Union Pacific Derailed, One Person Killed

FORT MORGAN, Colo. (UP)—The Union Pacific railroad's streamliner Challenger was derailed at a bridge washout six miles northeast of here early today killing a crew member and injuring nine others, including four passengers.

The train, enroute from Chicago to Los Angeles and carrying 309 passengers and a crew of six, was derailed off the Union Pacific's main line and through the Colorado section because of other washouts in Wyoming when the accident occurred about 3:30 a.m. PDT. Word of the accident was delayed over an hour because of knocked-out communications.

The dead crew member was identified as electrician George F. Hobusch Jr., Sandy, Utah. His body was crushed between two cars and he died instantly.

Taken To Hospital

The injured included at least three women and a child among the four passengers.

At nearby Brush, Colo., the hospital reported three victims had been admitted from the accident. They included Mr. and Mrs. Clyde M. Campbell, East Lansing, Mich., and a porter, Stanley Murrell, Omaha, Neb. Mrs. Campbell was believed to be suffering from a back fracture, the hospital said.

At Fort Morgan, another woman passenger, Mrs. Milton A. Barlow, 33, Silver Springs, Md., an expectant mother, was admitted for observation. She suffered only a gash on the leg. Of her five children with her, only one, 10-year-old Alvin Barlow, was hurt. He had a gash on the forehead.

The injured included engineer Harold H. Johnson, 60, Cheyenne, Wyo.; fireman Willis Green, 41, also of Cheyenne, and road foreman Everett E. McGraw, North Platte, Neb.

Union Pacific headquarters at Omaha also reported another passenger, Constance Addaway, 62, Long Beach, Calif., among the injured.

Johnson, McGraw and Green were brought to Community Hospital here where none was reported in serious condition.

Johnson told Mrs. Helen Cudworth, editor of the Fort Morgan Herald and United Press Correspondent, he saw the washout ahead and began slowing down the train, otherwise, he said the accident could have been much worse.

All but the last two of the Challenger's 18 cars went off the tracks. The three-unit diesel locomotive was jack-knifed and overturned; a baggage car lay across the track behind it, and two Pullmans were off on their sides, one in four feet of water and a foot of water inside it.

Downpours estimated up to three inches had fallen in the area during the night and a flash flood had swept down Wildcat Creek, where the train was derailed, washing out its trestle and a portion of the tracks on both sides.

Stadter Favored For Draft Board

E. O. Stadter, long-time Bend resident and former Deschutes county district attorney, has been recommended as a member of the local selective service board succeeding J. D. Donovan, who will retire from his duties as a board member in July.

Stadter has served as appeal agent of the local board. His nomination as a board member has been approved by Lt. Col. Charles E. Fitch of the Oregon-U.S. Selective Service headquarters, Portland, who has been here this week. Formal appointment will be made later by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, upon the recommendation of Gov. Paul L. Patterson.

Donovan has been a selective service board member since the beginning of World War II, and has been chairman a number of years. Other board members are John Brooks, Madras; Gary Foster and John Cornett, Prineville; and Marion Coyner, Redmond. Mrs. Charles Koster is clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. Koster were hosts at a dinner party honoring Donovan Tuesday evening at their home on Harmon Boulevard. In addition to board members and their wives, the following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Stadter, Lt. Col. Fitch and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hafstad. Mrs. Hafstad was local board chairman during World War II.

The Central Oregon group presented Donovan with a brief case in appreciation of his long service, and a scroll was presented from state headquarters.

They Create Too Many Problems

Board Opposing Married Students in High School

REDMOND — Marriage and high school don't mix, the board of Redmond Union high school agreed this week. After taking action on several matters a serious discussion on married students continuing to attend high school was launched and the members voted the following:

"The board strongly recommends that students do not get married while still attending high school, but that if they do marry they withdraw from school and assume their adult responsibilities." Board members backed up their stand with the reasons that after marriage young people enter different social status, they create attendance problems because they are no longer under home and parental supervision, they discuss marital experiences with the unmarried students, their marriage tends to bring them a false popularity, they lose interest in school functions, they necessitate a double set of regulations and pose other administrative and teaching problems.

The board further agreed that the married male student should probably be earning a living and supporting his established home, although there are opportunities for married students, men and women, to get their high school degrees. Suggested were night classes, correspondence courses, adult education.

