made by the United States at the wartime conferences.

The texts disclosed no new major "secrets" decisions but completed the background for the bickering at the current Moscow conference on a German peace treaty.

Background Held Needed
Leading congressional advocate of making the agreements public—Rep. Karl E. Mundt, R., S.D.—said release of the facts would provide the proper background for current U.S. foreign policy.

"This will go a long way toward clarifying the atmosphere and giving the average American citizen a chance to formulate an intelligent opinion on foreign affairs," Mundt told a reporter. "Without these documents, we would be starting off in the middle of the night."

The text of the February, 1945, Yalta agreement confirmed that the United States agreed to a soviet "suggestion" that German reparations be tentatively considered at $20,000,000,000—half of which was to go to Russia. The three powers also reached an accord on delivery of reparations from current German industrial production.

Figures Ruled Out
Although the then British prime minister, Winston Churchill, signed the Yalta pact, the British delegation went on record that "no such figures of reparation should be mentioned."

When the Big Three met at Potsdam in mid-1945, the dollar figure was cancelled, setting the stage for the first major disagreement at the current Moscow conference. The current production feature was modified sharply at Potsdam so that proceeds of exports from current production would be used primarily to pay for imports.

At Moscow, Russia is holding tenaciously to the $10,000,000,000 reparations figure and receipt of reparations from current production. The United States, joined by Britain, is equally firm in its stand that Yalta was superseded by Potsdam. Secretary of state George C. Marshall has told soviet Foreign minister V. M. Molotov that this country will not "retreat to Yalta" on the reparations issue.

Bend Weather

(By United Press)
Bend and vicinity—Increasing cloudiness tonight; Wednesday cloudy with occasional light rain toward evening.
High temperature today, 55; low tonight, 34; high Wednesday, 58.

The United States will fight such "ruthlessly aggressive communism" as it had to fight "nazism and fascism and Tojo's 'Japanism,'" Roest declared.

He warned the Japanese against following the leadership of any group promising direct rule in place of parliamentary representation. Otherwise, he said, they are likely to find themselves under "a worse dictatorship" than in the past.

Such a dictatorship he said, would be "not of the proletariat but of a handful of political party bosses or of one strong man."
