West European Socialists Crack Back at Khrushchev

By United Press
West Europe's Socialists today challenged Nikita S. Khrushchev to raise before the United Nations his charges that the United States and Turkey are creating a "real danger" of a new world war by "threatening" Syria.

The Socialists, in effect, told the Soviet Communist Party boss that his appeal for their help in alleviating tensions in the Middle East had been misdirected.

Khrushchev, in similarly worded letters to the Socialist parties in seven Western European countries, Tuesday accused the United States and Turkey of preparing a "military adventure" against Syria. He warned that such "military provocations" could touch off World War III.

Procedure Resented
There was considerable resentment in some Western quarters over Khrushchev's use of diplomatic channels to deliver his message to Socialist parties not in power. The British press, in particular, was particularly loud in its criticisms of Khrushchev's violation of diplomatic courtesy.

The letter was sent to Socialist parties in Britain, Norway, Denmark, France, Italy, Belgium and the Netherlands by the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee over Khrushchev's signature.

Joint Session Planned by Clubs

Special to The Bulletin
FORT ROCK — The annual 4-H Achievement Night for Fort Rock and Silver Lake clubs will be held jointly on Friday, October 18.

Skits, musical numbers and 4-H awards will be included in the program. Fort Rock club members will present an original skit written by their leader, Mrs. Leonard Pitcher.

The British, Norwegian and Danish Socialists pointed out in their replies that the keeping of the peace in the Middle East as elsewhere in the world was the function of the United Nations.

Propaganda Maneuver Seen
They urged Khrushchev to bring the Soviet charges of planned aggression against Syria before the United Nations if he was so concerned over the threat of war.

From Moscow, United Press correspondent Whitman Bassow reported that diplomatic observers saw the Khrushchev letter as another propaganda maneuver aimed at enhancing the Soviet Union in the eyes of the Arabs. The diplomats said they saw little new in the latest blast.

Lebanese Foreign Minister Charles Malik Tuesday reaffirmed at U. N. headquarters Lebanon's pledge to side with the Arab world in a conflict with the West but to stand "unreservedly on the side of the free world" in the "totalitarianism and dialectical materialism."

Camus Favored To Win Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UP)—Literary critics today placed French author Albert Camus as the odds-on favorite to win the Nobel Prize for Literature.

The coveted award, worth more than $40,000, will be announced Thursday.

Camus was believed to be the front runner by far in a field which included Japanese, Italians, Greeks and other Frenchmen.

No United States writers were reported in the running.

Camus is the author of a novel, "L'Etranger;" a philosophical work, "Le Mythe de Sisyphe," and two plays, "Le Malentendu" and "Caligula."

Half of Troops Return to Base In Kentucky

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — Half of the 1,000 Army troops sent here to enforce court-ordered integration of the Central High School return to their Kentucky base today in view of the relative calm prevailing in this previously tense city.

However, a spokesman for Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, commander of the Army troops, said it may be "several more days" before 8,500 members of the 10,000-man federalized Arkansas National Guard are mustered out.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker earlier this week ordered the paratrooper integration force halved and 85 per cent of the Guardsmen demobilized.

The paratrooper members of the 101st Airborne Division were scheduled to fly out this morning in giant transport planes.

Terrance Roberts, 15, one of the nine integrated Negro students, disclosed Tuesday that he was ready last week to quit and return to Horace Mann (Negro) School.

"I told a bunch of the kids last week that I was ready to quit, but I was mad," he said. "They (white kids) had been giving me a bad time, throwing erasers and saying things in the hall."

"But I'm going back, some time this week, I hope."

Terrance and Melba Patillo, 15, another of the Negroes, skipped school Monday and Tuesday because of flu.

"The only way I'll quit school is for them to pack me out," Melba said. "Whether the troops are there or not, I'm going to school."

Meanwhile, six Little Rock businessmen who are spokesmen for a group that has condemned violence called upon Gov. Orval E. Faubus Tuesday.

Fight Promised In Child Case

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actress Marie Wilson promised tearfully today to fight with all her might to keep a three-month-old baby girl she and her husband adopted from an unwed mother three days after birth.

The actress and her husband, TV producer Bob Fallon, were served with a writ Tuesday ordering them to appear in Superior Court Monday to show cause why they should not give up custody of the infant to the baby's attractive, 21-year-old mother.

Miss Wilson explained that she and Fallon had paid for the young woman's medical expenses and gave her $75 a month in expense money during her pregnancy.

Geologic Map of Bend Area Published by U. S. Agency

A geologic map of the Bend quadrangle, accompanied by a descriptive text, has just been published by the state's Department of Geology and Mineral Industries, in cooperation with the U.S. Geological Survey.

The publication also holds a reconnaissance geologic map of the Central high Cascade mountains.

The two maps and their texts are printed on one large sheet, which folds to a convenient 7 by 11 inch size. The various geologic formations and rock units are indicated by color and pattern.

The map of the Bend quadrangle has a scale of 1 inch to two miles and shows in detail the geology and topography of the area surrounding Bend and Redmond.

The larger reconnaissance map shows in a generalized way the geology of the central part of the high Cascades extending from Mt. Jefferson to Crater Lake and including the Bend and Newberry quadrangles on the plateau to the east.

The author is Dr. Howel Williams, department of Geologic Sciences, University of California. He is an authority on volcanology and long familiar with this region of lava flows, volcanic peaks, cinder cones, fissures and fault blocks. He visited Bend on a number of occasions while working on field trips.

The geologic history of the area, Dr. Williams shows, is chiefly a complex series of volcanic eruptions of various types, ranging from the Eocene to the Recent, some occurring within the last 1,000 years.

"The descriptive texts accompanying the maps are written in a non-technical style, their purpose being to make understandable to the many interested persons who visit or live in this scenic region and wish to interpret what they see", Hollis M. Dole, head of the American Indians prized the lotus as a food, and perhaps traded lotus seeds to food-hort colonists.

State Department of Geology and Mineral Industries, said.

The publication may be obtained from the department's office in Portland, 1988 State Building. The price is $1.00.

In the text accompanying the maps, Dr. Williams traces the possible source of the welded dacite tuffs found west and northwest of Bend, and expresses his belief that they were discharged from a parasitic vent high on the northeast flank of the Broken Top volcano.