It was thought the opinions of other school boards on this problem would be welcome, and they will accordingly be sought through correspondence and joint sessions.

Board members felt the legislature would be sufficiently interested to take action on the matter if school directors would express their opinions to them. Superintendent James L. Brown said he will raise the question for discussion at the next state meeting of superintendents. "When it affects the school it is the school's business," the board concurred.

Gas and fuel oil bids are to be opened at the next meeting, July 11. Votes on the director election will also be canvassed at that meeting.

NATION'S FIRST — The nation's first floating radar island, a six thousand ton "Texas Tower," is shown as it was moved from its berth at the Fore River shipyard in Quincy, Mass. The weird-looking island is being towed to Boston for further outfitting. Eventually it will be towed one hundred miles east of Cape Cod where it will stand on still-like legs eighty-seven feet above water as part of the Continental Radar Warning System. (NEA Telephoto)

Contract Award For TV System Made Last Night

The Bend TV Cable Corporation last night awarded a contract for a complete TV cable system, to cover approximately 95 per cent of the city of Bend, to the Jerrold Northwest Equipment Company of Seattle. The Washington company has installed many of the larger cable systems in the Northwest.

Construction is expected to get under way within three weeks, pending completion of the franchise between the television corporation and the city of Bend. Extensive tests have been made in the past six weeks, and the corporation is satisfied with the results, spokesmen reported.

The antenna site is some four miles northeast of Bend. A downtown office will be opened as soon as construction starts, for the purpose of giving information to anyone regarding the system.

Members of the corporation are Dr. J. C. Vandeventer, George W. McCormack, Lloyd Robidoux, Dr. George Blinn, Everett Rambo, Fred L. Hartmann and A. E. Schuman.

Bend is assured of the most up-to-date system that can be installed, according to Robidoux, corporation secretary and spokesman for the group. Regular reports on progress will be made, he said. It is expected that completion of the system will require about 10 weeks.

Hartman is president of the corporation, Rambo is vice-president and Dr. Blinn is treasurer.

Thirty-six miles of trunk line, including the four-mile antenna run, will be used in the system.

Brandis Planning Store Addition

The Brandis Thrift Wise drug store will build a $19,200 addition to its present building on 1020 Wall st. giving some 2,000 sq. ft. extra sales floor space.

Richard Brandis store owner, said the present 4,000 sq. ft. space is not adequate for the volume of business he has had. A building permit for a reinforced concrete building was issued to him by the city hall last Saturday.

Van Mastro Construction Co. is the contractor for the new building, which is expected to be completed early in September.

Swimming Pool Tickets on Sale

The city recreation department begins its swimming pool season ticket sale today. The price for individual ticket is $4.00 and family ticket $8.00.

The pool will be opened this Saturday, June 18. John Harpole is manager of the pool, Gary Monical, assistant manager, Doris Hawes, head instructor, Rodney Waddell and Larry Lefino, life guards, and Sally Slate, cashier.

Second Salk Shots Due Next Week

The Tri-County Health Department announced this afternoon that the second round Salk polio vaccination shots will be given next week. Only those first and second graders who have received the first shots are eligible for the second shots.

The program will begin on Monday, June 20, in Madras grade school from 9 a.m. to noon. All Jefferson county children will be covered there.

On Tuesday, June 21, the second-shot clinic will be moved to Prineville's Ochocho school at the same hours for Crook county children. There will be no division for those who received their first shots in Ochocho school or Crooked River school.

The clinic will operate in Redmond on Wednesday, June 22 from 9 to 12 in Edwin Brown school.

The program will move into Bend on Thursday and Friday, June 23 and 24 at the same hours. All those who got their first shots in Thompson, Kingston, and Allen schools will get their second shots in Thompson school.

The health department is sending out postcards to the parents concerned arranging a more specific time for their children so that there will be no congestion on clinic day. Any further inquiry should be made directly to the health department.

Getting Closer

The two highway crews working from opposite directions to clear the McKenzie highway are reported to be about six or seven miles apart.

The crew from the Bend side was working at mile point 75 yesterday. It hoped to finish the Big Cut before this morning.

