'OUR EYES DON'T PLAY TRICKS'—Air Force Sergeants Bill Elder (left) and Bob O'Hara swear on the Bible—or even a stack of Bibles—that they saw a fantastic sky torn caving over a mountain resort near Long Beach, Calif., for nearly two hours. Their drawing of the "pinkish, pancake-like affair with a fin on one side" is shown on the left. "Our eyes don't play tricks on us," the airmen claim. Elder was a Navy lookout during the war and O'Hara was an Air Force air-sea rescue spotter.

Americans Given Exit Permission

Hong Kong, April 3 (AP)—American and other foreign nationals stranded in communist-held Shanghai have been given permission to leave China via Tientsin, it was disclosed today.

An announcement of the Shanghai public security bureau, disclosed in a letter reaching here, said foreigners who have been granted exit visas and can book passage from Tientsin could travel overland to the port.

Previously no foreigners were permitted overland travel.

The letter did not estimate how many foreigners would take advantage of the new regulations. But it offered new hope to the thousands who were stranded in Shanghai when communist authorities refused permission for an American steamship company to move them out. These thousands, including about 300 Americans, have exit permits.

Tension Builds Up in Germany

Washington, April 3 (AP)—John J. McCloy, U. S. high commissioner for Germany, is convinced that the next few weeks will be critical ones for Germany and for Europe.

In testimony before a house appropriations sub-committee, which was made public last night, McCloy said the Russians have been steadily increasing their pressure on Germany so that a "real crisis" is developing.

"We in Germany feel that we are facing a critical point in history," he said, "and I think no person sensitive to the forces which play over Europe today can feel differently."

The Russians are not increasing their pressure campaign because of any "sense of inferiority or fear of attack," he said. The fact is, he said, that they "feel their strength" and have "immediate hope of success."

"Their points of attack are Germany and the far east, but Germany is still their main goal," he said. "With it they feel they would most rapidly and effectively shake the hold of democracy in the west."

McCloy told the sub-committee the plan of 500,000 communist-infiltrated youths to march on Berlin May 28 could cause serious trouble. He said he expects the youths "to come in a solid effort to disrupt the western sector."

McCloy said reports reaching American officials indicate that the Russian-sponsored east zone military police now number about 45,000 with the machinery for expansion to "several hundred thousand."

Census Takers Making Progress

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Census bureau officials appeared satisfied today that their $80,000,000 quiz program was going off as planned.

First progress reports on the nation's biggest and most complete census were expected from field offices tomorrow. In the absence of any bad news during the week end, they said Americans appeared to be cooperating with the 145,000 enumerators.

An estimated 8,000,000 persons, including President Truman, were counted Saturday on the opening day of the 17th census. Bureau officials estimated that 2,800,000 homes were visited on that day alone.

A census-taker dropped in on

Mr. Truman at his Key West, Fla., vacation headquarters. The president's answers, like those of every other American, were strictly confidential.

There was little done yesterday since enumerators were instructed to refrain from conducting interviews on Sunday except in emergencies.

Painted Hills Park Dedication Set for Aug. 27

Prineville, March 31—Dedication of the new Painted Hills state park, on Bridge creek downstream from Mitchell, has been set for August 27, with the Prineville and John Day chambers of commerce taking the leadership in preparation of plans for an all-state program.

Governor Douglas McKay has accepted an invitation to deliver the principal address, and motor caravans are expected from points as far apart as Portland and Boise. The new park is expected to be a major attraction for motor tourists from the east, en route to Portland and western Oregon, when U. S. highway 28 is completed.

Members of the state highway commission, R. H. Baldock, state highway engineer, and members of his staff are expected to attend the dedication, a feature of which will be a recognition of Sam H. Boardman, veteran director of the state highway department's park division.

State Buys Land
Through the efforts of Boardman, the state has purchased 12.3 acres of land immediately around the vari-colored mounds, eroded remnants of the John Day formation. Also, the state has acquired from Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Howard and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Avery easement rights on 2800 acres which vest in the general public the right of exploring fossil beds on the land.

Facing the colored mounds are cliffs composed of the middle John Day formation, capped by Columbia lavas. Nearby, on Bear creek, is a fossil leaf locality holding evidence that a semi-tropical forest flourished in the area, in that division of ancient time known as the Clarno eocene. First leaf collections were made in pioneer days by Prof. Thomas Condon, father of Oregon geology. Extensive leaf collections were made in more recent years in the area by Dr. Ralph W. Chaney, internationally known paleobotanist.

Under the leaf beds, and grandly exposed near Mitchell, is the thick bed of a sea that lashed ancient Oregon headlands, in the age of reptiles.
