

Ike, Nikita huddling in crucial cold war talks

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev resumed their crucial cold war talks over the breakfast table at Camp David, Md., early today, seeking to determine whether they can chart a course to ease east-west relations.

The President and the Soviet leader met for breakfast at 8:15 a.m. ed. in the President's cottage overlooking a Maryland mountain valley which today was shrouded by dark, low lying clouds.

break for lunch and possibly separate conferences by the American and Soviet delegations before joint business sessions resume in the early afternoon.

Later in the day, experts from the fields of defense, atomic energy and foreign trade were expected at Camp David. They represented the top echelons of both governments.

"discussion meetings" with no attempt at negotiation of any problem involving a third nation. This did not rule out talking about such volatile issues as Berlin, Laos and disarmament, but the United States wanted the world to understand that Eisenhower would not be a party to any agreement involving an absent nation.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko; Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, and Llewellyn Thompson, U.S. ambassador to Moscow; Soviet Ambassador Mikail Menshikov and A. A. Soldatov, Soviet foreign ministry expert on American Affairs, joined the group.

After dinner, the President and the premier moved from the dining table back to the glass-enclosed porch and settled in comfortable chairs and divans. At one end of the long, red oak paneled room, a cinemascopic screen for 16 millimeter movies was lowered almost noiselessly from a niche in the ceiling.

According to Hagerty, the premier wanted to see a special motion picture, with sound track both in English and Russian, of the 1953 voyage of the American atomic submarine Nautilus under the ice of the North Pole.

WEATHER

Cloudy tonight and Sunday. High 57-64. Low tonight 38-44.

THE BEND BULLETIN

CENTRAL OREGON'S DAILY NEWSPAPER

TEMPERATURES

High yesterday, 63 degrees. Low today, 44 degrees. Sunset today, 5:54. Sunrise tomorrow, 5:58.

56th Year Eight Pages Bend, Deschutes County, Oregon, Saturday, September 26 1959 Ten Cents No. 248

Japan ripped by typhoon, damage high

TOKYO (UPI)—Typhoon Vera packing 138 mph winds hit the heavily populated mid-section of Japan tonight and first reports indicated casualties and damages would be heavy.

At least 13 persons were dead, 69 injured and there were 47 missing. But communications were knocked out over a wide area and these figures were believed to be only a fragment of the total.

First reports said 173 houses were destroyed, 28 of them completely washed away. More than 12,000 homes were flooded and more than 40,000 acres were under water.

The city of Nagoya, 150 miles west of Tokyo, was knocked out with a complete power failure. All telephones and public transportation were disabled.

The British owned vessel, Changsha, capable of carrying more than 100 persons, was reported aground near Nagoya and in danger of being pounded to bits by typhoon tossed seas.

The typhoon was one of the most powerful, broad and dangerous in recent years.

It was expected to spare this capital city the full brunt of its power as it curved to the northeast.

The storm was curving northeast at freight train speed of 43 m.p.h. It was expected to hit the Sea of Japan, curve back and pass close to the foreigners resort colony of Karuizawa, 100 miles north of Tokyo, and then pass out into the Pacific ocean by noon tomorrow.

The storm's 450-mile wide front brought virtually all of Japan within in range of its winds and torrential rains.

Rescue ships pluck airmen from ocean

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Ten Navy airmen were picked up from two life rafts off the Oregon Coast early today by the Coast Guard ship Yacoma.

The Yacoma, and the freighter Olympia Pioneer were directed to a position 110 miles west-southwest of the Columbia River mouth Friday night after the Navy men ditched their P5M seaplane in the Pacific Ocean. A Coast Guard plane spotted the survivors, dropped a portable radio set and determined that all 10 men escaped their disabled plane without injury.

Both rescue ships reached the area where flares marked the position of the rafts but the Yacoma reached the scene first and made the pickups.

During the night, search airplanes circled over the life rafts, keeping tabs on their position by the flares kept burning aboard the rafts. Coast Guard air-sea rescue headquarters here said visibility was extremely poor with a heavy overcast and drizzle.

The British owned vessel, Changsha, capable of carrying more than 100 persons, was reported aground near Nagoya and in danger of being pounded to bits by typhoon tossed seas.

