

Bowl Fever Grips Many College Elevens

By Fred Down
(United Press Sports Writer)

New York, Nov. 21 (UP)—Unde-feated Wyoming and Lehigh said "no" to post-season offers today as the bowl fever became a national campus epidemic.

Lehigh, which completed its first unbeaten and untied campaign in 67 years last Saturday, announced through President Martin D. Whittaker that it would not play any post-season game.

Wyoming eliminated itself only as a candidate for the proposed American Legion sponsored president cup's game in Washington, D. C., on Dec. 9, leaving the inference that it would consider going to another bowl.

Other developments on the bowl front:

1. Dr. R. B. Homan of the Sun bowl's selection committee announced that Cincinnati and Miami of Ohio would be considered as possible opponents for West Texas State. State is expected to make a formal announcement that it will play in the Sun bowl, pending the result of a poll among the players.

2. The Houston Chronicle said Texas A. & M. was considering playing Maryland in the president cup's game. The newspaper said "reliable sources from the east are to the effect that A. & M. was contacted over the week end."

3. About 2,500 students disrupted classes at Champaign, Ill., to create an impromptu rally to celebrate the Illini's 14 to 7 victory over Ohio State last Saturday. The students formed a human chain to prevent students from entering classes and paraded around the campus, shouting, "go Illini, beat Northwestern," and "no classes today!"

4. Fullback Jeff Fleischmann, Halfback Frank Miller and Center John Peerik of Cornell agreed to play on Yale coach Herman Hlokan's north team in the Mahl Shrine temple all-star game in the Orange bowl on Dec. 25.

Lehigh's Dr. Whittaker said of-fers had been received from the Tangerine, Cigar and Sun bowl committees but that the decision not to play a post-season game was reached "after consultation with representatives of the trustees faculty, alumni and student body."

Wyoming's director of athletics, Glenn J. Jacoby, said there were two reasons for the Cowboy's decision. He said there would not be adequate time for practice and that the squad would return from the game just in time for final examinations. The players felt that they could not afford to risk falling any classes, he said.

Manufacture Guns in Bend

Holding one of their custom-made rifles is Ovid Evans, left, and his son, Lloyd. The guns are made in a gunshop located at the Evans Fly company store on S. 3rd. The father is pointing to the special scroll work which is a sign of the careful craftsmanship which goes into each rifle.

Bend-Made Rifles Will be Shown At Chamber Event

Among articles which will be displayed in Bend's first manufacturers' congress next month will be examples of rifles made in Bend by the Evans Fly company.

The rifles are made in a gunshop located at the company's store on S. 3rd street and are praised for their accuracy by sportsmen all over the United States.

According to Ovid Evans, owner of Evans Fly company, the weapons are manufactured in three calibers, .257- Roberts, .270 and 30-06, and use a Fabrique Nationale Mauser action.

The gunshop, which is considered one of the most modern and well-equipped on the west coast, was installed by Evans in 1946. Since then, more than 50 custom-made rifles have been turned out in the shop.

Son Chief Gunsmith

Evans' 23-year-old son, Lloyd, is the chief gunsmith and machinist. The woodworking and fitting is done by Vern Carlson.

The guns have a barrel measuring 24 inches in length, while the stock is 13 1/2 inches from the center of the trigger to the center of the butt. The stock is finished with a hand rubbed private formula oil base.

Evans states that he uses only superior materials in each rifle and for this reason has been able to obtain top results with the weapons.

Test Made

Warren Page, member of the editorial staff of Field and Stream, sportsman's magazine, recently tested one of the guns and reported that "Mr. Evans' sporter is capable of a very satisfactory degree of accuracy and consistency of impact."

The exhibit of guns by Evans will be one of more than 30 locally manufactured or processed items which will be displayed at the first chamber of commerce manufacturers' congress December 7, 8 and 9. The display will be presented in the lobby of the Pilot Butte Inn, according to Howard Moffat, manager of the chamber.

70 ATTEND DINNER

Prineville, Nov. 21—Seventy attended the dinner at the Powell Butte grade school Saturday evening given by the Powell Butte Farmers club for the Prineville Lions club. The dinner was prepared by the Powell Butte Parent-Teacher association.

On Monday, December 4, the farmers' group will entertain the Redmond Kiwanis club at a dinner, which will be prepared by the Women's council of the Powell Butte Community church. The farmers' club donated the meat for Saturday night dinner and will make a like contribution for the Kiwanis club dinner.

GETS SCHOLARSHIP

Madras, Nov. 21—Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keiser of Madras, member of the freshman class at Oregon State college, has just been awarded a scholarship of the Future Homemakers of America. It has just been learned at the Madras union high school, where she was graduated last May. The scholarship, the only one awarded in Oregon, was awarded by the state organization of Future Homemakers.

Miss Keiser is majoring in home economics at Oregon State college.

Ochoco Official Hurt in Mishap

Prineville, Nov. 21—Henry C. Hulett, supervisor of the Ochoco national forest, was knocked unconscious when struck by the mechanism of a clay pigeon trap Sunday, when taking part in a turkey shoot on the local trap club range.

Hulett was emerging from the trap pit after readjusting the target throwing mechanism when some one released the trigger. The arm-lever struck Hulett on the head.

The forest supervisor was given first aid treatment, then taken to his home in Prineville. Yesterday he was taken to the Pioneer memorial hospital for a checkup. No complications are expected, but Hulett was advised by his doctor to remain quiet for a few days, at home.

BOTTLES PROFITABLE

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 11 (UP)—Eleven-year-old Freddy Spurlin had $200 toward his college education today because he was looking for bottles to sell.

Freddy found the money three months ago while prowling in a garbage can for bottles. He turned the money over to police because he thought it was "the right thing to do."

Police Capt. Guy Vernon said no legitimate claims were made for the money and it became a case of "finders keepers" after 90 days.

Freddy's mother, Mrs. M. J. Freeman, said the money would be saved for her son's education. But the lad said he would rather use the money to take his mother to the midwest for a family reunion.

PLANS REGULAR HOURS

Madras, Nov. 21—Thomas Blair of Bend, sanitarian for the Tri-County district of the state department of health, which covers Crook, Deschutes and Jefferson counties, today will launch a weekly series of office hours at the courthouse. Blair states that he will be available each Tuesday afternoon from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. to hear nuisance complaints, questions about restaurant sanitation and any other problems connected with sanitation.

Blair will also approve sewage and water plans for F.H.A. and G.I. housing loans.
