State Winds Up Its Case In Portland

PORTLAND (UP) — Mayor Terry Schruk called his first witness today after Judge James W. Crawford rejected a defense move for outright dismissal of the perjury charge on which Schruk is being tried.

The state rested its case at 11 a.m. today and Defense Attorney Thomas H. Tongue and Edw. Hicks moved immediately for dismissal, claiming the state had failed to establish a prima facie case of perjury. The mayor is accused of lying when he said he did not accept a bribe from the manager of the 8212 Club here.

Judge Crawford denied the dismissal motion without prejudice to the defense's right to renew it later.

First defense witness was Everett Grohs, 35, a deputy sheriff who accompanied then Sheriff Schruk on a raid on the 8212 Club in 1955.

Grohs said he was ordered by Schruk to "try to make an arrest" so the sheriff would have grounds to bring abatement proceedings. Grohs said he saw no evidence on which an arrest could be made inside the club but four drunk persons were arrested for being drunk on the street.

Conclusion of the state's case came after Racketeer James B. Elkins was recalled to the stand for further cross examination by Hicks. Once again Elkins denied an addiction to narcotics. Hicks also questioned Elkins regarding bookkeeping methods in his bootleg joints and about a report that one customer once lost $11,000 in one of Elkins' clubs.

Special Assembly Session Seems Unlikely Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) —Some Western nations urged today that the General Assembly be recalled to discuss new details of Soviet brutality in Hungary, but a special session appeared unlikely at this time.

Australia is formally on record as favoring immediate Assembly debate on the special committee report on Russian atrocities in the subjugated satellite nations. Britain and several other countries were reported thinking along the same lines.

The United States, however, is said to feel that a special session should be deferred until just before the next regular meeting of the Assembly opens Sept. 17, in order to assure discussion "on the highest level."

The Assembly is nominally in recess at the moment, and the foreign ministers who customarily sit in at the start of a session have scattered. It appeared likely that a special session at this time would be attended mainly by second-stringers.

No decision is expected one way or the other until Wednesday, when representatives of the 24 nations which sponsored the special Hungary committee meet here at the invitation of the United States.

The committee report, published Thursday, cited such acts of Soviet savagery as the wanton shelling of undefended buildings and the barbarous shooting of women and children in breadlines.

Princess Jo Ann Has Quiet Charm, Cameo Appearance

By ILLA S. GRANT
Bulletin Staff Writer

Sweet, quiet, delicate, poised — these are adjectives that describe pretty 18-year-old Jo Ann Jorgenson of Bend's 1957 Fourth of July Water Pageant court.

Princess Jo Ann is a green-eyed honey blonde with a cameo complexion. Five feet, six inches tall, she weighs 116 pounds and has a model's measurements — 34-23-35.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan T. Jorgenson, 1454 Hartford Avenue, she was born May 8, 1939, in Onamia, Minn. She has a brother, Lane, 19, and a sister, Carol, 12. The family came to Bend seven years ago from Gilchrist. Jo Ann attended Gilchrist and Kenwood grade schools before entering Bend High School.

In school, homemaking was her favorite subject. She was secretary of the Pep club, scribe for The Spicians, and a member of Future Homemakers of America. She was both local and state secretary for the Distributive Education Clubs of America, an organization for students with part-time jobs. She was graduated with this year's class. The gentlest blonde was third place winner in the "Miss Skywatch" beauty contest in Bend last July 14, celebrating the fourth anniversary of "Operation Skywatch." Twenty-one attractive girls from a number of Oregon communities participated.

Another tribute to Jo Ann's pulchritude and poise was her selection as a princess for the Junior-Senior prom.

The winsome princess enjoys swimming, these summer days, and sewing and cooking are her special hobbies. She is equally adept at whipping up a luscious cake, or cutting and fitting a party frock. She prefers fluffy, feminine clothes, and pink is her favorite color. From personalities in the entertainment world, she picked George Radnar and Susan Hayward as representing qualities she admires.

Princess Jo Ann is might busy this summer. Besides being one of the Bend's comely ambassadors, she has a job at the Pacific Power and Light Company office. Then there are dates with her steady boy friend.

"A job and marriage — perhaps business courses at Central Oregon College" constitute Jo Ann's plans for the future. The job has already materialized, and the princess is working on her trousseau. "I'm enjoying every minute of the Pageant preparations," said the dainty princess. "Being selected as a member of the court was the biggest thrill of all."

Courts and queens from the Crooked River Roundup, the Jefferson County Fair, Lebanon Roundup, Mollala Buckaroo, Cottage Grove and Medford are expected to be on hand.

State police said the boy was hit while he and a companion were walking along the highway about 5 p.m. Driver of the car was Arlene Mandell Hostetter of Winston.

The youngster was taken to Winston emergency hospital by his mother and died enroute to a Canyonville hospital.

Gem, Mineral Show Planned

Arrangements for Bend's first gem and mineral show, to be featured as a part of the 1957 Mirror Pond Pageant program, are taking final shape.

