MICKEY HOLZMAN
To rejoin Bend Loggers

Holzman to Play With Loggers

Bend Logger stock rose considerably this morning with the announcement that Stanford University ace Mickey Holzman would rejoin the club Friday.

It is hoped that the ex-Indian, who batted .395 last summer after joining the team near the tailend of the season, will be able to solve the second base problem this weekend against Medford.

Holzman, who just graduated from Stanford last Sunday, was shifted to the outfield this spring where he enjoyed a great season, batting well over .300. If another second baseman becomes available, he may be shifted to the outfield here.

Although bothered by a slight illness, he worked out with the Salem Senators earlier this week.

The Loggers, who dropped two pre-season games to Medford by top-sided scores, open Southern Oregon league play this weekend against the same Cheney Studs at Medford. There will be three games, Saturday afternoon, Saturday night, and again Sunday afternoon.
