Reservoir Bid Opening Planned At Redmond

Special to The Bulletin
 REDMOND — Bids for reservoir construction are to be opened at the meeting Feb. 22, it was decided at city council meeting Tuesday night. City superintendent John Berning reported that specifications, prepared by the Corvallis engineers, had been sent to seven firms who had indicated interest in the project. They will also be advertised twice in Portland and twice locally.

Foster Glass appeared before council to request franchise permitting him to test for feasibility of installing co-axial cable here. A resolution is to be drawn by attorney Rupert Park, similar to that drawn last year for other applicants.

An offer to buy the Veterans housing unit was made by Arthur Kiser who had approached council previously on a deal for the units. He was asked to present his offer in writing before action will be taken.

A letter from Dr. Harold M. Erickson, state health officer, that monthly tests of Redmond water supply in 1954 showed no coliform bacteria and that every sample had been safe bacteriologically. Dr. Erickson commended the city staff for skillful and careful operation of the water system to insure that purity.

Park reported that all easements along Fifteenth street between Highland and Forest had been signed and will be recorded by Carl Galloway, acting for property owners involved. Park also reported that Central Oregon Irrigation district attorney George Brewster had requested that a city committee meet with him and his board regarding the C.O.I. bill to the city for water assessments claimed to be owing. On the city committee are councilmen Calvin Hicks, George Beimler, Park and Berning.

Mayor E. M. McKrill appointed Marion Taylor on the cemetery committee, and reported the resignation of Marion Coyner from the wrestling and boxing commission. His successor is to be appointed. All bills were approved for payment. Prior Smith was absent owing to illness.
