

Youth Holds Up Store to Obtain Cash for Revenge

Plainville, Mass., Nov. 21 (AP)—An 18-year-old college youth charged with holding up a liquor store to finance a vengeance flight to Canada told police today he still plans "to kill the man responsible for my father's death."

The student was Patrick J. Parker of Rye, N.Y., whose father, R. J. Parker, vice-president of the Kennecott Copper Co. and president of the Quebec Iron and Titanium Co., was one of 23 persons killed September 9 when a plane crashed at St. Jachim, Que.

The craft allegedly had been time-bombed by a Quebec City, Que., jeweler who wanted to get rid of his wife.

Parker told police he had decided "four days ago" to "kill this man." Authorities quoted him that he still plans to seek revenge after his release.

The Brown university freshman faced arraignment on an armed robbery charge in Walpole district court today. He was arrested Saturday night, 20 minutes after liquor store owner Robert Wilkinson reported he had been robbed at gunpoint.

Revenge Goal

"To understand what I did you will have to understand about my family," Parker reportedly said. "We were very close. I loved my father more than anything in the world."

"I was very angry to think that a man could take the lives of 23 people, including that of the father I loved so much. I have been thinking it over ever since and I decided that I would kill this man."

Police said the youth referred to J. Albert Guay, the jeweler, who allegedly master-minded the time-bomb plot. Guay is held without bail at Quebec City, charged with the first-degree murder of

Thanksgiving Proclamation Issued by Governor McKay

Salem, Nov. 21 (AP)—Gov. Douglas McKay has issued a proclamation for Thanksgiving day, to be observed Thursday.

He said it has been a memorable year for Oregon, the "second most auspicious" in its economic history so that Thanksgiving has special significance here this year.

His proclamation:

"In the noble custom of this beautiful land of ours, Thanksgiving brings with it the pleasure of counting the blessings of a year flowing toward a close and of voicing worship for our appreciation to God for these manifold kindnesses.

"It has been a memorable year and in Oregon it has been the second most auspicious in the economic history of the commonwealth. The abundance of farm and factory has stood for a higher standard of living, not only in this country of beneficent might and plenty but to the faraway millions with whom we have shared our wealth in an unerring demonstration of the spirit of Thanksgiving.

Contentment Seen

"We have built for contentment at home and for increasing harmony abroad in the months of this year. We must stay strong for the uncertainties of the future by conserving our natural resources, by continuing to exert our personal resources of devotion, loyalty and diligence and by protecting the freedom so essential to a way of life that has become a model and inspiration to all persons of good will.

"I Douglas McKay, governor of the state of Oregon, being moved by the significance of the foregoing truths and acting by the authority in me vested, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the 24th day of November, in the year of our Lord, 1949, as Thanksgiving day for Oregon, to be observed as a public holiday.

WEATHER TOO WARM

Big Delta, Alaska, Nov. 21 (AP)—Long distance "musher" Cecil Moore complained today that the weather was slowing him up on his 5,000 mile sleigh ride to Lewiston, Maine.

The New England engineer explained that it was "too warm" for his nine malamute and husky sled dogs. He pushed through the snow drifts in shirt sleeves Saturday as the temperature climbed to 45 degrees, the warmest Nov. 19 in Alaska weather records.

Moore made camp last night near Tanana river village, 90 miles southeast of Fairbanks. He has been on his cross-continent trail for six days and hopes to make the journey to Maine in 120 days.

SOME ICE ON HIGHWAY

Salem, Nov. 21 (AP)—The state highway department today reported spots of ice on the Mt. Hood loop highway at Government Camp, as of 8:20 a.m.

There were spots of ice and ground fog on the highway at Ontario, in eastern Oregon, and clear spots of ice at Meacham, also in eastern Oregon.

Elsewhere pavement was reported bare and highways all were open.

LANDSCAPING PLANNED

Prineville, Nov. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Dolly Fessler of the West Side Promoters has received word from the state highway department that plots between a "lover-leaf" of roadways at the west intersection, designed to make traffic safe, will be landscaped this coming spring. Shrubbery will be set, it is said, and flower beds planted to make the west entrance to the city attractive.

Panama Police Oust President

Panama City, Panama, Nov. 21 (AP)—Police armed with machine guns and hand grenades guarded the presidential palace and other key points in Panama City today following a bloodless coup d'etat which deposed President Daniel F. Chanas Jr.

The coup, staged yesterday by the national police, was climaxed with the resignation of Chanas and installation of Vice-President Roberto Chiari in his place. Both men are middle-of-the-road politicians.

The resolution came at the height of government efforts to reform the police force, which allegedly operates profitable commercial enterprises.

A new demand for action to curb police powers was expected to be made in the national assembly by the opposition today, but indications were no action would be taken.

Citizens were expected to accept the change of chief executive calmly. This city was calm but tense today.

Chanas, resentful of police methods and under attack from the opposition, decided to reorganize the police, Panama's only armed force aside from the small presidential guard.

But when the president moved to pur his hand-picked men in charge of the police, the force quickly threw a police guard around the presidential palace and arrested Chanas would-be police leaders. Later Chanas announced that he had resigned "in the best interests of the country . . . to avoid bloodshed."

CITED FOR VIOLATION

Jack Leroy Ross was cited over the week end on a basic rule violation charge, city records show.

GUS J. MOISAN DIES

Gervais, Nov. 21 (AP)—Gus J. Moisan, retired mayor of Gervais, died Sunday after a lingering illness. He was 71.

Moisan had served as councilman, assistant postmaster, treasurer and mayor. He was born February 18, 1878 on a donation land claim near this French prairie community.

He was survived by a son, five brothers and two sisters.

Rosary will be recited Tuesday at 8 a.m. at Rigdon's mortuary, Salem. Final rites will be Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at the Gervais Catholic church.
