

Church Rites Performed For Brothers and Brides

Two couples were married last Saturday at First Christian church, in separate ceremonies that started at 11 o'clock, when Miss Elsie Crosswhite, Prineville, played a prelude of wedding music. The couples, now on honeymoon trips, are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Torkelson (Florence Edith Haynes) and Mr. and Mrs. Vesper Carl Torkelson (Helen Louise Moore).

The church of the church was decorated with baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums and candelabra. Before the vows were exchanged, Mrs. Eugene Bucknum sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Miss Crosswhite.

Rev. Len B. Fishback officiated at the ceremony that united Clarence Torkelson and Miss Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Haynes, formerly of the Grange Hall community and now of Prineville. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tulle taffeta, made with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. Her veil was fingertip length, and she carried red roses.

Miss Betty Dimick, Madras, was Miss Haynes' maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Nancy King and Miss Darlene Gray, both of Prineville. Miss Dimick wore a bouffant-skirted floor-length frock of open blue print made with sweetheart neckline. The bridesmaids wore identical-style, full-skirted, peplum gowns. Miss King was in pink, and Miss Gray was in blue. The three attendants carried nose-gays of cream-colored pom-poms, tied with floor-length ribbons that contrasted with their dresses.

Bonnie Dimick was flower girl, in a yellow floor-length frock. She carried a nosegay tied with blue ribbon.

Vernon Torkelson was best man, and ushers were Francis McMannan, Prineville, and Sydney Torkelson.

James Chappel, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, officiated at the rites that united Helen Louise Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Troxel, and Vesper Carl Torkelson.

The bride wore a gown of Nile green taffeta, made with a peplum and three-quarter-length sleeves. She carried a bouquet of red roses, and her mother's pearls were "something borrowed."

Miss Marilyn Berridge, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, in a gown of yellow net over taffeta. Miss Annie Torkelson, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, in pink taffeta. Both carried nosegays of white chrysanthemums. Karen Louise Moore, daughter of the bride, was flower girl, in an embroidered green organza frock with matching hat. Ligie Torkelson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were M. Clyde Troxel, brother of the bride, and M. Eugene Wheeler, nephew of the bridegroom.

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors.

The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

Brothers Take Brides in Church Ceremonies Saturday

Two couples pledged their troth October 8 at First Christian church, when Florence Edith Haynes, Prineville, became the bride of Clarence S. Torkelson, and Vesper Carl Torkelson took as his bride, Helen Louise Moore, of Bend. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Torkelson (left) will live in the Eastern Star grange community, and Mr. and Mrs. Vesper Torkelson (right) will be at home next month at the Madras air base.

—Photo Arts Studio

Stockman Still

(Continued from Page 1)

charge under those conditions. The determination of whether any water will be available for exportation, therefore, will not be based upon within-basin development of water resources as of any particular date, but will be dependent only on the maximum probable ultimate development.

"A further safeguard to potential future water users is the fact that as the demand grows, the ladder could be further extended, making water from streams further north available for replacement or for 'firming up' the supply to the intermediate watersheds.

Storage Considered

"Eventually, all the streams might be so interconnected and coordinated in operation as to insure adequate water for the exporting basin uses and utilization of flows in excess of those uses in adjoining watersheds. In the unlikely event of a severe recession of drought years, recourse would be available to the considerable amount of hold-over storage capacity which would necessarily be a part of any such plan. To protect the water users, present and potential, against the possibility that all the water available will be needed in the exporting basin under such drought conditions, some interstate agreement or condition precedent to exporting of the water might be made providing that no exportation of water would be permitted until the drought conditions are relieved and excess waters are again available.

"I hope that this discussion will clarify the question of our policy in regard to inter-basin exchanges of water. We have started with the assumption that it is probable that the Columbia river has more than enough flow to take care of all foreseeable water requirements of the Columbia river basin. The studies now underway are designed first to prove or disprove the basic assumption. You may be assured that this department will not recommend adoption of any plan which would operate to the detriment of the Columbia river basin, as any diversion plan which the department might find feasible would involve only waters surplus to the maximum probable ultimate needs of the basin."

"I hope that this discussion will clarify the question of our policy in regard to inter-basin exchanges of water. We have started with the assumption that it is probable that the Columbia river has more than enough flow to take care of all foreseeable water requirements of the Columbia river basin. The studies now underway are designed first to prove or disprove the basic assumption. You may be assured that this department will not recommend adoption of any plan which would operate to the detriment of the Columbia river basin, as any diversion plan which the department might find feasible would involve only waters surplus to the maximum probable ultimate needs of the basin."

DRUGLESS CLINIC
Gynecology
Valuable service in disorders peculiar to women is made possible through the development and use of physical and electrical modalities. Operations can sometimes be avoided, especially when drugless methods are applied early.
R. D. Ketchum, D. C.
124 Minn. Ave.
Bend, Ore.
Phone 794

Upholstering Class Popular

Forty-five persons turned out for this sign-up meeting of the course in upholstering, to be conducted here during the next 10 weeks by the Bend recreation department. The meeting was held Wednesday evening at the city hall, with Wayne Hamilton, recreation director, presiding.

It was explained that only 25 persons can be instructed properly in a class, and the first 25 registered were set up as the initial unit. A second class will be inaugurated as soon as arrangements can be made for adequate quarters, Hamilton said.