School Districts Planning Annual Election Monday

Nineteen school districts in Deschutes county, including three privately supported ones will hold their annual board election next Monday from 2 to 8 p.m. Forty-eight vacancies occur.

New legislation has come into effect making it mandatory for all school boards, irrespective of the size, to have five members. Sixteen districts in Deschutes county with a student population under 1000 which have had three board members are augmenting their board membership under the new law.

In addition to the 32 newly created offices 16 offices are up for election due to expiration of terms.

All districts except the Bend Redmond elementary, and Redmond Union are affected by the new legislation. They have had five board members.

The old offices up for election are: Three rural school districts and one each for boards of Bend Redmond elementary, Redmond Union, Tumalo, LaPine, Terrebonne, Sisters, Lower Bridge, Brothers, Cloverdale, Young, Alfalfa, and Harper.

Three privately supported school districts will also hold election on the same day. They do not involve any tax money, but they generally conform to the regulations of the public school districts.

U.S. Steel Sets Monday Reply

PITTSBURGH (UP)—U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 steel producer, will reply next Monday to the CIO United Steelworkers' arguments for a "substantial" wage increase.

U. S. Steel was the first of "Big Six" steelmakers with which the union held preliminary wage negotiations last week to schedule a second round session.

The USW opened bargaining with smaller basic steel concerns this week after talks with U. S. Steel Bethlehem, Republic, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel had been recessed to give the major producers time to draft their answers and offers.

Alert Sends Ike and Staff To Hideaways

EMERGENCY U.S. NEWS CENTER (UP)—The wailing of air raid sirens signalling a make believe H-bomb attack sent President Eisenhower and other government officials fleeing to safety in emergency secret hideaways today.

Some 15,000 key government workers and officials and members of the Cabinet fled by automobiles and helicopters to places where they could continue their work during "Operation Alert, 1955," the nation's biggest Civil Defense exercise.

Besides Washington, other targets for imaginary enemy bombers were New York, Chicago, Boston, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Seattle and 41 other cities.

When the sirens whistled their chilling warning, the President and a staff of 30 to 35 key White House personnel left the White House in a convoy of automobiles. Accompanying Mr. Eisenhower were Harold E. Stassen, his assistant on world disarmament problems, and Nelson A. Rockefeller, White House expert on psychological warfare.

Mr. Eisenhower's base of operations tonight will be in a mountainous wooded area. Its location is secret although described as from 30 to 300 miles from Washington. This emergency White House is patrolled by armed servicemen on orders to challenge any passerby no matter what his credentials.

But even before the President fled the capital, work went on as usual. He signed five bills into law in the morning, and had several callers. Congress continued its sessions as usual during the "raid."

One City Balks

Many government press information officers had long since departed to key communications points where the temporary flow of government messages and news will be carried on during the three-day operation.

While Mr. Eisenhower hastily left the capital with other officials, Mrs. Eisenhower remained at their farm home at Gettysburg, Pa.

Peoria, Ill., a city on the list of communities which might be "attacked" by the enemy bombers, ignored the alert. Peoria Civil Defense Director Marvin L. Merritt said he just couldn't see "lots of people running around with arm bands."

Halt! Stop! Goal Reached By Bend A.C.

The Bend Athletic club passed its goal of $250 early Wednesday morning, assuring Dean Benson of a chance to run in the national AAU track and field championships at Boulder, Colo. June 24-25. Contributions to date total $255.

Benson will leave here Thursday morning for Eugene. He will fly from there to Los Angeles, Calif., for the NCAA track meet Friday and Saturday.

Following the NCAA test, he will fly directly to Boulder so that he will have five days to work out and get accustomed to the altitude before the AAU preliminaries on Friday. If he qualifies then, he will race in the finals of the AAU meet on Saturday.

The complete membership in the Bend Athletic Club includes Robert W. Chandler, Hugh Cole, Frank Loggan, George Mirich, Byron Benson, Henry Fowler, Robert W. Sawyer, Dick Robinson, Marlor Cady, John Sedell, Bill Lackaff, Ralph Crawford, Paul Hosmer, John Bradley, Pat Cashman, Ben Fanning, Richard W. Brandt, E. E. Jewell, Melvin O'Day, Jo Grahman, Owen Panner, Pa' Metke, Charlie McCaffrey, Ler Standifer, Vince Genna, Phil Gould and Jim Curt.

