

Pacific Northwest Boxers Prepare for Golden Gloves Tournament at Seattle

By Lloyd Bultman
(United Press Staff Writer)

Seattle, Feb. 21 (UP)—Boxers from three states and one Canadian province converged on Seattle today for the 15th annual golden gloves tournament.

And ring-side observers were practically unanimous that the Washington entrants, for the first time in recent years, would be strong contenders for the eight crowns on the block.

Oregon's 16 entrants were not to be thought of lightly, however. Nor were the eight Canadians from Vancouver, B. C., to be eliminated before their bouts.

Longest trip for action was being made by Olis Maley Jr., 112-pounder from Moscow, Ida.

The Washington Athletic club of Seattle has 14 youngsters entered in an attempt to bring the majority of trophies back to Seattle.

104 Entrants

Among the list of 104 entrants were former northwest golden gloves champions, regional tournament boys and service titleholders.

Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul, Minn., who once lasted 15 rounds with Jack Dempsey, will referee the bouts which will run in three sections: Tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow evening.

Keith King, Seattle, who won the heavyweight title at Tacoma, Wash., and Portland, Ore., was out to make it a triple crown.

Another Seattle mitter, bantamweight Jackie Moore, also was seeking a third crown.

In the featherweight class, Dick Rall, Seattle; Mas Umecoto, Yakima; Tom Palmer, Vancouver, B. C.; and Ernie Davis, Seattle, are expected to top the division.

Flight Minsker, Portland, Ore., flew high in a third round, but he picked up the 112-pound belts at Portland and Tacoma recently.

Eight heavyweights were entered in the two-day bouts. They were Pete Rademacher, 1949 golden gloves heavyweight champ, Yakima, Wash.; Bill Poston and Chuck Ross, Portland; Zora Foley and Sylvester Stewart, Fort Lawton; Dale Tullar, Issaquah; and John Brothers, Paine Field, Everett, Wash.

Other classes in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer sponsored tournament boasted bulging lists as follows: 10 light-heavyweights; 23 middleweights; 15 welterweights; 12 lightweights; 12 featherweights; 16 bantamweights and eight flyweights.

Top Basketball Teams Victors

New York, Feb. 21 (UP)—The big boys received big scores last night, but they emerged today still atop the basketball heap.

It wasn't easy. Duquesne needed the heroics of an obscure sophomore to lick Indiana State, 55-52, in the last 30 seconds of play. Bradley required a choking second half defense to come from behind and lick St. Louis university, 52 to 45. And city college, newly York fed the ball desperately to hot Al Roth for eight late points and a 66 to 62 conquest of unheralded Fordham.

At half-time there were upsets in the making across the nation. Duquesne was tied 30-30, Bradley trailed, 31-27. City led by one scant point, 36-35.

Soph Carl Pachacha was the lad who saved Duquesne from shame and stretched the Duke record for this season to 21 victories and one defeat. His team was behind, 53-52, and lost three seconds to play when he sent them in front with his looping goal from the field.

Bradley was taking a look for the fast St. Louis start. But in the second half the Braves, who now have won 23 and lost three, held St. Louis to three field goals.

Tavern Quintet In Third Place Tie, After Win

By Dick Daoust

West Side moved into a third place tie with Heath's Ice Cream in independent league standings, following a dangerously close 33-32 win over the Jaycees in the first game of league action played last night on the Lapine maple court. In the second contest the Lapine Taverners were victims of a 49-47 last half onslaught by the American Legion quintet paced by Delano "Slick" Fox, who set a new league individual scoring record by amassing a total of 47 points.

The West Side-Jaycee fray began on a slow and equal footing with the first quarter score deadlocked at 4-4. A small lead was established by the Junior chamber outfit at halftime, the score reading 13-9.

Tavernmen Gain

Late in the third period, West Side pulled up and in the last seconds of this stanza went out in front 18-17. The Westsiders, paced by Lewis McCarthy, gained a larger margin in the fourth, but the Jaycees came back doggedly in the final seconds of play to climb within one point at the final horn.

