Oregon State

The Beavers chewed through the tired and battered Michigan State line, working downfield to the eight yard line. With time running short, a discouraging five-yard penalty set Oregon State back to the 13. However, a pass clicked back to the five. And then Beaver Carpenter took the pass from center, skirted end, and with two tacklers hanging on his legs, dived over the goal line for the winning score.

About 60 seconds before the end of the game Bill Sheffield intercepted Michigan State's last desperate pass attempt and partisan fans began to grasp the situation. A low but deep roar began in the stadium as the Beavers clung to the ball. It grew and grew as the seconds ticked away, and with but 10 seconds to go Multnomah stadium was a single sound of relief and glory for the Beavers.

Coach Kip Taylor, who left Michigan State only a year ago for Corvallis, said every man played inspired football. His former boss, Coach Biggie Munn, had no excuses.

"Those Beaver kids were just great today," Munn said.

ON DRILL TEAM
 University of Oregon, Eugene, Nov. 14 (Special)—Dorothy Corkett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Corkett, 654 Round oak ave., Bend, is one of a drill team composed of 48 University of Oregon coeds who will be featured during halftime of the homecoming football game with Oregon State college on Nov. 19. The drill team will perform with the university band on Hayward field.

District Grid Winners Named

Portland, Nov. 14 (SP)—Eugene high school's Axemen will represent district 4 in the Oregon state prep championship quarter-finals.

The decision was made late Saturday by vote of 13 member schools in the district. Eugene received nine votes, Lebanon three and Albany one.

The vote was necessitated by action of the Oregon school activities association in declaring Corvallis games forfeited, thus muddling the district's leadership.

Eugene will meet Marshfield, district 3 winner, in Coos Bay Nov. 18.

Another week end vote gave the district 2 playoff berth to Klamath Falls and the Pelicans will take on La Grande of district 1 in the quarter-finals.

In other playoff games, Milwaukie of district 5 will play Hillsboro of district 6; and Central Catholic of district 7 will meet Grant, champion of the Portland Interscholastic league, which is district 8.

Lord's Acre Sale Results Announced

Powell Butte, Nov. 14—Officials of the Powell Butte community church report that its latest early November Lord's Acre auction and country store had net proceeds of $4,083. The pastor, Rev. D. L. Penhollow, says that more than $15,000 has now been amassed for the unique annual event devised several years ago to provide funds for expanding the church and developing a youth center.

Farmers of this west Crook county irrigated district each year set aside the production of a typical acre of their places and the aggregate from these Lord's acres is auctioned each early November.

Senator Wayne Morse, a visitor last year but unable to be present this year, will nevertheless eat Powell Butte quack at Thanksgiving. Wiring his regrets, Senator Morse sent $10 for purchase of the poultry specialty, remembering, he said, the quality of two of the Peking breed he picked up last year.

FOR HIS OWN AGENCY
 Prineville, Nov. 13—William Butte, who has associated with Mel Bozarth of the Prineville Distributing Co. here in handling Crooked River, Netted Gem potatoes, announced Sunday that he had formed his own potato shipping agency.