Other members are McKinley Huffel, Bill Stanfill, Hal Waterman, Art Boyle, Bill Niskanen, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Mauldin, Don Deering, Dutch Stover and Ray LeBlanc, Junior League baseball club, Gordon Randall, W. A. Hunt, Les Schwab of Prineville, Rev. Duane Poindexter, Keith Langworthy, Troop 21, Boy Scouts of America ("Slim" Hein), Bend Loggers, Cal Pierce, F. M. Stokesberry, Desmond Currie, Al Hansen, Joe Slate, Bend high school letterman's club, Bend high school student body, Russ Acheson, Elmer V. Ward, and City Shop employes.

2 Roman Catholic Officials Expelled By Peron Regime

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—Two of the highest dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina were arrested and expelled from the country today on charges of defying civil authorities and provoking last weekend's violent disorders in the capital.

The two churchmen, Msgrs. Manuel Tato, acting archbishop of Buenos Aires, and Ramon Carlos Novoa, were deported aboard a passenger plane of the government-owned Aerolineas.

On their arrival at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, the two churchmen told newsmen "We were expelled to Rome."

The deportation was unique in that both men are natives of Argentina.

Held In Jail

Msgrs. Tato and Novoa were taken to Villadebota jail at dawn according to their attorney, Dr. Manuel Rio. They had been held overnight at the Buenos Aires Central Police Headquarters after their arrest yesterday.

They and a third church dignitary, Antonio M. Aguirre, were picked up for questioning in connection with the disorders of last Saturday.

Msgr. Tato had been acting as archbishop for Buenos Aires in the illness of Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello, who was in a hospital at the time of the arrests.

Aguirre, after long questioning, was released this afternoon and permitted to return to the church offices.

The attorney said he accompanied the churchmen to the police headquarters where he was told they were held for questioning. Early today, he said, Tato and Novoa were placed under formal arrest and taken to the Villadebota jail.

Search For Records

Catholic circles reported that Argentine police had started a search of all branches of the Catholic Action Organization in the Catholic lay organization and "other mercurial evidence."

It was said that even the offices of Cardinal Copello in the church office were searched.

The circumstances of their departure were not known.

At the same time, congressional circles believed that impeachment proceedings may start tomorrow against Supreme Court Justice Thomas Casares, prominent Catholic lay leader accused of using his office to hinder police action during the weekend disorders.

Stripped of Power

A final decision was expected from today's regular Cabinet meeting which also was being attended by Angel Miel Asquia, president of the Peronista block of deputies.

Reliable sources, earlier today, disclosed the arrest of the two priests. The two were reported stripped of all municipal posts and there were indications they soon would be put on trial.

San Francisco Preparing For Anniversary of U. N.

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The original U. N. charter was back in the city of its birth today to serve as an inspiration during the week's 10th anniversary meeting of the United Nations.

The charter, a 173-page document bound in blue Morocco leather trimmed in gold, arrived under the watchful eye of Andrew J. Cordier, executive assistant to the U. N. secretary general.

It was to be delivered today to the San Francisco Museum of Art in the Veterans War Memorial Building. It was in the auditorium of this same building that the charter was signed 10 years ago.

The charter will be on view next week, along with a U. N. art and photographic exhibit open to the public. The charter's permanent home is in the U. S. National Archives in Washington.

Cordier predicted that the week-long sessions of the United Nations here will be immensely important, despite the ceremonial nature of the meeting. He said the Big Four foreign ministers will undoubtedly discuss plans for the forthcoming "summit" meeting of the chiefs of state in Geneva next month.

"And besides that," he added, "when you get 40 or so foreign ministers in one place, at one time, you can be sure that issues of concern to them will be under discussion."

Police Readied

Meanwhile preparations to guard President Eisenhower and the several score foreign officials attending the meeting were intensified.

President Eisenhower was originally expected here Monday, shortly before he addresses the session at 3 p.m. PDT. However, the White House announced yesterday he will arrive Sunday night, probably about 10 p.m.

The change of plans meant a revision of security precautions. Federal, state and local law enforcement officers met at police headquarters yesterday on ways and means of guarding the President and the delegates of 60 nations.

