High Rating Won By Bend Hospital

Special to The Bulletin
CHICAGO, March 24—The joint commission on accreditation of hospitals today published its annual list of accredited hospitals in the States and Canada. (Twenty four Oregon hospitals, one of them St. Charles Memorial hospital, Bend, are on the list. Nine of the Oregon total of 24 are in Portland, three in Salem and two in Medford. Nine other Oregon cities are represented by one each).
The accreditation program is a voluntary one and only those hospitals which request survey are visited, Dr. Kenneth B. Babcock, commission director, said.
The joint commission on accreditation of hospitals is an agency established by five leading health organizations—the American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association and the Canadian Hospital Association — to conduct the hospital survey and inspection program initiated by the American College of Surgeons in 1919.
Dr. Babcock referred to accreditation as "a badge of recognition which the hospital can display to its community to prove that it conforms to high standards of patient care."
Dr. Babcock said the surveyors, all physicians, rate a hospital on certain basic requirements. These include a safe physical plant free from fire hazards, proper supervision and a review by the medical staff of the clinical work done in a hospital; maternal, infant and anesthetic death rates that are not excessively high; adequate medical records; ethical practices; investigation of all tissue removed at operation; control of unnecessary surgery and the removal of "normal tissue"; mortality rates that are within reasonable limits, proper nursing care, proper administrative and staff organization.

Special to The Bulletin
MADRAS — Discussion of Madras' new water filter plant transmission line and details of paving work claimed attention during a special city council meeting in the city hall, Tuesday evening.

James Howland of Cornell, Howland, Hayes, and Merrifield, consulting engineers, Corvallis; Cliff Shaw, plant resident engineer; and E. G. Flynn, superintendent for Lee Hoffman Construction company, Beaverton, reported on line progress.

The transmission line will be finished in about two weeks and will then be turned over to the city, they said. Completion of 5500 feet of line from the plant to the city makes a fire protection loop and adds 3000 feet of 10-inch pipe to the city system. The line ties in with city lines at Fourth and I streets.

Completion of the entire plant is expected June 15, although contract date is September 15. Finishing depends on shipments of needed supplies and materials. Actual work can be done in June if material is delivered as planned.

Ordinance No. 169, authorizing Mayor Earl M. Bone and Joe Palin, city recorder, to enter into contract with the Oregon state highway department for setting base and paving 22 feet wide sections of two Madras streets was approved.

The sections will be paved by the highway department from the east line of Sixth to the east line of Tenth on E. street and from the south line of E to the south line of C on Tenth street.

The city of Madras will finish paving these streets. On E, the city will be responsible for 32 feet of paving, and 22 feet on Tenth street.

Recommendations of the street committee to install sidewalks in the downtown area and place curbs on portions of First and C streets won approval. The street committee was directed to meet with the county court to plan a long-range program of fixing streets which intersect with county roads.

Rain is Falling On Pass Areas

Light rain was falling on two of Oregon's high passes, the Santiam and Willamette, and the snow pack was breaking, state highway maintenance crews reported this morning.

Four inches of snow fell at Government camp, five at Warm Springs junction and eight on the Santiam divide last night.

Light snow was falling on the Ochoco divide this morning, but the old snow pack was disintegrating under the impact of traffic.

Convention List Shows Increase

Still another convention has been added to Bend's growing list for 1955.
