Specialists Give Gardening Hints

Champaign, Ill. (AP)—The way you water your vegetable garden can have a lot to do with whether it's a success, according to University of Illinois crop specialists. They give these hints on how to go about watering the garden:

Hold off watering a newly planted seed bed until it absolutely needs it, then give it frequent light waterings rather than heavy soakings.

After the plants are growing well, water only when the plants wilt during the day and don't revive completely at night. Soak the ground with at least one-half inch of water.

Water the garden in the evening. Moisture evaporates least at that time of day.

After watering, cultivate the soil as soon as possible, to save moisture and prevent weed growth.

3 SLAIN BY BANDIT
Frogmord, Ont., June 21 (AP)—A bandit today shot and killed two men who trailed him as he fled from a daring holdup of a bank at Langton, Ont., a few miles from here.

Social Security

es 65. He also receives added sums for dependent children under 18.

The house bill would raise benefits on a less generous scale but would allow a one and one-half per cent "bonus" for every year of coverage. The senate refused to accept that.

The senate also rejected a house provision for federal aid to the totally and permanently disabled.

The senate bill would liberalize eligibility requirements by granting full benefits to workers with as little as a year and a half of coverage. It would not materially change existing federal contributions to states for public assistance but would increase amounts for care of dependent and crippled children.

Both bills would raise the taxable "wage base" for social security purposes from the present $3,000 to $3,600 a year. This would increase taxes collected on salaries of those earning more than $3,600 a year by $18. The tax is split between the employee and the employer.

The house bill also would increase the payroll tax from the present one and one-half per cent to two per cent starting next January. The senate voted to freeze the present tax until 1956. After that, the tax would increase gradually until 1970 when it reached a maximum of three and one-quarter per cent.

MURDER SUSPECT HELD

Salem, June 21 (AP)—Salem city police reported today they had captured 19-year-old Charles Johnson, believed to be the man wanted in Philadelphia, Pa., on murder-robbery charges.

Johnson offered no resistance when arrested in east Salem, but he denied he had anything to do with the murder of 51-year-old Thomas Rispoli in the eastern city.

Police here had been alerted to be on the lookout for Johnson, who was described as 5 feet, 7 inches tall, 120 pounds weight, and tattooed on one arm.

BOY HURT IN FALL

Dwayne Deitrick, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Deitrick, 1224 Union, was released today from St. Charles hospital. He was taken there last night after falling from a top bleacher at Harmon playground, where he was watching a ball game. He lost his balance and toppled over backward, landing on a broken section of 2 x 4 used as a brace, his mother said. His injuries, described by the attending physician as "not too serious," included lacerations of the chest wall, and torn muscles.

Doctors' Pay Set for Survey

Chicago (AP)—The American Medical Association thinks the public may have an inflated notion of how much the average doctor makes and it plans a survey to get the facts. It will question 125,000 doctors to determine the truth.

An editorial in the association journal said, "there is evidence that the national averages in some surveys have been too high."

"Physicians who do not have bookkeepers to fill out questionnaires do not reply in sufficient numbers . . . and those with small practices have not been represented properly."

The magazine Medical Economics in a recent survey reported that private physicians averaged a gross income of $17,476 in 1947 and a net of $9,884. Highest gross was $780,000 by a specialist in proctology. One-fourth of those surveyed netted less than $6,000.

Elevators of one type or another to save men walking stairs or climbing ladders have been used 2,000 years.

Boy Catches Big Trout With Hands

Norman Carter, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carter, 1502 Davenport, really had a fish story to tell today.

The young fisherman landed a 10 1/2-inch rainbow trout from the river under the Portland avenue bridge this morning. This feat, in itself, is not too unusual, until you consider the fact that Norman had no fishing pole along on the excursion.

He and a friend, Curtis Wyatt, were catching crawfish, when Norman noticed the trout near the bank.

With one quick swoop he grasped the slippery fish in his hand and landed it.

Fishing is good in the Deschutes when the fish cooperate to that extent!

Unnecessary Trips Reported

A number of Crook county and Jefferson county youths are making unnecessary trips to Bend in order to register for selective service, not knowing that facilities are now available in their own localities. Mrs. Chris Kostol, clerk in the tri-county selective service office in Bend, said today.

Registrations may be completed in Jefferson county at the office of the county sheriff, in Madras, and in Crook county at the office of the county clerk, in the courthouse in Prineville.

In Deschutes county, three registration places are offered. The selective service office, in room 202, post office building, is open on Mondays only, and will take registrations. Week days Monday through Friday, and until noon Saturday, young men may register at room 201, post office building. From Monday through Friday, and until 1 p.m. Saturday, registrations will be taken at the office of the county clerk, in the courthouse.

Youths reaching the age of 18 are required to register. Members of the tri-county selective service board are: J. D. Donovan, Bend, chairman; Carey W. Foster, Prineville, Crook county representative, and John F. Brooks Sr., Madras, Jefferson county representative.

Pittsburgh Strike

pared to close 87 stores and lay off 900 workers because truck drivers refused to make deliveries through picket lines of AFL bakers. More than 1,200 bakers have been on strike for 15 days against 17 wholesale bakeries.

Striking AFL milkmen and the Greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers association scheduled a new negotiation meeting today after yesterday's "bitter end" conference failed to produce a settlement.

Mayor Lawrence said he would give the disputants one more day to let "mounting public pressure sink in." Then, he said, he expects a settlement.

In other labor-management developments: Eighty employees of the National Iron Co. at Duluth, Minn., walked out to enforce demands for a 15-cent wage boost.

An American Newspaper Guild strike against the New York World-Telegram and Sun went into its ninth day.

The General Motors Co. of Canada signed a new five-year agreement with the CIO United Automobile Workers.

An upholsterers union signed a contract with the Bloomington, Ind., furniture manufacturer with a clause reopening wage discussions "if a national emergency comparable to war should occur."

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

James H. Oroke, 49, who was formerly stationed in Bend with the U. S. bureau of reclamation, died June 16 at Ft. Sumner, N. M., after suffering a sudden heart attack. The funeral will be held June 23 from the Ball-Dodd mortuary in Spokane, it was learned here today.

Mr. Oroke, an engineer, came to Bend in December, 1945, from Yakima, Wash. He was transferred to the Ft. Sumner project last December. He had been employed by the bureau of reclamation for a number of years.

Surviving are his wife, Rosella, and one son, James.
