

Kennedy Back In Form; Giants Are Victorious

New York, May 21 (UP)—After three long years, Montie Kennedy of the Giants has overcome the frightening experience of bearing confidence restored, he may become the club's best lefthander since the days of King Carl Hubbell.

There's a pitcher's side, too, in all of this current furor over bearing of batters, as Kennedy can well attest.

It was on a sultry Saturday in the Polo grounds on May 25, 1946, when Kennedy, then a sparkling rookie, who had won his first two starts, was pitching a one-hitter against the Braves. In the sixth inning he accidentally beamed Johnny Hopp, now with the Dodgers, and although Hopp was not injured, Kennedy never forgot that moment. He walked the next three batters and was taken out and although he was credited with the victory he wasn't the same thereafter.

Afraid to Throw

"For months I was actually afraid to throw hard for fear one of my pitches might take off and hit a batter in the head," he said. "Then my arm began to bother me and so I just couldn't make it until this season."

The records bear him out. In the rest of the 1946 season he was knocked out of the box 16 times, losing nine games and winning but four. In 1947 he won 12 and lost 12 and last year after being sent down to Minneapolis, he returned and had a mediocre 3-9 mark with New York.

Throughout, however, he has concentrated on his control and yesterday in a 2 to 0 two-hit, no walks triumph over the Reds at Cincinnati he pitched the most nearly perfect game of the season—easily the best of his career. He faced only 29 batters, only one man getting to second. In the third Ted Kluszewski singled and was doubled at second. In the fifth with one out Johnny Wyrostek was safe on an error and Jimmy Bloodworth singled him to second. But that was all for the Reds. Kennedy retired the next 14 batters in order.

Werle Wins

Bill Werle, the Pittsburgh Pirates' red-hot rookie southpaw, chalked up his third win in a night game at Pittsburgh by beating the Boston Braves, 2 to 1. Werle gave up 10 hits but received fine support, especially in the ninth when the Braves loaded the bases with none out and failed to score.

At St. Louis, the Cardinals ended a three-game losing streak by whipping the Dodgers, 6 to 2, under the lights.

In the American league, Sid Hudson gained his second win for the Senators by trimming the Browns, 5 to 3, in a night game. Eddie Joost scored both of the Athletics' runs in a night game at Philadelphia as his team beat the Detroit Tigers, 2 to 1, in 10 innings. Joost nabbed the first on a homer in the first inning. In the 10th he tallied on Ferris Fain's single to give Pitcher Joe Coleman his fifth win against three losses.

Philadelphia at Chicago in the National and Chicago at New York and Cleveland at Boston in the American were postponed because of rain.

Big Nine Admits Michigan State

Chicago, May 21 (UP)—Admission of Michigan State college to the western conference swelled the Big Nine to its former status of the Big Ten today, with the new member eligible to compete in all sports except football in the academic year 1950-1951.

Final action on the membership application of the Spartans, who achieved football prominence last season, came yesterday at a conference of faculty representatives of the conference.

Solons, Angels Finally Tangle

San Francisco, May 21 (UP)—The Los Angeles rain, which gave the Angels and the Sacramento Solons three extra days of rest, apparently did more for the pitchers than it did for the batters.

Last night the Solons and Angels finally got back on the ball diamond and it took only three runs to win each game of their doubleheader. In the first game veteran right hander Frankie Dasso pitched a slick two-hitter to win 3-0 and each team got only six hits in the nine-inning nightcap, the Angels triumphing 3-2.

Seattle edged Hollywood 7-6 and the San Francisco Seals punished the San Diego Padre 13-13 in the only two other games in the loop. Oakland and Portland watched it rain.

Eight Men Fanned

Dasso, who led the young in strikeouts when he was league champion, fanned eight in the first game at Los Angeles. He walked only one, gave up two singles and notched his sixth win of the campaign. Not an Angel got to second base during the seven-inning contest.

In the second game Red Lynn held the Solons to six hits, the same number the Angels got from Don Johnson and Glenn Lierman.

In Seattle Guy Fletcher racked up win number nine, but it was a staggering job. "Grumpy Guy" needed the help of southpaw Herb Kappel in the ninth, marking the first time in 11 games the old-timer has failed to last the distance. Hollywood closed the game with a three-run rally in the last inning that fell a single tally short. Pinky Woods was the victim.

San Francisco's Steve Nagy got more runs than he is accustomed to in his battle with San Diego and had little trouble. The Seals held an 8-0 lead before Nagy let in the three San Diego tallies—all unearned—in the eighth. The clugging Seals gained revenge by racking up five more tallies in the bottom of the same inning. Mickey Rocco and Frank Shofner hit homers for San Francisco.

BID REJECTED

Lincoln, Neb., May 21 (UP)—Big Seven representatives had high praise for Oklahoma A. and M. today but turned down its bid for conference membership as "neither feasible nor practical."

The faculty representatives of the Big Seven voted 5 to 2 to refuse the Missouri valley conference member, which has sought Big Seven admission for several years.

Columbia River Still Falling

Portland, May 21 (UP)—The mighty lower Columbia river continued its slow drop today as the spring's first flood rolled out to sea.

The U. S. weather bureau said the river at Vancouver, Wash., which crested earlier this week at 22.5 feet—would decline to 22 feet today and fall to 21.3 feet by Monday.

Only station along the river yesterday to report a rise was Trinidad, Wash., near the Grand Coulee dam. There the waters rose .6 feet.

As the Columbia and its main tributaries inched back into their banks, these drops were recorded: Lewiston, Ida., .8 foot; Umatilla, Ore., .4; Vancouver, 1; Portland, 2.

The backed-up Willamette river stood at 22 feet yesterday, forcing clearance of low docks in the city's harbor. It is expected to fall to 21 feet by Monday.