Leading team scoring were Lewis McCarthy with 15 points for West Side, and Don Martin of the Jaycees, who scored 8 counters.

Lapine Falls Apart

Fox & Co. settled down and overcame this deficit to go out in front again by a 46-41 third quarter count. The Taverners fell completely apart in the last stanza, and were outscored by 17 points making the final score 69, Lapine 47.

"Slick" Fox racked up a total of 47 points, setting a new league record, and taking high point honors. He was followed by Lapine center, Doug Robinson, who is credited with 14 points.

Independent League Standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Community College	4	0	1.000
American Legion	4	0	1.000
Junior Varsity	4	1	.800
Heath's Ice Cream	3	3	.500
West Side Tavern	3	3	.500
Lapine Town	2	4	.333
Jaycees	1	4	.200
Evans' Fly	0	6	.000

League action Wednesday night will pit the Junior Varsity vs. West Side in the first game, Jaycees vs. American Legion in the second, and Community College vs. Evans' Fly in the nightcap.

Sport Parade

By Oscar Fraley
(United Press Staff Writer)

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 21 (UP)—Stock car racing, in which a young man could—and has—unobtrusively taken the family car to win fame and fortune, is booming today throughout the nation and the man responsible is Big Bill France. The poor man's Fox Rickard.

A raw-boned, congenial, soft-speaking Washingtonian who piled his six feet, five inches aboard racing motorcycles and later folded it into racing cars, France is the power behind the national association for stock car automobile racing which governs the sport in the United States.

"Hungry" to improve his position as an automobile garage owner, Big Bill turned to stock car racing after the war and now operates as a promoter in five states and just about governs the sport in the rest of the nation.

No Longer Hungry

He isn't hungry any more, either, with a beautiful home, his own airplane and five or six automobiles, all of which he drives as if he still was wheeling them through the pack.

For a while he even drove in the races he promoted. There was one catch. France won so many of his own events that other drivers complained.

"This is easier, anyhow, although sometimes I wonder, at that," he laughs with that school-boy grin.

Many Details

Actually it must be tougher than driving. For instance, racing at Daytona Beach, Bill was out on the track at an early hour. In his loud speaker station wagon, handling a thousand details. He directed parking operations on the speed strand, advised concessionaires kept order in the pits, supervised the loud speaker arrangements, scraped the track, checked constantly on the gate and the program sales, watched just about everything—and wound up running the tower.

At the moment, Bill operates efficiently in Pennsylvania, Georgia, North Carolina, Virginia and Florida.

One of his Florida dodges is to put up signs through the back lot approaches, used by non-payers, reading: "Beware of snakes."

"There really are snakes," he smiled, "but it also helps to keep them from sneaking in."

Daugherty quits coaching post

Klamath Falls, Feb. 21 (UP)—The football team at the Oregon technical institute here was without the services of coach Dale Daugherty today.

Daugherty, who took over as head coach when football was introduced at OTI two years ago, announced his resignation to director Winston Purvine without making public his reason.

At the same time, Purvine said the resignation had been accepted and that applications would be taken at his office for the vacant position. Meanwhile, Daugherty will remain at the institute to finish out the school year by coaching OTI's first baseball team.

Daugherty was Lincoln high school coach in Portland the year before he accepted the OTI position. Before that he coached five years at St. Cloud, Minn., and was graduated from Bradley university.

Cummings Will Wrestle Ed Williams

Bob Cummings, Seaside wrestler. Thursday will meet Eddie Williams in the main event of the wrestling card to be presented at the national guard armory in Bend.

This past week Williams defeated rough Mike Nazarian to gain the meeting with Cummings.

Cummings, who tips the scales at 190 pounds, is noted for his punishing knee-action leg binder hold.

The bout is scheduled for one hour, and will be a best-two-of-three falls battle.