Primarily featured at the show will be semi-precious minerals, cut and polished a gemstones, petrified woods, and other materials ranging from iridescent opals to large crystals found in the old lands of Central Oregon.

The show will be under auspices of the Deschutes Geology Club, with Merle Jones as general chairman. Exhibits will be in the Oregon National Guard armory, on Wall street.

Several valuable collections will also be on display. These will include the Colby butterfly collection, with the butterflies shaped from colored agates; the Melby sphere collection, the Keller collection of plume agates and the Springer collection of figurines made in Europe from colorful obsidians found on Oregon's high desert.

Also to be displayed will be a collection of rare amber found on the shores of the Baltic many years ago by a German family. Twenty-three of the exhibits will largely feature gem stones found in Central Oregon.

Eleven commercial exhibitors have signed for space in the armory. They will display gem material from the southwest, as well as the northwest.

The gem and mineral show will open its doors daily at 9 a.m. and close at 7 p.m., so there will be no conflict with the pageant.

Hundreds of "rockhounds" and visitors are expected from all parts of the northwest.

Tornado Hits Fargo, Eleven Dead Counted

By RICHARD HILL
United Press Staff Correspondent

FARGO, N.D. (UP)—A tornado killed six children in one family to boost the death toll in Thursday night's devastating twister to at least 11. Another 105 persons were injured.

Authorities desperately sought to contact the dead children's father, Gerald Munson, who was out of town and apparently unaware of the tragedy.

Only the mother and one child of the family of nine survived the disaster. Both the mother and her young son, Rickey, were hospitalized.

The dead children were identified as Mary Beth Munson, 16 months; Lois Ann, 2 1/2 years; Jeanette, 5; Bradley, 10; Darwin, 12, and Phyllis, 16.

The mayor ordered the city under martial law today, turning all law enforcement to five National Guard units which were rushed here to prevent looting and aid in the mammoth cleanup job.

The twister smashed into Fargo like a "huge black arm," blasting about 100 square blocks of this city of 45,000 people. About 250 buildings were destroyed or damaged. Many of them in the new Golden Ridge subdivision.

Damage was estimated at more than one million dollars.

Searchers were hampered during the night by a power failure as the winds tore down electrical lines and knocked out communications. Volunteers probing the debris in foggy weather today said they feared they would find additional bodies in the shattered buildings.

Mrs. Munson was hospitalized with shock and was placed under heavy sedation. Injuries to her only surviving child were not immediately determined.

The other four victims were Don Tigen, 27, an unidentified man in his 50s, a woman about 40, all of Fargo, and a woman in the Ashton-Arhol area of South Dakota.

The twister plowed a jagged path through residential districts, causing heaviest damage on the west side of Fargo. It swept into the city from the west.

Gov. John Davis ordered a detachment of 200 National Guardsmen from Camp Grafton, N.D., to the city to aid in patrol and cleanup duty. They were aided by Navy and Air Force reservists, members of the Finley Air Force Base in Fargo and state police.

First Appearance In Nightclub Made by Benny

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Jack Benny Thursday night made his first nightclub appearance of his long entertainment career. He opened a three-week engagement at the Flamingo Hotel.

The veteran comedian for years refused nightclub offers but admitted he couldn't turn down the fabulous offer made by the Flamingo. It was believed that he was engaged more than $80,000 for his engagement at the swank resort hotel on the Las Vegas strip.

His debut was cheered by a capacity audience. The show included singer Gisele MacKenzie.

Wheat Farmers Favor Quotas

WASHINGTON (UP) — American wheat farmers have voted overwhelmingly in favor of rigid marketing quotas for their 1958 crop.

Preliminary returns from the 36 commercial wheat states showed today that 83.3 per cent of the farmers voting in the referendum favored rigid quotas.

It will be the fifth successive year that marketing quotas and acreage allotments have been in effect.

The returns tabulated by the Agriculture Department showed 143,333 growers favored quotas while 28,833 were opposed.

Of the major producing states, Minnesota polled the largest percentage of yes votes at 97.1.

The favorable vote means that all farmers with more than 15 wheat acres will be subject to quotas, excess wheat will be subject to quota penalties, and price support at a national average rate of $1.78 a bushel will be available to producers who do not exceed their acreage allotments.

PENDELTON (UP) — Umatilla county, the largest wheat growing county in the state, approved Thursday the wheat market quotas of the 1958 crop by an overwhelming majority of 91 1/2 per cent.

Ex-Oregon Men Quizzed At Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Two former Oregon men have refused to answer questions put to them by a House un-American activities subcommittee now holding hearings here.

Robert Nissen, 29, former Marine Corps lieutenant, former Albany, Ore., resident and a graduate of Oregon State College, refused to answer when asked "is it not a fact you wrote a letter to the Soviet Union offering your services in any capacity, either in the United States or abroad?"

Nissen is now a San Francisco television and electronics engineer.