Supervising Capt. John Engler was assigned a 55-man detail from the Police Department. Details of plain clothesmen will be assigned where needed. Special police and deputies will be at San Francisco International Airport.

Workmen Busy

Meanwhile, scores of workmen were busy at the Veterans Building adjacent to the War Memorial Opera House, where the U. N. meetings will take place. Secretary general Dag Hammarskjold and his aides will have offices in the Veterans Building.

The basement of the Veterans Building was being outfitted as a press and communications center for 600 to 700 newsmen who will be covering the meetings.

Some of the delegates already have arrived. Among them were Sir Leslie Munro of New England and Dr. Charles Malik, Lebanese ambassador to the United States.

A few low ranking Russians have taken possession of the mansion to house the Russian delegation in suburban Hillsborough. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov arrived in New York early today, with 47 secretaries, assistants and security guards. He and his party are due here Saturday.

RILEY D. ALLEN
New Bulletin staff member

Riley D. Allen On Bulletin Staff

Riley D. Allen has joined the staff of The Bend Bulletin as advertising director and business manager, it was announced today.

Allen will have immediate charge of advertising, circulation and business office activities of the newspaper, serving under The Bulletin's publisher.

Allen, 39, came to Bend from the Willows, Calif., Daily Journal, where he was general manager. He is married and has two children, Riley, 14, and Kay, 11. The family is living at 1903 Galveston.

Allen was born at Hammond, Mo., and was educated in the public schools of Ava, Mo., and attended Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., and College of Puget Sound at Tacoma, Wash.

He first entered the newspaper business at Tacoma, where he was classified advertising sales man and later manager of the department for the Tacoma Times.

He later served on advertising staffs of the Merced, Calif., Sun-Star and the Pocatello, Idaho State Journal. He became assistant publisher at Pocatello before moving there to become business manager of the Idaho Free Press at Nampa, Idaho, from where he went to Willows.

Allen is an active member of several Masonic organizations.

Diamond Lake Work Delayed

The state game commission said this morning that the program of planting 150,000 Kamloops trout in Diamond Lake is being held off temporarily pending further toxicity check of the water.

The delay will possibly be a week. The program is the second phase of the game commission's rehabilitation project for Diamond Lake which was cleansed of all fish last September destroying the millions of roaches that had reduced the population of game species.

Rotenone, a powder compound, was used to kill all Diamond Lake fish. The game commission said the latest water test showed that the lake is not yet completely clear of this compound.

The Kamloops to be used are reared at the game commission's Wizard Falls hatchery and average four to five inches in length.

The roaches were so populous in the lake last year that they dominated the food situation making it impossible for the trout to survive.

A similar project is being planned for the Lake of the Woods in Klamath county.

Northwest Flight Diverted to S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A Pan American Boeing Stratocruiser, carrying 47 passengers on a flight from Honolulu to Portland and Seattle, was diverted to the international airport here today when one engine was "feathered" after developing mechanical trouble.

The plane, Flight No. 846, left Honolulu at 11 p.m., Honolulu time last night. Commander Roy Holm, Seattle, reported the plane developed a "rough engine" at 9:35 a.m. PDT, and he decided to divert the flight.

Holm called the Coast Guard to escort the plane in as a "precautionary measure."

Pioneers Study Museum Program

The Deschutes Pioneers association met at the county courthouse last night.

Tentative plans for the construction of a Central Oregon pioneer memorial museum were discussed on the basis of a similar sponsorship by the pioneer museum in Washington state. Plans were completed for the pioneers picnic at Pioneer park on July 17. C. G. Springer, president of the association, presided.

Texas, Indiana Crops Damaged

June weather tried to make a comeback today, but ended up wrecking crops in Texas and Indiana with too much rain and high winds.

Two possible tornadoes, 70-mile-per-hour winds, and up to four inches of rain hit West Texas where farmers were in the grip of a drought not so long ago.

Drumming hail stones wiped out cotton wheat and feed crops on some farms in the area. Also last night, tornado winds demolished another home in Fisher County.

The same kind of weather hit Indiana as warm air tried to fight its way back into the Hoosier state. Drops on hundreds of acres near Delphi were destroyed by flash floods and hail so thick a witness said it was like going through "a fog as thick as pea soup."
