'Hams' Invited To Meeting

All licensed amateur radio operators in the tri-county area are invited to attend the second meeting of the newly reorganized Central Oregon Radio association to be held next Thursday, June 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Austin, 1137 Federal street.

Sixteen licensed operators from Bend and Redmond met last week to formulate plans. Officers were elected as follows: President, Albert Jorgensen, W7ZLR, Bend; vice-president, Don Stewart, W7HBO, Redmond; secretary-treasurer, Eldred Luckenbill, W7JIB, Bend; publicity chairman, Lone Jorgensen, W7ZLS, Bend.

The club is looking for permanent quarters for radio equipment, with room for meetings and class instruction. Because radio communication is so vital to civil defense, in many areas city and county officials provide such quarters to established clubs, officers of the group reported.

The club is contemplating taking a limited class of beginners for code and radio instruction, if appropriate quarters can be obtained.

Change in Water Hours Planned

Sunday, June 12, has been set as the effective day for the emergency ruling barring use of water for irrigation purposes between the afternoon hours of 1 and 5, City Manager Walter T. Thompson reported today.

He pointed out that the city has complied with the ordinance provision requiring legal publication of notices of water regulations 48 hours in advance of the effective date.

Heavy irrigation in the present swarmer period has resulted in a near depletion of reservoir water here, with the tanks on Overturf butte empty yesterday morning.

Also effective is the ruling calling for irrigation on alternate days, according to odd and even house numbers.

The maximum fine for the violation of the irrigation ordinance is $25.
