

Social Affairs Highlight News of Tumalo Community

Tumalo, June 21 (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Putnam were hosts Saturday evening at a barn dance in the loft of their large barn, which is now empty of hay. Friends from Bend, Redmond, Madras and Tumalo, as well as from several nearby communities, attended the affair. One hundred fifty persons were present. Callers for square dancing were Wes Welcome, of Bend, and George Hubble, Doughnuts, punch and coffee were served to the guests at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Crouch of Artesia, Calif., visited here recently at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Maylon Couch. The Couches, early-day residents of Tumalo, when it was known as Laidlaw, came here about 1905 at which time Mrs. Couch, then Nellie James, taught school here for three years. Couch had the first contract at Laidlaw for carrying mail to and from Bend. While here, the Couches renewed acquaintance with old time friends and for four days they stayed at the T. G. Becker home so that the Beckers could get away for a short trip to the valley. The Couches are on a vacation trip which is taking them to Washington and Idaho.

Tom Tweedle, student summer preacher at Tumalo, went to Klamath Falls Sunday following church services at Tumalo, to meet his wife, who is joining him here following the completion of her teaching contract for the past year in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lynes have sold their property in Tumalo to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark and are leaving soon to make their home elsewhere in the state. Lynes is at present in Salem, for a three-month period, after which he will be assigned as a dairy inspector to some district in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hagerty leased the Lewis place on the river by the Twin Bridges this spring, and recently they moved there from their home near Peterson's rock gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Becker have been raising Marshall strawberry plants for the past three years for the use of growers in the Willamette valley, and recently they drove over to inspect some of these strawberry fields, which used their plants. They reported that the plants were thriving and to prove the excellence of the berries, they brought home several flats. Before returning home, the Beckers visited in Salem, Dallas and Leaburg.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Stanton drove to Maupin and back last Wednesday to spend the day at the Clarence Hunt home, where a reunion of several members of the family was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Windom sold their place on the McKenzie highway two miles west of Redmond recently and are now moving to their ranch two miles north of Tumalo. The Windoms plan to build a house on the place soon, and in the meantime they will live in a small cabin on the place.

Tumalo grangers enjoyed a social meeting at their hall Friday evening. Pinochle, music and visiting provided the evening's program. Cake, punch and coffee were served by the women.

Mrs. Edith Bohnert and daughter, of Central Point, were breakfast guests Sunday morning at the Lee Allen home. The Bohnerts, who were returning home from attending the state grange session at Ontario, had stopped over night in Bend.

Tumalo residents who attended the dairy inspection meeting in Corvallis last Wednesday included Mr. and Mrs. Del Davis, Cal Fouts, Lee Allen, Fayer Scoggin and Folmer Bodker.

The private bridge across the Deschutes river at the foot of Tumalo grade, which belonged to Eldon McMullen, was washed away early last week by high water. The McMullens, who have lived on the west side of the river for several years, said the water was the highest they have seen since they have lived there.

Eldon McMullen has been awarded the mail contract between Chemult and Bend, and he plans to move his family to Chemult in the near future.

J. A. Chamberlin, Eugene, spent the past week end here at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lynes.

Vacation Bible school began Monday morning at the Tumalo community church, for a two-week session. The school is open to all children from the ages of 5 to 14 years, inclusive. Classes are from 9 a.m. until 12 noon each day except Saturday and Sunday. A picnic is scheduled for the Saturday following the close of the school.

Lt. Gen. Claude Larkin, now retired, and his brother, Ben Larkin, both of Portland, visited last week at the home of their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Del Davis, while in central Oregon on a fishing trip.

Phyllis Gillespie and Betty Rippen are two Tumalo girls who are attending 4-H summer school at Corvallis.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tweedle are now living in the teacherage at Tumalo for the summer while Tweedle is the summer preacher for the local Community church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Applegate and three children returned recently from a visit to Drain.

Refugee Meets Former Guard

New York, June 21 (AP)—German refugee Benjamin Krieger, 42, swore vengeance today in his Brooklyn fish shop against the murderer of his brother.

Krieger, who came to the United States nine months ago after years in a Nazi concentration camp, saw a stranger pause outside his store yesterday.

The face of the man, Meyer Mittelman, 33, appeared familiar. "Were you in Auschwitz, Dachau, Muldorf?" the burly fishmonger demanded, listing the three camps where he was imprisoned during the war.

"Yes," answered Mittelman, who runs a kosher chicken slaughter market on Long Island. "I was at Muldorf."

"Then you killed my brother," Krieger shouted. "You beat me that day too." He began to pummel Mittelman who finally broke away and ran two blocks to a bookstore.

Krieger cornered him there, and about 100 neighborhood friends, many of them former concentration camp victims, gathered around, muttering threats at the man cowering behind the book store door.

Police arrived before any physical harm was done, and Mittelman refused to press assault charges. "Let's forget the whole business," he said. He denied he was the "trusty" who killed Krieger's older brother with an iron pot and gashed Krieger on the head with the same weapon.

But Krieger, pointing to the concentration camp numerals "89936" tattooed on his left forearm, said he wouldn't forget. He said he would tell his story to the district attorney and federal immigration officers.

Kiesow Reports On 4-H Camp

John Kiesow, Deschutes county 4-H club member who is attending the annual 4-H camp at Washington, D. C., outlined some of the highlights of the session in a letter received by The Bulletin today.

