Spokane Drops Emeralds 9-3

By UNITED PRESS
Whatever it was that happened to his hitters last night, Spokane manager Eddie Lake hopes it is still with his outfit tonight as they open a series against Salem.

Spokane salvaged the final game of a four-game series against Eugene last night, 9-3, with a 15-hit attack featuring heavy hitting by Joe Porter, Nap Gulley and Eddie Murphy.

Porter collected four hits in five trips, including a double and a triple. Gully had five-for-five, all singles, and Murphy had three hits in four trips for the Indians.

The Yakima Bears also came up with a good hitting attack, collecting 12 hits to take Tri-City 11-4. A five-run outburst in the eighth featuring doubles by Sam Mitchell and Ted Edmunds did most of the damage.

Lewis got four runs in the seventh to snap a 2-2 tie and take Salem 7-4. Don Fralley batted a two-run homer in the Salem eighth but Jim Benton held on for the victory.

Cockell Asks Bigger Ring

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — John Simpson, manager of heavyweight challenger Don Cockell, was slated to appear before the California Athletic Commission today with the ultimatum: "Give us a 20-foot ring for Monday's fight or we'll appeal as high as President Eisenhower."

Before Simpson's appearance, co-promoter Lou Thomas told reporters: "Cockell will fight Rocky Marciano in the 16 1/2 foot ring we have erected at Kezar Stadium, or he'll have to fight him on the bare grass of the gridiron."

Thomas and Jimmy Murray of San Francisco are co-promoters with the International Boxing club. Thomas has charge of the stadium layout.

Simpson claimed he was verbally guaranteed a 20-foot ring when he and Cockell signed for the Marciano fight. "Since Cockell depends much on footwork, we need the large ring. The 16 1/2 midget would be a great handicap to Don and a great help to Marciano."

The manager from London stressed that there is "a perfect 20-foot ring" in the Municipal Auditorium. "We mean to have that ring," he declared, "even if we have to appeal to Gov. Goodwin, J. Knight or to President Eisenhower."

What if all appeals were refused? "Then I still have a card up my sleeve," he said grimly. That reply was interpreted as a possible threat to pull Cockell out of the fight.

Ila S. Grant's Sage Brushings

This morning I got up when the alarm went off, prepared the breakfast grapefruit without cutting a finger, made the toast without getting burned, and soft-boiled the eggs to just the right degree of half-doneness. Not only that, I drove to town without getting arrested for a traffic violation, found a parking place in my favorite lane on the lot, and met the deadlines all morning long. And all this good fortune on Friday the 13th!

Funny, isn't it, how much good luck it takes just to get through a day?

In case you got caught with your superstitions down, you may be interested in knowing that you are suffering from an ancient aversion. The Greeks had a word for it . . . "triskedekaphobia." It means "fear of number 13."

Helen Hemingway, backstage helper on the "Billie Spirit" production staff, says that her dramatics career has deteriorated from leading lady to a patch over the fireplace. She's not bitter, but she thought they should let her sign her work—"Patches by Hemingway," in fluorescent paint. "Oh, well," she mused, "at my age you can enjoy being a psycho-geriatric." (Translation: Crackpot.)

If dieting doesn't do some folks much good, at least it gives us something to talk about.

And when the results begin to show, we can get into all those clothes we accused the cleaners of shrinking.

It's no simple matter to keep up a wardrobe while losing weight. It isn't only that things are too big around. They're long-waisted, and the hems are uneven.

There's just one solution that seems feasible. Use the savings on the grocery bill to buy new clothes.

Speaking of clothes — this lary spring weather is the season when the earning can't catch up with the yearning.

The newest item on the grocer's shelf is miniature marshmallows. Funny someone didn't think of it before.

I have a good many recipes calling for "quartered marshmallows." and I avoid them like the plague. (If you've ever quartered a marshmallow, you know what I mean.)

