

Connie Mack Receives Honors

Philadelphia, April 21 (UP)—Connie Mack, acclaimed at 87 as the "greatest figure in American sports," received the accolades of the nation and the world today in the celebration of his golden anniversary as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The grand old man of baseball, who "changed my mind about retiring" during the past few weeks will receive a scroll bearing the signatures of more than 1,000,000 persons in ceremonies before the Athletics meet the Boston Red Sox in the first home game of Mack's 50th managerial season.

Signatures on the scroll, sponsored by the Sunday Bulletin, included those of President Truman, Vice president Alben Barkley, all members of the president's cabinet, governors of all the states, every major figure in baseball and fans from 15 countries.

Baseball commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler was the man who acclaimed the elderly pilot as the "greatest figure American sports has today."

Mayor Bernard Samuel proclaimed the day "Connie Mack" day in the Quaker city and honored "Mr. Baseball" in the ceremonies at city hall. A 25-car caravan then escorted Mack to Shibe park for the ball game.

Stockmen Set Convention Date

Oregon cattlemen will hold their 37th annual convention in Klamath Falls on May 8, 9 and 10, according to information from Dorman Turner, Burns, secretary of the association. William Kittredge is general convention chairman, and he has announced that plans are being completed for the accommodation and entertainment of some 750 cattlemen.

Registrations will get under way on Monday, May 8, and on Tuesday a buckaroo breakfast will be held, followed by a general assembly. Speakers will include Governor Douglas McKay, who will have as his topic, "It's Everybody's Job."

Other speakers and their topics follow: Ben Day, Gold Hill, "Beef in Western Oregon"; Loren Bamert, president of the American National Livestock association; Sprague Carter, Pendleton, representative in the state legislature; Lowell Steen, president of the Oregon Farm bureau, and Mrs. Norton L. Peck, Portland. Mrs. Peck will have as her topic, "Consumers' Viewpoint."

It is expected that a large number of central Oregon stockmen will attend the Klamath convention.

STUCK WITH IT

Fort Worth, Tex. (UP)—City officials have for sale an unused airport site of 2,200 acres that they bought in 1946. The idea was abandoned after the decision to build the greater Fort Worth international airport, now under construction. The unused site cost $630,000.

4 'Dream Teams' To Match Shots

Virginia Beach, Va., April 21 (UP)—Four dream-teams of professional golfers were ready to match barbs and putts today in the unique specialists' round of the Cavalier tournament.

Inaugurated in 1948, the specialists' round is the highlight of the four-day tournament, which opened yesterday with the pro-amateur round and concludes during the week end with a 54-hole medal championship.

Sixteen big-name pros will compete in today's session, four on each team will do the driving, another will be called on for long iron shots, still another will handle approach shots and team captains will do the putting.

Jim Ferrier, Jerry Barber, Chandler Harper and Jack Burke Jr., were designated team captains.

FIRST BALKLESS DAY

New York, April 21 (UP)—Big league baseball experienced the first balkless day of the 1950 season yesterday.

The balk tally stands at eight in eight games for the National league and none in nine games for the American league. The National league figure is almost one-third the total (25) called last year. A total of 30 balks were called in the American league in 1949.

NOVICES IN SPOTLIGHT

Columbus, O., April 21 (UP)—Nervy novices commanded the spotlight today in the American Bowling congress tournament.

Devon Schieber and Otto Truex of Nappanee, Ind., both first-time starters in the annual bowling marathon, took over second place in the doubles last night with a total pinfall of 1,267. Schieber turned in games of 220-200-235 for 635, while Truex totaled 612 on games of 180-225-207.

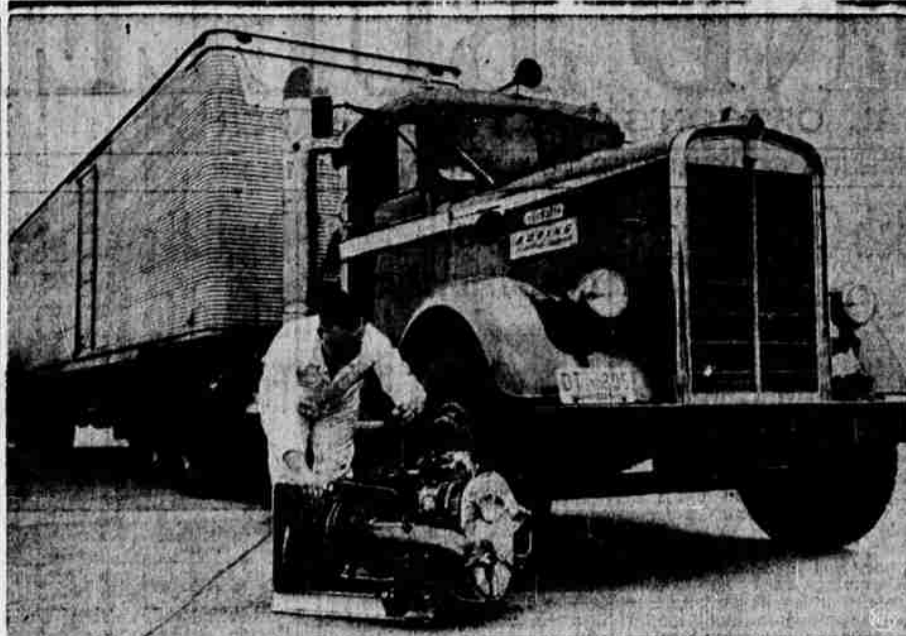

In the team event, Burger Beer of Cincinnati took over second place with a 2,877 total.

PINT-SIZE TURBINE FOR KING-SIZE TRUCK—A mechanic at the Boeing Airplane Co., Seattle, Wash., shows the 200-pound, 175-horsepower gasoline turbine engine which is being used successfully to power the ten-ton truck behind him. The new engine, not yet ready for installation in your auto, occupies only 13 per cent of the space required for a conventional 200-horsepower gasoline engine. It runs equally well on gasoline, kerosene, light or heavy fuel oil, and has been test-run on bottled gas. Boeing engineers say the gas-turbine engine soon will compete with piston engines both in autos and trucks.

TIERNEY FARMED OUT

Portland, April 21 (UP)—General manager Bill Mulligan of the Portland baseball club today said pitcher John Tierney had been sent to the Beavers' Salem farm club of the Western International league. Tierney was drafted by Portland from the Salt Lake City Bees. At the same time, Mulligan said Vice-president Hank Greenberg of Cleveland's Indians had promised to send former Beaver Leo Thomas back to Portland if Cleveland decided to return him to the minor leagues.

A RINGER FOR VALUE!

High score in gas economy goes to this big, 3600-pound Mercury that won the Grand Canyon Economy Sweepstakes at 26.5 miles per gallon.

Add points in flashing performance with Mercury's V type "Hi-power Compression" engine that is setting 'speed track' records all over the country. It's a combination of performance and economy so remarkable that automotive engineers have named it the "hot package" car of 1950. All this, plus Mercury's famous "Lounge-Rest" ride, "Customized" two-tone interiors and "Merco-Therm" heating and ventilating, for as little as $49 a month—with a surprisingly generous trade-in on your old car. Ergo, why buy a small light car when you can drive the outstanding value of the year for so very little more?
