Summer Makes Official Bow

Because the earth whirls cock-eyed on a slanting axis, today is the longest day in the year. For that same reason, all the days of our years vary in length, and seasons vary. Summer begins today in the northern hemisphere.

If the axis were straight with the plane of the earth's orbit, at least one item in this world would be meticulously ordered. All the days would be divided into equal segments of daylight and dark, and a body might know what to expect of weather.

The noticeable effect in Bend of the sun's doing its record 1949 rising today, was that God's small poultry began making with song and aquawk at 4:23 a. m.—long before it was fitting or proper for man to be awakened by any sound.

And tonight, mothers may expect small fry to demand to go on with their play until 7:40. That's when the sun will give up and set, after more than 15 hours of appropriate efforts to act like summer has begun.

Causes Seasons
The slanting axis makes the seasons. In March and September, the axis is at right angles to the direction of the sun, and approximately on the 21st of these months, there occurs the equinox. Day and night are of equal length and (presumably) equable conditions of temperature prevail, astronomers say.

In June and December on the 21st day of these months, the cockeyed condition is most cockeyed. Today, the North Pole is tilted 23° 27' toward the sun, and the days north of the equator are longer and should be warmer.

Summer, hence, is officially "in," and in Bend, is apparently actually in, as well.

Adults admitted are Lola Hollis, Madras; Cliff V. Ralston, Camp Sherman; Mrs. Edith Roe, Shevlin; Mrs. Jessie Savage, Idanha, and Charles Scott, formerly of Bend.

Dismissed were: Leonard Davis, Detroit; Charles Bartlett, Fred Wolf, Nicholas Busgen and Brenda Rixe, all of Bend, and Mrs. Charles Lackey of Redmond.

The following were released today from the maternity ward: Mrs. Fletcher Price and son, 1371 1/2 Fresno; Mrs. Woody McGuire and daughter, Prineville, and Mrs. Elwyn Putman and son, Route 2, Bend.

Education Aid To Be Aired

A special report from Washington, D.C., on proposed federal aid to education will be presented over KBND tomorrow night at 7:15 o'clock under the sponsorship of the Bend Central Labor council.

Participating on the transcribed program will be John M. Eklund, president of the American Federation of Teachers, and news reporter, Al Hamilton.

On the program, Eklund will outline education legislation now being considered in congress, give his views on aid to education requirements, and explain the motive behind the movement to organize teachers into unions.

Auto, Truck Hit At Street Corner

The intersection of South Third street and Franklin avenue, where several accidents have occurred in recent weeks, was the scene of another crash early Monday afternoon. Vehicles involved were an automobile registered to C. C. Tackitt, Redmond, and a truck operated by Ray C. Polley, Portland. The automobile was extensively damaged and Patty Tackitt, 15, one of several children riding in the car, was injured seriously enough to require treatment at St. Charles hospital, where she still is a patient.

According to police records, the Tackitt car was going south on Third street and pulled in ahead of the truck, which was rounding the corner to go northwest from Third, entering Franklin avenue. Lula Tackitt was the driver of the damaged car, police said.

Prineville Has Fire

Prineville, June 21—A spectacular fire, caused by pre-holiday experimentation with fireworks, burned yesterday in Ochoco state park, overlooking Crooked river valley.

Ray Stonehocker, in charge of the state forest office in Prineville, reported that his crew brought the blaze under control and that there was no damage. The fire was confined to weeds and shrubbery on the steep bluff.

Officers said that nearly every year, fire breaks out in the park because of the use of Fourth of July fireworks. Yesterday was the first day that fireworks could be sold retail in Prineville, under terms of a new state law.

Japan has about 200 volcanoes but only 50 of them are considered active.

Excursion Plans Made by Class

Plans for the annual excursion to Green lakes, scheduled for some time in July after the fourth, are being perfected by the "All Boy" class of junior high school boys of First Christian church, following week-end activities which included a fishing trip to East lake, and awards made Sunday of silver "All Boy" achievement and attendance pins.

Of the Friday and Saturday fishing trip, Melvin Loy, class secretary, was champion both for size and number of fish caught. Competitors for honors were George Nelson, Dale Johnston, Thomas Pryor, Eddie Smith, Jimmy Riddensbusch, Dick Fishback and Millard Marsh.

The "Eagle" boat given to Rev. Len B. Fishback and his boys a year ago, by Eagles lodge of Bend, was supplemented by boats of Henry Nelson and Brandon Deel, lent for the holiday.

Transportation was provided by Robert M. Kitchen, Ronel Marsh and Rev. Fishback.

Three of the lads — Nelson, Marsh and Pryor—received the silver pins in Bible school hour Sunday.
