Fowler said that Bend has a chamber of commerce that rates high, not only in Oregon, but in the United States. Glassow pointthe United States. Glassow pointed out the importance of chamber of commerce work in the development of a city. Hamm traced work of the industrial department of the Bend chamber, formerly the Bend Development as sociation, and said that 400 new jobs had been created here in the past two years. Nielsen and Burpee outlined other phases of the chamber's work.

Chief of Police Ken C. Gulick presided at the meeting.

Chief of Police Ken C. Gulick presided at the meeting.

Meeting Held
Workers in the chamber of commerce membership drive held a brief meeting following the luncheon, covering plans for the rest of the campaign, which will close Thursday noon.

In addition to seeking new members, the drive is aimed at increasing the amount contrib-members, the drive is almed at increasing the amount contributed by many of the present members. The basic dues rate of the chamber is $25 a year, the same amount that was collected when the chamber incorporated in 1933. Many businesses have doubled or tripled in size in recent years and the size of their membership contribution should increase accordingly, directors believe.

Service fund memberships are a new feature in this drive. Bush nesses may subscribe to a regular chamber membership and in addi-tion may purchase a service fund membership in any amount, with the money to be devoted to one specific activity of the chamber.
