

Chicago To Quit Island Quarters

Los Angeles, Jan. 21 (AP)—Catalina Island, for years the spring training base of the Chicago Cubs was told today to depend on its bird farm to attract tourists. The Cubs will stay on the mainland this year.

The National league club said they would remain at Wrigley field because only five days' practice could be held at Catalina before their first exhibition game March 6. Commissioner A. B. Chandler has banned spring training before March 1.

Chilly breezes and inclement weather on the island last spring added to the risk of sore arms and legs.

LINFIELD UPSET

Portland, Ore., Jan. 21 (AP)—Paced by Paul Sowers and Dale Warberg, the Vanport college Vikings upset Linfield 67 to 42 in a basketball game here last night. Sowers hit nine field goals and a foul toss for 19 points, while Warberg had six field goals and eight free throws for 20.

Jack in the Corner . . .

You know this new type of ad was supposed to be in an upper corner but it seems that the column type of thing doesn't always fit. I will ask his lordship to try to get it in that upper corner so you can see the "squawk" each Wednesday.

Actually we really can't squeal too much about anything and of course all the good it does anyway is to relieve the internal pressure—but it gets awfully tiresome to the listener. I should know, I do a lot of listening now days.

There really was a loud howl went up last week from the fishermen about the change in regulations for 1948. And of course there was justification for the groans. Certainly when certain equipment was arbitrarily ruled out for this year and dealers and manufacturers were given no warning, it wasn't what one would call a particularly fair thing to do.

However that is one time that the "squeaky door gets the oil," because I understand the commission will modify their ruling to allow another year to get rid of the equipment.

From my standpoint it doesn't make a great deal of difference—I can catch 'em or not catch 'em. If it's one of my good days, it doesn't make any difference what I use; and by the same token, if it isn't one of "my" days I could use diamond studded spoons and serve French fried bait with a salad on the side and the fish would swim on by. You see, being a rank amateur has a lot of advantages—I don't HAVE to catch fish to uphold my reputation. It's a lot more fun to be "Lucky" Jack than "Jack the Fly Fisherman."

So I'll be seeing you.

Basketball Zone Defense Target; Slows Up Game

By Jack Cuddy (United Press Sports Writer) New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—Ed Diddle, elderly but dynamic coach of western Kentucky's excellent quintet, admitted today that he would like to see the "zone defense" in basketball banished to the canal zone or even to the ozone.

Being a tolerant man, however, the great towel-tosser from Bowling Green, Ky., will not campaign for elimination of the zone defense.

"No sir," Diddle admonished reporters. "Don't put me down as crusading against that type of prevention. As long as the rule books permit zone defense, it's a coach's own business if he uses it."

Defense Not Liked "But I will say that I don't like it. It's contrary to the modern trend in basketball—the speedy game that provides so much fun for the players and so much entertainment for the spectators. It slows up the game."

Diddle's remarks were occasioned by last night's contest at Madison Square Garden wherein the western Kentucky Hilltoppers had to come from behind five times before they finally beat Long Island University, 62 to 47.

Clair Bee, shrewd coach of the defense at the Hilltoppers, nearly manacled them. Not until the last three minutes of play, when Kentucky fought fire with fire by using "stressed possession" (or stalling tactics) to force the Blackbirds to "come at them," were the crimson-clad Kentuckians enabled to break loose and live up to their reputation as a high-speed team.

Registers Goals During those hectic three minutes, Charley Parsley, substitute center, registered four field goals for Diddle's outfit, and the 18,146 fans enjoyed their first genuine thrills of the game. It was a dull contest that seemed doubly dull because it followed the hell-for-leather encounter in which New York university beat Colgate 64 to 59.

At his hotel today, Diddle said, "That was our 13th game this season, and it was the first one in which we ran into the zone defense."

Conference Tilt Won By Pacific (Portland, Ore., Jan. 21 (AP)—Pacific university won its first Northwest conference basketball game last night by whipping Lewis and Clark 54 to 52 in an exciting game at Portland.

The game was close all the way until Pacific pulled ahead in the closing minutes. A late Lewis and Clark rally failed to catch the Badgers.

Arnold Thomas, Lewis and Clark guard, had 19 points, while Bob Whitbeck paced the winners with 13.

Seattle Athletics Defeat Astoria Astoria, Ore., Jan. 21 (AP)—The Seattle Athletics moved to within one-half game of the league-leading Bellingham Firecrackers by downing Astoria 69 to 65 in a close Pacific Coast professional basketball game last night.

Al Brigham was the bright light for the winner, racking up 25 points. Ty Lovelace, ex-Eugene high flash, led Astoria with 14.

The score was knotted at 39 all at the half.