The typhoon was one of the most powerful, broad and dangerous in recent years.

It was expected to spare this capital city the full brunt of its power as it curved to the northeast.

The storm was curving northeast at freight train speed of 43 m.p.h. It was expected to hit the Sea of Japan, curve back and pass close to the foreigners resort colony of Karuizawa, 100 miles north of Tokyo, and then pass out into the Pacific ocean by noon tomorrow.

The storm's 450-mile wide front brought virtually all of Japan within in range of its winds and torrential rains.

The storm was curving northeast at freight train speed of 43 m.p.h. It was expected to hit the Sea of Japan, curve back and pass close to the foreigners resort colony of Karuizawa, 100 miles north of Tokyo, and then pass out into the Pacific ocean by noon tomorrow.

The storm's 450-mile wide front brought virtually all of Japan within in range of its winds and torrential rains.

Police probe girl's death at Centralia

CENTRALIA, Wash. (UPI)—Sheriff's officers theorized today that Sherry Edgell, 9, was raped and murdered by a man she knew and trusted.

The child's body was found here Friday night, climaxing a 24-hour search for the girl. She had been strangled and her throat had been slashed. The girl was clad only in a nightgown and one shoe.

Dr. Charles Larson, a Tacoma pathologist, said an autopsy showed Sherry had been criminally assaulted, then strangled. Her throat was slashed after she was dead.

The youngster had been the object of an intensive search since she disappeared Thursday night from her home here. She disappeared from her bedroom while her mother was at work. A 14-year-old girl who was babysitting in the mother's absence said she heard no disturbance.

The youngster had been the object of an intensive search since she disappeared Thursday night from her home here. She disappeared from her bedroom while her mother was at work. A 14-year-old girl who was babysitting in the mother's absence said she heard no disturbance.

The youngster had been the object of an intensive search since she disappeared Thursday night from her home here. She disappeared from her bedroom while her mother was at work. A 14-year-old girl who was babysitting in the mother's absence said she heard no disturbance.

The youngster had been the object of an intensive search since she disappeared Thursday night from her home here. She disappeared from her bedroom while her mother was at work. A 14-year-old girl who was babysitting in the mother's absence said she heard no disturbance.

The youngster had been the object of an intensive search since she disappeared Thursday night from her home here. She disappeared from her bedroom while her mother was at work. A 14-year-old girl who was babysitting in the mother's absence said she heard no disturbance.

The youngster had been the object of an intensive search since she disappeared Thursday night from her home here. She disappeared from her bedroom while her mother was at work. A 14-year-old girl who was babysitting in the mother's absence said she heard no disturbance.

The youngster had been the object of an intensive search since she disappeared Thursday night from her home here. She disappeared from her bedroom while her mother was at work. A 14-year-old girl who was babysitting in the mother's absence said she heard no disturbance.

The youngster had been the object of an intensive search since she disappeared Thursday night from her home here. She disappeared from her bedroom while her mother was at work. A 14-year-old girl who was babysitting in the mother's absence said she heard no disturbance.

HEAD LAWYERS—New officers of the Oregon State Bar, from left, are C. S. Emmons, Albany, president; John H. Holloway, Portland, secretary, and Clarence D. Phillips, Portland, vice-president. Ray Mize, Portland, was named treasurer.

MODERN PORTIAS—Women of the Oregon Bar had their day today, and the annual Queen's Bench breakfast was held this morning. Among the 15 or 20 women lawyers here for the convention are (from left) Dorothy Martindale and Gladys Everett, Portland; Noreen Kelly, Medford; Thelma C. Fowler, Eugene, and Bonnie Mentzer, Portland.

Albany man named president in final bar business session

By Ila S. Grant
Bulletin Staff Writers
C. S. "Pat" Emmons, Albany attorney, was named president of the Oregon State Bar, at the final business session of the silver anniversary convention this morning.

Other new officers are Clarence D. Phillips, Portland, vice-president, and Ray Mize, Portland, treasurer. John H. Holloway, Portland, was re-elected secretary.

New members of the board of governors are Robert C. Anderson, Astoria; J. T. Monahan, Milton-Freewater; William M. Dale Jr., Portland, and G. W. Keelington, Medford.