Action in the semi-final bout will be provided by Nazarian, and an equally rough opponent, Maurice LaChappelle.

In previous meetings here LaChappelle has posted two victories.

Glenn Detton and Charlie Carr will be featured in a 30-minute opener bout.

Obsidians Plan Winter Outing In Mid-Oregon

Obsidians of Eugene plan a winter outing in the Suttle lake area in the latter part of March, with a five-day trip into the mid-Oregon Cascades arranged here for Eugene, The outing will start on March 22. Most of the Obsidians will center in the Santiam pass region over the holiday.

Headquarters of the group will be the Suttle lake lodge. Days will be spent skiing in the Hoodoo bowl, where towns will be operating. Several cross-country trips also are planned.

"The Suttle lake area presents wonderful possibilities for winter sports," Obsidian leaders reported. They added: "Evenings will be full of fun, with folk dancing, singing and picture shows billed as part of the entertainment."

Climb June 25

The Obsidians' climbing schedule will start on June 25, with a tenderfoot climb of the Middle Sister arranged. Mt. Adams, in Washington, will be scaled over the July 4 holidays, and on July 8-9, the Eugene alpinists will scale Three Fingers Jack. A climb of Thielsen, overlooking Diamond lake, has been scheduled for July 3 and 9, and on July 15-16 Mt. Hood will be scaled over two different routes.

An ascent of the South Sister has been arranged for the July 22-23 week end, with a second party to scale Diamond peak that same week end. Mt. McLoughlin is on the alpinists' books for July 29 and 30.

Final climbs of the season will be Mt. Washington, Aug. 26-27; North Sister, Aug. 26-27 and Mt. Jefferson, Sept. 2, 3 and 4.

The Obsidians' annual tour to Crater lake will be on Sunday, March 19, this year.

O.S.C. Hoop Team To Play Oregon

Corvallis, Feb. 21 (UP)—Oregon State college's basketball squad, which cannot take another northern division loss if the title is to be won, was to go through the week's second heavy workout today on new offensive and defensive plays for the coming week-end series against the University of Oregon.

The following week, OSC meets Washington. Both teams each have broken even with the Beavers in the two games they have played.

Washington State can win the division pennant if it wins the rest of its games.

Friday night OSC meets the Webfoots here and Saturday night the game moves down to Eugene.

Nevada Football Prospects Still Dubious, Disclosed

By Bob Bennyhoff
(United Press Staff Writer)

Reno, Feb. 21 (UP)—Do the people of Nevada really want a big-time football team at their only state university?

Reno businessmen who have been supporting the University of Nevada team financially want an answer before they do any more about "saving" the sport at the school.

They have chipped in nearly $100,000 during the past four years to build Nevada into a football power. In addition, they are in debt $45,000 to the school for the feeding and housing of football players, and at least $10,000 of this must be raised by April 15.

The university's regents decided to "foreclose" on the bill last week, setting off a chain of remarkably frank revelations by head coach and athletic director Joe Sheeketski, who admitted Nevada was being outbid for good players by richer colleges.

George Southworth Jr., Reno tobacco merchant who heads the downtown boosters, as the businessmen are called, said his group probably can dig up the needed $10,000 by deadline, but first wants to know whether anybody else cares.

"It's time the people of Nevada let the regents know whether they want big-time football continued or dropped," he said. "If they don't want it, let's find out and wind this thing up."

Southworth feels that if sufficient public response in favor of football were forthcoming, Nevada might be able to squeeze by its ambitious 1950 schedule, and then the regents could ask the legislature for financial help when the lawmakers next meet in 1951. At present, the regents allocate only $2,400 annually toward a major athletic program, and there are no reserve funds to meet the present crisis.

Nevada's famed gambling fraternity, facing the prospect that the question of legalized gambling may be put on the ballot, have been wary about offering help since accusations of a "gambling coup" following Nevada's defeat by Santa Clara.