The first session will be held Monday evening at the First Christian church, 4th and Newport. Subsequent classes will be held on Wednesday evenings, excepting on the third week of each month, when Monday again will be class night.

Robert Kitchen, local professional upholsterer, will be class instructor. He outlined the work to be undertaken, at last night's meeting, and tools that will be required.

Upholstering is the second vocational instruction class for adults to be set up by Hamilton under the city recreation program. A class in boat building now is in progress. A third class, in woodworking, is contemplated for the near future.

The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

After the ceremonies, a joint reception was held in the church parlors. The former Miss Haynes' cake was cut and served by her aunt, Mrs. Winton Livingston, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Elliott. The young Mrs. Vesper Torkelson's cake was cut by her aunt, Mrs. Walter Knouff. Another aunt, Mrs. Francis Berridge, presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ida Buchtel, aunt of Mrs. Clarence Torkelson, poured. Mrs. Wes Elliott and Miss Dorothy Haynes kept the guest books, and Mrs. Wheeler, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Chappel

19 Salem High School Boys May Face Expulsion

Salem, Oct. 13 (AP)—Nineteen Salem high school boys faced suspension today for membership in a society the school board called "secret." But aroused parents said they would test the matter in court.

The school board announced its decision to dismiss the members of the "American Boys club" for the balance of the school year because the organization "falls within the type of organization banned by the state laws of Oregon" covering secret societies.

The 19 boys involved were understood to include one sophomore, four juniors and 14 seniors. At least one was said to be a first-string football player.

A group of parents signed a statement Wednesday night after the board had announced its decision, calling the board action "arbitrary and unjust."

The parents denied the club was secret. They said it never was fully organized and was disbanded entirely after school authorities had frowned on it. They that the "law is very clear in its charge to the school board to suppress any such organizations," said that over a period of years it "has kept constant pressure on such organizations and are determined that any student wishing to have the privilege of education through the Salem schools must definitely make their choice between such organizations and the school."

The parents in their statement said they oppose secret organizations and "we at no time would have permitted our sons to have affiliated with an undercover or secret group."

Catholic Altar society, circle 4, will have a Halloween masquerade party next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Lynn Houck, 429 Georgia.

American Legion auxiliary will sponsor a public card party and cake walk Saturday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m. in the library auditorium.

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

The board said it was sorry to be compelled to use such drastic measures," but added that it feels "that to be less drastic would encourage other groups to spring up and involve more and more students in such illegal organizations."

The board, expressing belief

Redmond Scouts Outline Program

Plans for a three-month program of activities were developed for the Boy Scouts of Redmond as a result of a training meeting held Wednesday evening for the leaders of troop 26 in the high school in Redmond. Highlighting the November schedule of events will be a cross country "sealed orders" compass hike, with the four patrols of the unit setting out from four different starting points using only compass bearings to bring them to a central point, where the overnight camp will be held.

Field Scout executive Ken Pearson was in charge of this troop staff training meeting, and was assisted by Scoutmaster Robert Maxwell. Officers of the troop attending were: Darrell Palmer, junior assistant scoutmaster; Larry Stowell, Brad Hallock, Larry Feden, Kenneth Deit-erman, and Terry Olson all patrol leaders or assistants. This troop plans to spend December training for trouble emphasizing first aid and rescue methods, with a winter hike scheduled for the end of the month. January's plans call for training in winter sports and winter camping skills. Troop 26 is sponsored by the Kiwanis club of Redmond.

Bulletin Classifieds Bring Results

TOWER

STARTS TONITE!
2 BIG ABBOTT AND COSTELLO HITS TOGETHER!

It's a new attitude record for laughs!

BUD ABBOTT LOU COSTELLO
Keep 'Em Flying

co-starring Martha Carl
RAYE BRUCE
WILLIAM GARDEN

AND!

THEY'D EVEN MAKE A HORSE LAUGH!

Bud ABBOTT Lou COSTELLO
RIDE 'EM Cowboy!
THE MERRY MACS

NOW SHOWING!

The LAUGHS will make your HEART ring out with JOY!!

starring Loretta YOUNG Celeste HOLM
COME TO THE STABLE

Elsa LANCASTER
Thomas GOMEZ
Cartoon & News!

CAPITOL

SERVICE

- Refrigeration
- Water Pumps
- Washing Machines
- Oil Heaters and Oil Oil Burners

Also Electric Motor Service

Mike's Electric Repair Shop
1645 Galveston
Phone 1537-W

LAST CHANCE!

$100.00 ALLOWANCE ON YOUR OLD FURNITURE

on New Bedroom Suite or Davenport and Chair

THIS OFFER ENDS SATURDAY

SQUARE DEAL FURNITURE CO.

BEND REDMOND PRINEVILLE MADRAS

One man tells another:

"Enjoy finer-tasting SCHENLEY"

... it's richer, mellowier always!

From SCHENLEY the House of AGED Whiskies*

$2.25 per 1/2 qt. $3.60 per 1 qt.

*RARE BLENDED WHISKY 86 PROOF. THE STRAIGHT WHISKIES IN THIS PRODUCT ARE 5 YEARS OR MORE OLD. 35% STRAIGHT WHISKY. 65% GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS. COPR. 1949. SCHENLEY DISTRIBUTORS, INC., N. Y. C.