There are several schools of thought on how to accomplish the cleavage. One calls for a sharp serrated knife, dipped frequently in powdered sugar. Another prescribes scissors, dunked in water. Still another suggests tearing the marshmallows apart with the fingers. All three of these methods leave something to be desired. (a) They're messy. (b) They're time-consuming. (c) They leave the marshmallows in unattractive hunks, certainly less than uniform. Besides, when you put them in a bowl in preparation for adding other ingredients, they all stick together again anyway. The cut edges of the marshmallows are stickier than glue.

Now that we have miniature marshmallows, our worries are over. What next?

Dr. Hemingway Named Speaker

Dr. Max Hemingway, Bend physician, will be a featured speaker at the Pacific and Rocky mountain area regional meeting of the American Heart association May 19 and 20 in Santa Barbara, Calif. Oregon Heart Association headquarters have been advised.

Dr. Hemingway, whose study of rheumatic fever in Bend public schools has been supported by grants from the Oregon Heart association, will speak May 19 on the subject, "A Physician Explains the Rheumatic Fever Problem to the Citizen."

Medical science has found that rheumatic fever is almost always preceded by a streptococcal infection, and Dr. Hemingway's study among Bend school children is related to rheumatic fever control by means of routine throat cultures to determine the presence of hemolytic streptococcus.

The association reports that 90 per cent of the heart cases among children can be traced to rheumatic fever.

Meeting Purpose Told
Purpose of the Santa Barbara meeting is to plan for the development of effective programs for the prevention and treatment of rheumatic fever. The American Heart association and the U. S. Public Health Service are currently conducting a "Stop Rheumatic Fever" campaign, designed to make rheumatic fever a rare disease through prompt and adequate treatment of the streptococcal infections which precipitate both initial and repeat attacks.

Representatives from eight states, Alaska and Hawaii will participate in the two-day discussions at Santa Barbara.

The studies in Bend have been under the supervision of the St. Charles Memorial Hospital Rheumatic Fever committee, with Dr. Hemingway as president, Dr. J. H. Stewart, medical director of the Tri-county health department as vice-president, and W. H. Stollmack, manager of the hospital as secretary.

UP IN ARMS
BATON ROUGE, La. (UP) — Coon hunters were up in arms today over a law recently enacted by the Legislature to protect deer from unleashed hunting dogs during the fawning season.

Legislators said they hadn't noticed that the law would virtually abolish coon hunting, a favorite sport here, and promised to repeal it.

Hospital Budget Accepted May 10

Special to The Bulletin
REDMOND — Estimated expenditures and receipts for Central Oregon district hospital for 1955-56 are both up, according to the budget accepted Tuesday night. Analysis of estimated tax levies, however, show less than a $1,000 increase over last year because of estimated higher receipts.

Estimated expenditures total $326,281.50 and estimated receipts total $287,710.62, leaving a balance of $38,570.88 to be raised by taxation. This figure plus estimated $6,806.62 in uncollectable taxes for 1955-56 makes the total estimated tax levies $45,377.50. This dividend $17,990 for the operating fund and $27,387.50 for debt service on the districts bond issues. Comparable figures for 1954-55 are $27,425 and $16,972 for a total of $44,397.

Budget board members adopted the proposed 1955-56 budget with less than an hour's deliberation. Wages generally show an increase in nearly all departments of the hospital. Cost of supplies vary considerably, more or less, in the several departments. Total expenditures of $326,281.50 compares with $313,705.23 for the current year.

In the estimated receipts the largest anticipated increase is in medical rooms. X-ray, laboratory and pharmacy estimated receipt figures are up somewhat. Surgical rooms and kitchen are down a little. The budgeted item for collection of delinquent taxes is $5,000 compared to $2,000, and estimated collections on 1952-54 accounts receivable is $7,000 compared to $15,000 for 1954-55. Total estimated net receipts is figured at $287,710.62, and for the current year the figure was $274,862.54.

Joe Brown was budget board chairman and B. L. Fleck was secretary. Others serving were W. A. Hughtitt, C. E. Thompson and Dr. John Dorsch.

Meeting with the budget board were regular board members E. Wade West, D. L. Penhollow and Mrs. Ethel Smith. Also present were accountant Lee Rennolds, attorney George Rakestraw and hospital manager Fred Baer. The public hearing on the budget is set for Tuesday, June 14 at 8 p.m.
