Stricken Child Receives Many Letters, Gifts

Brownsville, Tenn., Dec. 3—Betty Lou Marbury awoke today to count new evidence that whether or not she loses a hand, her plea for prayer has won the hearts of thousands.

There was concrete evidence in the form of letters, telegrams, telephone calls and presents, and Betty Lou knew that other messages were directed to heaven.

The brave ten-year-old, facing the prospect of having her right hand amputated to stop the spread of a malignant bone disease, planned a busy week end before she returns to a Memphis hospital for a further check on her ailment.

A western movie at the Saturday kids' matinee here was planned to interrupt her hours of opening mail and answering the telephone. She hoped to sandwich in some play with the presents given her at a school party yesterday afternoon. And tomorrow, she'll attend Sunday school.

Asked for Prayers

Response came immediately after she wrote the Memphis Commercial Appeal of her plight, and asked readers "to pray that I may not have to lose my hand. I believe the Lord will answer their prayers."

Assurance that prayer would help came from Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, widely-known New York churchman who wrote her that "it can help us to win victories when all else fails."

"Of course," Fosdick said, "we sometimes have to take 'No' for an answer to our prayers instead of the 'Yes' we want. But real prayer always does one of two things: it either frees us from the trouble we fear or else it gives us the strength and courage to meet the trouble when it comes." Mrs. Clay Marbury, her mother, said many of the callers insisted on speaking to Betty Lou, and that she believed their calls help her forget.

Defendant Wins Damage Action

A verdict in favor of the defendant was returned yesterday by a Deschutes county jury in the $2000 collection suit brought against Jennie Aldrich, of Sacramento, Calif., by Jerold Barrett, of Prineville.

The jury, made up of four women and six men, deliberated only 20 minutes before announcing its decision. Barrett testified that he lent the sum of money to the defendant when she lived in Bend during late 1948 and early 1949. He also stated that he gave her an additional $4000 in the form of gifts and spending money.

The defendant testified that Barrett spent the money on the upkeep of an apartment which he ever gave her any money which she promised to repay.

Atomic Secrets Given to Russia, Jordan Charges

Washington, Dec. 3—Chairman Brian McMahon of the joint congressional atomic energy commission today ordered an investigation of reports that the late Harry Hopkins helped send atomic secrets and materials to Russia.

McMahon said he has directed the committee staff to ask the military men in charge of the atomic bomb development what they know about the charges.

This obviously meant that Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, wartime chief of the Manhattan engineer district which developed the first A-bomb, would be asked about the reports.

A wartime army air force major made the charges, George Racey Jordan, wartime liaison officer who cleared lend-lease shipments to Russia at Great Falls, Mont., said that Hopkins, late confidant of President Roosevelt, had ordered him during the war by telephone to get "two shipments of uranium" through to Russia as "speedily as possible."

He said that the FBI has been investigating for several months the charges that uranium and A-bomb secrets were "delivered to Russia through lend-lease shipments."

These charges by Jordan first were made last night during a radio broadcast with commentator Fulton Lewis.

Jordan said he told his story to Lewis after "the FBI had told us the story can now be told."

Today, in a telephone interview, he elaborated on the story. He said he checked out two cargoes of uranium to Russia and "several suitcases filled with top A-bomb secrets from the Oak Ridge project."

He said he discovered the nature of the shipments when he opened one of several "black suitcases" which were being flown out of the United States by Russian couriers.

Similar charges were made last year by former Rep. John McDowell, R. Pa., a member of the house un-American activities committee.

Jordan said that during the war he served as lend-lease "expediter" for planes and airborne supplies at the Great Falls, Mont., air base. From this base, he said, U. S. planes were flown to Fairbanks, Alaska, and then on to the Soviet Union.

Prineville Rail Line Very Active

The municipally owned railroad already this year has shipped more cars in 11 months than for the full 12 months of 1948. It is reported by Superintendent C. C. McGinn. The total cars handled up to yesterday for this year, McGinn stated, reached 7,309 of which 5,918 were pine lumber.

Minister Faces Loss of Pulpit For Love Notes

Guelph, Ont., Dec. 3—A Baptist minister faced eviction from his church today for carrying his pulpit theme of "love thy neighbor" into the home of an attractive woman parishioner in letters signed "Honey."

The Rev. Thomas Guthrie was ordered by the deacons to remove himself and his belongings from York road Baptist church. He also faced the possibility of being permanently barred from preaching.

Raven-haired Mrs. Robert Stitt roused the church deacons' wrath when she told them last fall she didn't appreciate Guthrie's personalized epistles featuring "love and kisses from Thomas 'Honey' Guthrie."

She said she had no objection to hearing Guthrie expound theories of love for his fellowmen—and even women—from the pulpit. But she said she was happily married and didn't need any extra-curricular lessons.

Guthrie admitted writing her. His admission to incoming church elders who called a special meeting to discuss his case, prompted more talk in this normally quiet town than had been heard in decades.

The letter-writing incident quelled for a few weeks. The wayward minister, who assured his flock he was "truly penitent," continued preaching while argument raged over whether he should be asked to leave or told flatly by his parishioners that they wanted a replacement.

Finally the York road church deacons applied for a court injunction preventing Guthrie from preaching here.

Justice Kellier MacKay ruled on that application yesterday. Applying a Solomon-like touch, he ordered that if the majority of his congregation wanted Guthrie to continue preaching he could do so.

The minister's divided flock votes on the question Dec. 22.

Vern Hartford, grange lecturer, arranged the program. He has announced that part of the program for the next regular meeting will be provided by the army recruiting service.