Kiesow and the three other Oregon delegates arrived in Washington, D. C. June 14. Their first day was a busy one. They were the guests of Oregon Representatives Walter Norblad and Harris Ellisworth at luncheon. In the afternoon they recorded a radio program with the representatives and posed with them for pictures on the capitol steps.

The official program of the camp, according to Kiesow's letter, opened a general assembly later that day.

Following is part of the letter: Program Described

"Each day we have a general assembly of two hours and discussion groups of two or four hours length. Please point out that this camp is not just a pleasure trip. Each member of the camp has to plan programs, work on committees and do as much as possible to plan the over-all camp program.

"We have about 200 delegates here, 48 of whom are foreign exchange students who really add a lot to our program. We are exposed to many problems of international or national scope. We hope to be able to use some of our knowledge at home in our own state and country.

"We had many tours and attended some parties, concerts and such. Among the tours was a visit to the capitol, where we were introduced to President Harry Truman. We have also visited many national monuments. I am busier this week than I have ever before."

To Visit Shrines
According to plans set forth in the letter, the Oregon group left Washington, D. C. today for Philadelphia where they will visit other national shrines. They will then go to New York for two days before starting the return trip.

They plan to travel a southern route on the trip home, stopping at New Orleans, San Antonio, San Francisco and Los Angeles. They expect to arrive in Portland July 1.

Kiesow closed his letter as follows: "I want to include a thanks to those who helped make this trip possible, especially those who worked so hard in the county. I am really learning a lot and it is sure swell that you have made it possible. Thank you."

BUDGET AFFIRMED
Madras, June 21 — With only about 25 per cent of the 567 registered voters of the corporate limits at the polls, this city has affirmed a 1950-51 budget of $31,594.64 in excess of the constitutional limitation. The vote stood 69 to 62.

The total of the Madras city budget for the coming fiscal year reaches $90,851.60.

Newberry Crater Road Is Bladed

The road to the Newberry crater area was bladed yesterday, and is in excellent condition, George W. McCormack, of East Lake resort, reported today. The road had been gullied by recent mountain rainstorms.

Yesterday there was a thunder shower in the area, but summer weather prevailed today, he added.

British Labor Party Worried

London, June 21 (AP)—Labor members of parliament went into a secret caucus today to close the party's ranks against an opposition move to force Britain into the Schuman plan talks.

Prime minister Clement Attlee obviously was worried that some internationally-minded labor M.P.'s might abstain or even vote in favor of a joint conservative-liberal motion calling for British participation in the Paris conference.

With a nominal majority of only six in the house, labor abstentions or votes for the opposition motion next week could defeat the government and force its resignation.

The Schuman plan provides for the pooling of western Europe's iron and steel resources under a supra-national authority. France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, western Germany and Italy began discussing it in Paris yesterday.

Attlee kept Britain out on grounds that this country could not commit itself in advance to the principle of submitting to international direction of its industry.

Conservative leader Winston Churchill and liberal leader Clement Davies sought to get around this last night by introducing a resolution to join the Paris talks subject to the same condition made by Holland—that freedom of action is reserved if the plan proves impractical.

RUSSIANS ABSENT
Tokyo, Japan, June 21 (AP)—Russian representatives failed to show up again today for a meeting of the four-power allied council for Japan. The Russian boycott has been underway since April 26.

Initiation Held By Eastern Star

Redmond, June 21 — Mrs. Vernon Patrick was taken into Eastern Star by initiation at a ceremony performed Monday night at the Townsend hall. A guest at the meeting was Thomas Denham of Webster, Ia., who is affiliated with Valdez chapter No. 5 in Alaska. He spoke of having attended the triennial session of the general grand chapter of Eastern Star in Toronto. He attended the convention as a representative. Mr. Denham is the father of Mrs. Merlin Armbruster.

Reports on grand chapter were made by Mrs. R. W. Christiansen, Mrs. R. F. Jones, Mrs. W. M. Pendroy and Mrs. Roger Sanford who is local worthy matron. The Masonic and Eastern Star picnic will be held July 9 on the Metoluis river. Arrangements are being made by Arema club.

The group voted to dispense with the first meeting in September because it falls on Labor day. In charge of refreshments for the meeting Monday evening were Mrs. Hugh Stewart, Mrs. H. E. Rakestraw, Miss Esther Bales and Mrs. C. F. Way.

PRECAUTIONS ELABORATE
San Francisco, Calif., June 21 (AP)—Chinatown police raided an opium den yesterday which had escaped detection by eradicating the tell-tale smell of the drug.

Inside they found an elaborate "smell-eradicator" outfit consisting of flit guns to disguise the odor, airwick bottles to absorb it, and adhesive tape over the windows to keep it from escaping.

CHAMBER MEETS
Redmond, June 21—Dr. Charles Dudley presided at the regular meeting of the chamber of commerce Tuesday at the Redmond hotel. President Walter Stauffacher is on his vacation. Routine business was followed by committee reports. Guests for the meeting were Friday Holmes of Lower Bridge, Bruno Reif of Prineville, and John Campbell of Agency Plains. The three men who were guests of John Norlin, are directors of the Central Electric Co-op.

RUNAWAY BOY FOUND
Los Gatos, Calif., June 21 (AP)—A 13-year-old runaway boy lived for three weeks in a sewer hide-out equipped with a mattress and a complete library of comic books, police said today.

The boy was discovered yesterday descending to his makeshift home. He told police he had supported himself by taking empty bottles from grocery stores and then reselling them back to the same stores.
