War Would Again Cause Shortage In Lumber Field

Washington, Sept. 28 (UP)—A lumber expert said today this country would be "pretty desperately short of wood in event of war."

Col. William Buckout Greeley, chairman of the trustees of American Forest Products Industries, Inc., said the United States is gradually working toward a period of self-support in the lumber field. But he said another war would create the same "prodigious demand" for lumber as the last war.

He said such items as home-building and other peacetime needs for wood again would "have to stand aside" for war needs.

Greeley told a news conference that peacetime demands for wood for housing, newsprint and rayon now equal the wartime demand for lumber and will continue "for a long time to come."

He said the south and the west are making the most possible progress on forest conservation. He said at least a dozen large lumber companies on the west coast have started balancing their forest growth and cut to give a sustained yield of lumber.

Greeley said Alaska, with its vast newsprint resources, is "destined to become another Norway." But, he said, the cost of installing newsprint mills has increased so that the average pulp mill now requires a capital investment of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Father of Bend Men Dies at Salem

C. R. Gregg, 86, father of Earl A. and Glenn H. Gregg, of Bend, died Saturday evening at Deaconess hospital in Salem, where he had been a patient several days. Funeral services will be held in Salem Wednesday at 1:30 p. m.

The late Mr. Gregg and his wife celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary this past February, with the local brothers participating in the observance. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gregg and Mrs. Earl Gregg plan to leave early tomorrow morning for Salem to attend the services. Earl Gregg is ill at St. Charles hospital and will be unable to make the trip.

Besides his two sons in Bend and his wife, Mr. Gregg leaves another son, Lloyd Gregg, of Salem, and three daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Graber, Salem, Mrs. Clifford Wright, Marysville, Calif., and Mrs. Henry Nolan, of Huntington Park, and eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Gregg's bakery in Bend will remain closed tomorrow from 1 to 3 p. m., while the funeral is being held.

Stocks Regain Part of Losses

New York, Sept. 28 (UP)—An unexpected rise in crude oil prices posted by a leading petroleum company today turned the trend of the stock market around after a plunge yesterday.

Oil's strong at the start, ran up 1 to more than 2 points, and took the whole list up with them. Meantime, London stocks turned up after an early decline, and sentiment in both markets improved as the day wore on without a change for the worse in the Berlin situation.

Wall street interpreted the European troubles as less difficult marketwise as the western powers took a firmer stand against Russia. Also in the market's favor was what was described as an oversold condition in many stocks.

Prices came back about 40 per cent of yesterday's losses. Utilities alone failed to join the rise.

Young People Found Founder of Television

New York (UP)—As far as the middle-income classes are concerned, it is the younger Americans, those between 18 and 25, who like television programs most.

That indication of what the nationwide reaction has been to the newest entertainment medium is provided by a survey taken among a cross-section of the American Magazine's 4,280,000 reading families. The families selected have an average income of $3,850.

The national study disclosed what a vital factor age is in television and radio preferences. It was learned that the interest of adults (those over 18) in television decreases, and his or her fondness for radio increases as the individual gets older. Also, a good many Americans haven't formed any definite opinions as to whether they like television or radio best. More than four out of every ten, on an average, in the middle-income class said they liked both mediums about the same.

While only one per cent of all families surveyed now have a television set, 28 per cent would buy one if television became available in their area either this or next year.

Amateur Gardeners Using Vacant Lot

Chicago (UP)—Janitors, a steel company president, an opera singer and a psychiatrist are growing friendliness in a vacant lot overshadowed by swanky apartment hotels.

The vacant lot began as a victory garden in 1942, and tycoons who lived in the towering nearby Gold coast apartments spread 25 tons of manure and lots of other fertilizer. They got to know some folks who lived nearby and had garden plots, too.

Now there are more gardeners in the lot than during the war. They raise corn, tomatoes and snap beans. Among them are Lloyd Kelly, president of the LaSalle Steel Co.; Edith Mason Ragland, a Chicago Opera company singer; Dr. Mandel Sherman, a psychiatrist; Geraldine Udell, editor of Poetry magazine; two janitors, and several business men.

B-29 Crashes In Alaskan Area

Anchorage, Alaska, Sept. 28 (UP)—An air force B-29 Superfortress crashed and burned last night while attempting a landing on Shemya Island on the western tip of the Aleutian chain, the Alaska air command announced here today.

Air force officials did not reveal how many crew members were aboard the craft. The usual crew of a B-29, however, is between 12 and 15 men, army officials said.

CANCEL PLANS

Salem, Sept. 28 (UP)—The state board of control today called off all negotiations for construction of the proposed $2,500,000 state office building in Portland because of "excessive asking prices." The halt was proposed by Secretary of state Earl T. Newbry, who said property prices were "far too high."

PLANE CRASHES

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 28 (UP)—Seven crew members were killed last night when a Royal Australian air force Catalina flying boat crashed on Howe island last night. Two other crewmen were injured.

Young trees of California's graceful Sequoia gigantea are being grown in that state in five plots established in 1915; the tree does not reproduce itself well because of the heavy humus on the ground where they live, but it is not difficult to grow in nurseries.

Two Sets of Gas Prices Prevail

Two sets of gasoline prices existed in Bend today and motorists were having their choice of fuel which ranged from 27 to 31 cents.

Independent service stations at a meeting yesterday decided to raise the price of gas two cents, to meet mounting costs and fall in line with prices in metropolitan areas. The agreement was that the ethyl type of gasoline should go up from 29 to 31 cents and the regular from 27 to 29 cents per gallon. Some company owned stations, however, retained the former price.

Before noon today the two sets of prices were general around Bend.
