

Bruins to Meet Hilanders Here In Game Tonight

At 8 o'clock tonight the Bend high school's Bruins will step out on their own floor to face a strong edge squad from Burns called the Hilanders.

In last week's play the Scotsmen took victories from Prineville and Madras while the Bruins shared a home-and-home series with Redmond's Panthers.

The Lava Bears are still wondering if Roland Coleman and Denny Olson will be ready for these contests. Olsen is still limping from an ankle injury he suffered last weekend while Coleman is weak from a case of flu.

A tentative starting line-up for the Bears will see Ron Anderson and Denny Lenaburg listed at the forwards, with Ned Mackey completing the back line at the center post. Captain Jim Crowell and running mate Bob Bonnell round out the squad at the guard positions.

The Bend cagers will meet the LeVine Honkers Saturday in a contest to be played in Bend.

'Swede' Says He'll Stay At Corvallis

CORVALLIS (UP) — Wade (Swede) Halbrook had a confidential discussion with Coach Slat Gill yesterday and announced he intended to remain at Oregon State but it seemed doubtful if the seven-foot, three-inch basketball star would play in the crucial Northern Division games with Oregon tonight and tomorrow night.

Halbrook was suspended from the team Tuesday. Reports circulated yesterday that he was going to join Buchanan Bakers, a Seattle independent team composed of former college stars. He had a reservation to fly to Seattle yesterday evening and had received faculty signatures to class withdrawal slips.

The came the talk with Gill. Afterward Halbrook said he planned to remain at Oregon State but said Gill had not reinstated him on the team.

Halbrook told his mother on the telephone yesterday he was out of the Oregon series. But he said later, "Maybe I'll be in Seattle next week." Oregon State meets Washington in Seattle next week. Yesterday was Halbrook's 22nd birthday. He admitted he was tired and missed a class Monday afternoon.

As for the Buchanan offer, he said he talked to Frank Fidler, coach of the team. "I told him right at the start that even if I did play with his club I planned to finish my studies at Oregon State."

OSC goes into tonight's game with Oregon at Eugene, with a 4-1 conference mark Oregon has a 5-1 record. They meet again at Corvallis tomorrow night.

Tommy Bolt Has One-Stroke Lead

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP) — Temperamental Tommy Bolt, the man who blows hotter and colder than anyone in the golfing world, teed off in the second round of the $15,000 San Diego Open golf tournament today a measly one-stroke lead after shooting one of the greatest rounds in PGA tournament history Thursday.

Bolt, acknowledged by all as potentially the greatest player in the history of golf, fired an eight-under-par 64 Thursday after shooting seven straight birdies to open the round.

That gave him only a one-stroke lead over Paul McGuire, young tournament trail star from Wichita Kan., who came in with a 65.

Despite their great shot-making these boys didn't run away from the field. There were 27 men in the star-studded array who shot 70 or better and there were 40 who broke par on the par-72 course.

Charlie Powell Gains Decision

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Former professional football star Charlie Powell pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Germany's Hans Friedrich last night at Olympic Auditorium.

Powell, fighting for the first time since he suffered a seventh-round technical knockout against Charlie Norkus, won every round but failed in a desperate attempt to score a knockout.

The former San Francisco Forty Niner staggered Friedrich in the second, third and 10th rounds with hard left jabs and hooks to the body, but was unable to down his lighter and erratic opponent. Judges Tommy Frankie Van had it 60-50. The bout was not televised.

Powell experienced no trouble with his right hand, which he broke in a previous fight. There were no knockdowns. Prior to losing to the more experienced Norkus, Powell had elbowed 10 of 12 opponents.

Comeback Win Scored by Jack

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UP)—Even as Sugar Ray Robinson's comeback was threatening to collapse, former lightweight champion Beau Jack was safely embarked on his comeback today with a victory and started looking for more fights.

Jack, 33-year-old former shoe-shine boy from Augusta, Ga., who retired three years ago, shook off the cobwebs Thursday night and scored a crowd-pleasing, unanimous decision over Eddie Green in a 10-rounder here.

Jack, weighing 147 pounds to his rival's 139, was a clear winner in a fine bout. The only evidence of the knee injury that prompted his retirement was a scar across his left knee cap, and the only bruise he suffered in the bout was a slight puffing around the left eye.
