Auxiliary Sets Sale of Poppies

Women and girls of the American Legion Auxiliary will be on the streets in Bend next Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24, with baskets of the familiar memorial poppies which are crepe paper replicas of the famous poppies of Flanders Fields. Ever since World War I they have been worn each year on a day preceding Memorial Day, as a symbol of remembrance and to raise funds for the aid of disabled veterans and children of veterans.

All of the Auxiliary's poppy workers will be unpaid volunteers, and among them will be members of three generations, wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of men who have served America in the three wars of this century.

No price will be asked for the poppies but contributions to the rehabilitation and child welfare funds of the Auxiliary will be received, according to Mrs. Marie Judy, poppy chairman for the Stevens-Chute auxiliary unit.

The poppies to be distributed here were made by disabled veterans at the Portland Veterans Hospital, the only workers in the program who receive pay for their work.

Arnall Asked To Retract Claim

PORTLAND, May 21 (AP)—Organizations of both retail and wholesale grocers here Wednesday asked that Office of Price Stabilization Boss Ellis Arnall retract a statement that ceiling price adjustments would raise retail canned goods prices.

The grovers also demanded that Arnall take back an OPS claim that adjustments in the ceilings would have more effect on retail prices in independent than in chain stores.

Howard McAnulty, secretary of the Oregon Food Merchants Association, claimed that most staple canned goods are already selling at less than ceiling prices. Gordon Stevenson, general manager of the Northwest Grocery company, said his firm, a wholesale outlet, is currently taking only about two-thirds of the allowed markup.

Dense Fog Delays Rescue Operation

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21 (AP)—The SS Pacific Transport wallowed helplessly in a calm sea some 700 miles east of the Japanese mainland, awaiting help from another freighter, the F. J. Luckenbach Wednesday.

The Luckenbach ship had been expected for hours, but rescue operations were hampered by a dense fog.

The Pacific Transport's rudder was carried away Tuesday, according to radio signals picked up by Globe Wireless and Coast Guard operators in San Francisco.

The freighter carries 12 passengers and a crew of 49. She was bound from Yokohama to San Francisco with a 12,000 ton general cargo.

A U.S. Navy spokesman in Tokyo said the ship was not in immediate danger.

Damages Asked In Civil Suit

Suit to recover $4,332.96 from the Lowell A. Jensen Distributing company and the Tidewater Associated Oil company as the result of a fire at the Park service station and cafe on Oct. 16, 1950 was filed in circuit court today by the Oregon Mutual Fire Insurance company.

The complaint sets forth that Mr. and Mrs. Ronald D. Fowler were owners of the service station and cafe at the time of the fire and were insured with the plaintiff company. It is alleged that the oil distributing firm was careless and negligent in filling the service station tank and that as a result of this reputed carelessness the fire was started.

The complaint states that the service station was damaged to the extent of $2,796.31, and that damage to the cafe amounted to $1,536.65.
