Greeks Staging Offensive Against Guerrilla Posts

Athens, June 21 (UP)—The Greek army reported initial successes today in a showdown offensive by 60,000 crack troops against some 7,000 communist guerrillas in the Grammos mountain fastness of northwest Greece.

This was the long heralded drive to wipe out the rebels under Gen. Markos Vafiadis. American observers professed confidence of success. Responsible predictions were made that the "free Greece" of the communists would be erased from the map in 10 days or two weeks.

Bidding for a clean sweep, the army stepped up attacks on the guerrillas in the remainder of Greece. Confronted with the Grammos offensive, the greatest by the Greeks since it routed the Italians in 1941, attacks on guerrilla-controlled areas in the Peloponnese, and in the north along the Yugoslav and Bulgarian borders.

The elite Greek second corps, commanded by Lt. Gen. George Kalogeropoulos from his Kozane headquarters, lashed out at the guerrillas late yesterday.

In the first hours of the fighting under a brilliant moon, the Greeks captured the 4,000-foot Alvesta ridge, a little over a mile from the Albanian frontier. Casualties admitted were heavy as the shock troops charged the rugged positions.

night. He could be any one of a dozen statesmen. Here's a who's who of the contenders as the gavel falls:

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York: Conceded to have the most first ballot votes but must win in the first half dozen roll calls if at all.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio: Expected to place second on the first ballot and to get his shot at the nomination only if Dewey falters.

Former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota: Safe in a third place on the first roll call but needing a Dewey-Taft deadlock for a chance to run.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan: Far behind the leaders on ballot No. 1 but a better bet than Stassen to profit from a deadlock.

Gov. Earl Warren of California: An avowed candidate with California's fat 53 votes securely held but not much else in early balloting.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts: A dark horse who is "available" and to whom the so-called isolationists probably would rally against Vandenberg's nomination.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur: Strictly a dark horse in a far stall of the deadlock stable.

Union Political Activity Upheld

Washington, June 21 (UP)—The supreme court ruled today that unions may use their newspapers in behalf of political candidates regardless of the Taft-Hartley law's ban on political spending by labor organizations.

The court refused, however, to rule directly on constitutionality of the political spending ban.

But it agreed unanimously to dismissal of a government indictment against the CIO and its president, Philip Murray.

They were indicted after Murray, deliberately seeking a court test of the political spending ban, ordered copies of a CIO newspaper distributed in a Maryland congressional district. The news paper strongly supported one candidate in a congressional election.

Labor Asked for Change in Tactics

Salem, Ore., June 21 (UP)—J. D. McDonald, president of the Oregon federation of labor, today called upon labor to stop the "bad habit" of trying to crucify public officials and concentrate on selling labor's position to the lawmakers.

Speaking at the opening session of the state convention of the AFL group, McDonald said: "I am sorry to state that the Oregon federation of labor has become more political than legislative."

"Unions have a bad habit of trying to crucify our duly elected public officials for everything they do which is not 100 per cent in line with our thinking," he said.

Bullet Pierces Fender of Car

Kenneth Hunt, former member of the Portland police force and world war 2 veteran, is beginning to believe that he is a sort of perpetual target. He has been a target for a bullet once, was hit by shrapnel once, and Saturday night, near Pilot butte, at the eastern city limits of Bend, his car was hit by a bullet. The bullet resulted in a blowout of the left rear tire.

Hunt was driving into Bend from Burns about 9:30 Saturday night when his tire blew out. Not until repairs were made and the car brought into Bend was it ascertained that a bullet had ripped through the tire and emerged from the top of the fender.

Source of the bullet was not known.

When a member of the city police force in Portland, Hunt's left arm was shattered by a bullet, fired by a man being arrested. In the recent war, shrapnel shattered the lower part of the same arm.

Hunt is with the Swift company, working out of the Farmers' warehouse in Bend. Police were notified of the Saturday night shooting, but no clues have been found.

Rainfall Record For June Broken

A 32-year precipitation record was broken in Bend over the week end when the 32 of an inch precipitation that fell in the Saturday night storm shoved the June total to 2.95 inches. This is the heaviest precipitation ever measured here in June. The former high mark was 2.80 inches, measured in June, 1916—the year, so old-timers say, that the "high desert" bloomed.

The week end rain brought the six-month total up to 12.87 of an inch. Bend's normal precipitation for an entire year is 12.91 inches.

Central Oregon's week end rains were mostly in the nature of showers that fell in scattered localities. However, continuous light rain fell in the mountains Saturday night.

Mooers will appear next Sunday at Benton-Lane speedway, near Eugene. On July 4, he will be one of the featured riders in the motorcycle races to be held in Bend. Roy Burke and Casey Jones, both national champions, will also compete.

