National Forest Timber For Sale

Oral auction bids will be received by the Regional Forester or his authorized representative at the office of the Forest Supervisor, Post Office Building, Bend, Oregon, beginning at 2:00 p.m. Pacific Standard Time, November 15, 1950, for all the live timber marked or designated for cutting and all merchantable dead timber located on an area embracing about 11,320 acres within Secs. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 33, 34, 35, & 36, T. 20 S., R. 9 E., W.M., Deschutes National Forest, Oregon, estimated to be 45,000,000 feet B.M. more or less, of live and marked dead ponderosa pine and Western white pine; 700,000 feet B.M. more or less, of live lodgepole pine; 500,000 feet B.M. more or less, of live Douglas-fir; 800,000 feet B.M. more or less, of live white fir and other species; and an unestimated amount of unmarked dead ponderosa pine and other species of sawtimber. The appraised value of the timber according to long-term, normal market and operating conditions is $12.85 per M feet for live and marked dead ponderosa pine and Western white pine; $4.65 per M feet for live lodgepole pine; $2.00 per M feet for live Douglas-fir; $1.00 per M feet for live white fir and other species; and $0.50 per M feet for unmarked dead ponderosa pine and other species. No bid will be considered which is less than these rates as a base rate applicable through the entire period of the sale agreement, plus an additional amount of at least $14.00 per M feet for live and marked dead ponderosa pine and Western white pine; $3.85 per M feet for live lodgepole pine; $8.25 per M feet for live Douglas-fir; $6.75 per M feet for live white fir and other species; and $2.00 per M feet for unmarked dead ponderosa pine and other species of sawtimber, which additional amounts shall be subject to quarterly calendar adjustments upward or downward by 0.1% of the difference between the Western Pine Association base index prices determined as set forth below and the average of the Western Pine Association index prices as calculated by the Forest Service at the end of each quarter. Such adjustments in the additional amounts for stumpage shall be applicable to timber cut and scaled during the calendar quarter for which the adjustments is computed. In no event, however, will the adjusted stumpage rates for each quarter be less than the basic appraised rate as first stated above. The base index prices for this sale are an average of the monthly Western Pine Association lumber price indices from July 1, 1950 to September 30, 1950. High bid will be determined by multiplying the total amount bid for each species that is to apply to all the timber cut prior to May 1, 1952 by the volume of that species, as stated below, which must be cut before redetermined rates below those bid can become effective. On that date and at other times, as stated in the contract, total rates will be redetermined, but in no event will the redetermined stumpage rates be less than the basic appraised value as first above stated, and in no event will redetermined rates which are below those bid and adjusted as provided for by the quarterly adjustment provision in the agreement, become effective for a particular species until the

MALIK AND GROMYKO: THEY'RE ON OUR SIDE—There was stuff for a shocking newspaper headline at a Boston, Mass., induction station, when Malik inducted Gromyko. The two Americans, with the familiar sounding names are: Sgt. Matthew S. Malik, left, who welcomed Henry Gromyko into the U. S. Air Force

Atomic Tick

Geologists are primarily interested in the age when the trees were killed because such a date will provide the first definite information as to the age of the McKenzie lavas, variously estimated at from 2000 to 2500 years. With the age of the Belknap crater known, it will be possible to determine the age of various other flows in the area. Some of the most recent volcanic activity in the entire Cascade range is believed to have occurred from Little Belknap crater, a parasitic cone on the southern flank of Big Belknap crater.

Eventually, when scientists become more expert in the use of Geiger counters in dating carbon-active material, they may be asked to try them out on organic substances removed from under the apron of Lava butte, age of which is believed to be around 2,000 years. Dating of the habitation of the Fort Rock cave, on the Reuben Long ranch, as 9,035 years, as the minimum, attracted nationwide attention earlier this month. The radioactive-carbon study was made on a sandal removed from the Cave by D. B. MacFayden, formerly of Bend and now of Eugene. The aged sandal was reduced to carbon before the study with the Geiger counter was undertaken. Dr. Cressman, head of the department of anthropology at the university, obtained some 75 sandals from the cave. It was through Dr. Cressman's efforts that the radioactive study of the sandals was undertaken by the nuclear scientists.