Sidney Rubin, 41, a former professor of economics at OSCR, refused to testify before the subcommittee, invoking constitutional provisions. He formerly worked for the National Labor Relations Board in Denver and Kansas City. Rubin declined to answer when asked if there is a Communist cell among NLRB employees in Denver. He was on the OSCR faculty from 1946 to 1952.

Nissen refused on constitutional grounds to say whether he was a member of the Communist party while in military service. He admitted he was discharged under conditions other than honorable but said "I never could figure out why."

Subcommittee Member Gordon H. Scherer (R-Ohio) and Counsel Frank Tavenner asked Nissen repeatedly whether he had joined the Soviet Union written in 1951 during the Korean conflict.

Summer Here, But Mercury Hits 30 During Night

Summer officially arrived in the North Temperate zone this morning about five hours after the temperature in Bend dipped to a chilly 30 degrees.

This was the third time in the present month that temperatures below freezing have been recorded at the Bend station.

Summer astronomically arrived at 8:21 P.M. at the earth's North Pole tilted slightly more than 23 degrees toward the sun in its summer solstice salute.

Calendars say this is the longest day of the year, but for the next several days the sun will rise and set about the same time. This will set this evening at 7:51, Bend time.

Searchers Hampered Posts Manned

Men who will guard the Deschutes National forest in the 1957 fire season were at their stations in the forest's fire districts today, following the end of the guard school.

The school was held this year at the Crescent Lake orientation camp, with just short of 70 trainees present. Ideal weather prevailed for this year's camp, which opened on June 17 and ended Thursday night.

Members of the Deschutes National Forest headquarters staff at Bend were among those present for the "graduation" exercises at the camp last night. One of the speakers was James A. Egan, Deschutes supervisor.

A highlight of the program was the presentation to Maxine Kohfield and R. S. Stuckney of the Bend office staff with 10 year service awards.

This was the training school in many years that the first school was not held at the Pringle Falls experiment station headquarters. The camp was moved to Crescent Lake this year so all taking part would be under roof.

Trainees, a considerable number of them new to fire detection and control work, received instruction that ranged from map reading to phases of smokechasing.

Don Peters, in charge of fire control work on the forest, was in general charge of the guard camp.

Idaho Power Cancels Fast Tax Write-Off

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate today approved a bill to authorize construction of a "high" dam at Hells Canyon on the Snake River.

The bill still must be approved by the House Interior Committee and then passed by the House itself.

Endorsement of the measure was a major victory for its Democratic supporters who have waged an unsuccessful, four-year fight to get the project through Congress.

The Senate's action in favor of a government "high" dam came at the end of a hectic three day debate which was thrown into confusion by Idaho Power Co's surprise cancellation of rapid tax write-offs of benefits for construction of two of three low dams on the Snake.

The Office of Defense Mobilization accepted the company's request that its application for fast tax write-off privileges be cancelled.

The bill's supporters said the company's action was a "desperate last minute" maneuver designed to kill the measure.

Proponents of the high dam had used the write-off grant as their main argument against the three administration-backed low dams, which would be flooded out by the upper Hells Canyon unit.

Because of the confusion brought on by Idaho Power's announcement the fate of the measure was in doubt right up to voting time.

Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.) had said shortly before the roll was called that "if this measure is rejected the campaign for a high Hells Canyon dam will never be able to rise again."

The jammed galleries, although warned in advance against any demonstration, broke into loud applause when the vote was announced.

Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.) ailing and hospitalized for months, made his first appearance on the floor since January to vote for the bill.

Reinforced by the Senate's action, Democrats were expected to intensify their efforts to push for final enactment of the high dam bill in the House.

The Senate vote was a major defeat for the Eisenhower administration which has steadfastly opposed a government "high" dam.

Democratic senators charged the company and again today that they gave up the write-off in an attempt to swing congressional votes against the federal proposal.

ODM officials discussed the cancellation at a conference this morning. A spokesman said a telegram had been received from T. E. Roach, Idaho Power president, withdrawing the application.

Inquiry Prompted
Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of a Senate subcommittee, which has been investigating the write-off, said the inquiry will continue. He sent Roach a telegram asking him to "wire immediately the names of officers of the executive branch of the government with whom he or other company officials discussed the cancellation."

In the Senate, meantime, Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) asserted the company's decision had deprived the Democrats of their best propaganda weapon in their current battle of public vs. private power. He said he would ask other private companies in the Pacific Northwest to follow Idaho Power's example.

Geologists Plan Potluck Picnic

Deschutes Geology Club members this evening will join in their annual potluck picnic at the Glen Vista Rock Garden.

Club members and their friends are to meet at the garden at 6:30, where W. A. Winney will be host. He is operator of the rockery, one of the top gardens of its kind in the area.

The Winney garden, with its adjacent rock garden, is in the Glen Vista area a short distance north of Bend, to the east of the old Bend-Sisters road.

The turnoff to the rockery is marked. Those attending are to bring their "eats" for the potluck, with coffee and other beverages to be served.