Mooers Places In Cycle Event

Among those present were Sen. J. Howard McGrath, D., R. I., democratic national chairman and the national committee's publicity chief, John M. Redding.

Also present were two federal officials high in White House councils—Oscar Ewing, federal security administrator, and Oscar L. Chapman, undersecretary of interior.

Ross said "some members of the cabinet" were present along with democratic leaders from the house and senate, including Sen. Scott D. Lucas, D., Ill., Rep. Sam Rayburn, D., Tex., and Rep. John W. McCormack, D., Mass.

Reiter Discusses Municipal Affairs

Impromptu discussion of local municipal affairs by City manager C. G. Reiter featured the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis club at the Pine tavern today.

Reiter spoke chiefly on the proposed charter amendments which seek an automatic four-year recall election on the manager and a two-year referendum on license and revenue measures.

The recurrent revenue referendum he considered the more important and the one threatening the greater danger to orderly city financing in the uncertainty in which it would create as to funds which must be considered in the annual budget.

Both would so impair the functioning of city administration that it would be difficult to obtain the type of men most needed for service on the commission, he said.

Reiter reported that bulldozer excavation for the city swimming pool has been done and predicted that there would be water in the pool some time this year, although possibly not in time for the Red Cross swim week.

Traffic signals, he said, depend on state highway commission recommendations. These have not been made, but may come with traffic increase in another year or two, he thought.

Asked as to provision for public recreation costs, Reiter referred to the fund derived from amusement devices operated by the Elks, Eagles, Moose and V. F. W. The amount available for the year would be impossible to determine in advance, he explained.

Don O. Conner was program chairman.

Leaving Baker June 10, the two men started from Homestead mining camp on the Oregon side.

Foreign Aid Bill Awaits Signature

Washington, June 21 (UP)—A $6,030,710,228 foreign aid spending bill, with most of the house cuts restored, was on President Truman's desk today awaiting his signature.

The agreement carried $4,000,000,000 in new funds for the European recovery program and represented a complete victory for senate president Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., in his battle to wipe out the house reductions.

After a bitter conference wrangle, house conferees agreed to let President Truman decide whether the ERP funds should be spent over 12 or 15 months. The house previously had insisted that the money be stretched over the longer period, but Vandenberg and his senate colleagues wanted a conference bill carried.

The overall money bill carried funds for the Marshall plan countries, China, Greece and Turkey. The figure was some $503,000,000 below Truman's budget request.

House economy chief John Tanager, R., N. Y., insisted after senate-house conferees had reached agreement that "it's just too much money to do the job." But he signed the conference report.

New York, June 21 (UP)—Announcement of a new California well on a leasehold of the Richfield Oil Co. attracted demand for oil shares today but the general stock list turned lower.

Truman Confers With Party Heads

Washington, June 21 (UP)—President Truman has started a series of conferences on political strategy, based largely on results of his recent western trip.

Truman held a two-hour conference yesterday afternoon with a group of political advisers, congressional leaders and members of the cabinet.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said yesterday's meeting was primarily a review of what happened during the chief executive's 9,500-mile tour which ended Friday.

Among those present were Sen. J. Howard McGrath, D., R. I., democratic national chairman and the national committee's publicity chief, John M. Redding.

Also present were two federal officials high in White House councils—Oscar Ewing, federal security administrator, and Oscar L. Chapman, undersecretary of interior.

Picket Threat To Be Ignored

Philadelphia, June 21 (UP)—The GOP convention arrangements committee said today it would ignore an American Communications association (CIO) threat to picket the national convention.

The union announced last night in New York that it would set up picket lines unless the committee withdraws broadcasting and television privileges from radio station WFIL. Forty-six of the Philadelphia station's radio and television engineers struck May 1 in a wage contract dispute.

McKay's Lead Set at 4,769

Salem, June 21 (UP)—Political observers took a close look at official primary election figures tabulated today and concluded that Gov. John H. Hall would have defeated state Sen. Douglas McKay for the gubernatorial nomination if the republican vote hadn't been split four ways.

McKay defeated Hall by only 4,769 votes. A total of 15,382 votes were polled by two candidates—Glenn Ackerman of Portland and John Peyton of Junction City.

The platforms of both Ackerman and Peyton called for more liberal liquor laws and other planks which McKay attacked and in some cases accused Hall of coddling.

The assumption that Hall would have won had only he and McKay been on the GOP ballot is based on the belief that most of those who voted for the other two candidates would have favored Hall over the senator.

The official republican vote for governor as canvassed by the state elections bureau was: McKay, 107, 993; Hall, 103,224; Ackerman, 9,251; Peyton, 6,131.
