A favorable report on the economic and engineering feasibility of the Wapinitia project, Juniper division, in Oregon has been transmitted to congress, with the estimated cost set at $53,000.

The proposed new division of the Wapinitia project in Wasco county near Maupin, would provide additional irrigation water for approximately 2109 acres now inadequately watered. The lands to be benefited lie west of Maupin, on a plateau between the Deschutes and White rivers.

Works proposed for construction consist of a dam and reservoir or the headwaters of Clear creek, a tributary of White river.

Kept in Touch For 52 Years

CHICAGO (UP)—A round-robin letter has kept five women in touch with each other for 52 years.

They all were close friends at Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., at the turn of the century.

Fearful of losing their friendship as they inevitably became separated, they began circulating letters.

All are more than 70 now. But the letters have continued uninterrupted, bearing news of the joys and heartbreaks of their lives.

"It's been a wonderful way to keep us together," said Mrs. Marie Ludgren of Racine, Wis., "and we really have been kept close."

Every month or so a member of the circle receives an envelope with five letters. She discards the letter she wrote the last time around and adds a new one, sending them on to the next member.

Others in the round-robin circle are: Mrs. May Shoberg of San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Anna Thompson of Williamsfield, Ill.; Mrs. Hilma Isaacson of Gowrie, Ia.; and Mrs. Hulda Carlson of Galesburg, Ill.