Found Near Bend

Sandals and other material have been obtained from a site of an old Indian habitation just east of Bend near the Butler road.

Another important date that may be determined through the new carbon 14 dating method is that in which timber was carried into a cavern near the Arnold cave, 14 miles south of Bend, and burned, presumably in some ancient ceremonial. This cavern is known as Charcoal cave. Some of the trees moved into the cave bear the marks of a stone axe. A study of growth rings has revealed that these trees grew long before Columbus discovered America.

Only organic material can be used in making the age study, inasmuch as the supersensitive Geiger counters are used in measuring the amount of radioactive carbon retained by substances that once were living tissues. The carbon absorbed by the once-living tissues was formed in the upper atmosphere by cosmic rays.

Lumber Price

sign that lumber was returning to a rational price that would settle near or slightly below what "legitimate" mills had been charging.

ORDERS DECLINE
 Officials of Brooks Scanlon, Inc., only local plant milling fir, reported today that a decline in orders for fir has been noted here, but added that the apparent "break" in prices for this type of lumber had not yet developed to the point where its local effect could be studied. The Brooks Scanlon firm is moving logs here from the Santiam fir belt at present, but operations will soon be shifted to the Pine mountain area, because of Cascade weather conditions this time of the year.

There also has been noticed a slight decrease in orders for pine in the past week, Western Pine association figures show.

TO SHOW FILM
 A new film entitled, "Prejudice," recently released by the Protestant Film Commission, will be shown Sunday evening at the "house of power" service at First Methodist church, at 7:30.

The film, a feature-length picture, tells the story of a family who overcame several prejudices.

Anne Hibbins was hanged as a witch at Salem, Mass., in 1655.

Everett, Wash., Oct. 21 (AP) — state patrolmen told today how they survived 72 hours in the wilderness with only huckleberries and a barbecued bat to eat.

Officers Al Kuest and Joseph Harvey were found yesterday by a search party. They were suffering from shock, exposure and bruises.

They told rescuers they had eaten only a few huckleberries and a bat which fell out of a snag they burned to keep warm.

"He lit on my shoulder," Harvey said. "We barbecued him and divided him between us."

When rescuers found them about 11 a.m., their first words were: "Have you got anything to eat?"

The pair had gone into the wild green mountain country 25 miles east of here Tuesday to investigate wreckage of an air force P-39 sighted by two hunters. The plane turned out to be one that crashed in 1942.

Shot at Deer
 Kuest said they became lost when they attempted to track a two-point buck he had shot at. They never found the deer and as they attempted to make their way back to the wreckage, a thick mountain fog settled over the area.

"They said they attempted to follow Canyon creek but the stream became too deep, so they retraced their steps.

They slept in a cave one night and under trees two nights. It rained continuously and they were able to build only one fire. They had rifles but the only game they saw was the buck that got them in trouble.

Nearly 150 searchers had been looking for the pair. They were found by a group led by Patrolman Tom Niederauser.

Henry L. Stimson

and educated at Yale. He entered law practice in a firm headed by Elihu Root, who recommended him to President Theodore Roosevelt for appointment as U. S. district attorney in New York. He gave up a $25,000-a-year practice to take the job.

In 1909 Stimson ran for governor of New York but was defeated. He served as secretary of war from 1911 to 1913 and saw action in France for nine months during world war I as colonel of an artillery division.

President Calvin Coolidge appointed Stimson as arbitrator in a dispute between Chile and Peru and a civil war in Nicaragua. His work as a peacemaker was so effective that Coolidge named him governor-general of the Philippines in 1927, a post which he held until he joined the Hoover cabinet in 1929.

While secretary of state he represented the United States at the London naval conference of 1930, the seven-power London conference of 1931, and the Geneva disarmament conference in 1932. Throughout the '30s, he pleaded unsuccessfully with the great powers to curb Japan's growing power in the Orient.

Stimson is survived by his wife, the former Mabel Wellington White, whom he called "the greatest happiness in my life." They had no children.