Auditorium packed to hear talk by TV's Perry Mason

The silver anniversary convention of the Oregon State Bar was over the hump today, with estimates of attendance ranging from 1200 to 1400. It has been increasingly difficult to make an accurate nose count because not all the late-comers — wives and guest couples from outside the legal profession — have registered.

At noon today, the count of lawyers stood at between 700 and 800. Peak attendance so far at any one event was for the address by Raymond Burr, the Perry Mason of television fame, last night in the Bend High School auditorium.

Seven hundred and fifty barristers and guests attended a dinner first in the school gymnasium, and because so many were disappointed at not being able to obtain tickets, the program was moved to the auditorium. About 1300 persons were present.

The occasion was an anniversary for the handsome Hollywood actor, he mentioned in his opening remarks. Just 20 years ago yesterday, he was given a job as a deputy sheriff in Klamath county. Also in Oregon before his rise in the entertainment business, he was a forest service employee and manned a weather station.

Obviously plugging his show, Burr said that "at no time before have we had the opportunity of seeing a defense attorney played with integrity, honesty and respect for the law, wishing for justice for the client he represents."

Since the advent of the Mason show, the speaker said, it has become easier for juries to be empathized. He interprets this as an indication that the public is becoming more aware of the functions of the law, and more interested in the administration of justice, as the result of education through the entertainment media.

Comparing public relations of the legal profession unfavorably with that of the medical profession, Burr said that not in the past 20 years, with minor exceptions, has a doctor been presented in a bad light by TV or the movies. He expressed the belief that continuation of the Mason show, and others of its caliber, will increase the prestige of the legal profession.

Proceeding the address, recognition was given to 60 members of the Oregon Bar who have 10 members 50 years or longer, to some 600 who have reached the quarter-century mark. H. H. DeArmond of Bend, a former Deschutes county judge and state representative, responded for the 25-year group.

Robert F. Maguire, Portland, made the response on behalf of the lawyers and judges who have reached or passed their golden anniversary in the profession. George L. Hibbard of Oregon City, retiring bar president, presided.

At noon today, the traditional barbecue this evening was still scheduled for the Bend Municipal Baseball park. The tent show has been moved indoors, however, and will be held at the Bend High School auditorium.

Final event of the convention will be the Buckaroo breakfast Sunday morning at the Rim Rock Riders corral in Glen Vista. Serving will start at 7:30, an hour and a half earlier than originally announced.

Members of the legal profession, the speaker said, are well qualified to alert the free people of the world to the dangers of ignorance, acquiescence, and the Marxist-Lenin doctrine.

Crime boss, blonde killed in New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—A honey blonde former Miss America candidate and "Little Augie" Pisano, for years one of the nation's most notorious crime overlords, were shot gangland style in a quiet Queens residential neighborhood.

Two assassins were seen running from the death car and fled either in a taxi or a waiting getaway car.

Residents of the neighborhood, hearing a fusillade of shots, ran out and found the 61-year-old hoodlum slumped over the steering wheel, blood streaming from his head.

Pisano's record showed scores of arrests, several for murder, but not one conviction. In recent years, his activities were understood to have dwindled, and he had become regarded as something of an elder-statesman in the underworld. He kept a stable and was known for his interest in horse racing.

Alongside him was Mrs. Janice Drake, 32, the beautiful honey-blonde wife of Comedian Alan Drake, who won 32 beauty contests in her teens and reigned as Miss New Jersey in 1944.

She was then known as "the girl with the most beautiful legs in the world". Following her failure to win the Miss America title, she drifted into obscurity and apparently became friendly with gangland overlords.

She was questioned in the murder of Nat (The Manufacturer) Nelson who was shot in 1952 two hours after a date with the curvy blonde. She also was questioned in the 1957 murder of Albert Anastasia, onetime high executioner of Brooklyn's Murder, Inc. gang.

Her relationship with the overlords of crime never was made clear.

Pisano, for years an associate of the nation's most notorious gangland figures included Al Capone and Anastasia, was shot three times in the head, Mrs. Drake was shot twice, also in the head.

Portland (UPI)—The Oregon State Board of Census announced the population of the state has increased 16.8 per cent since the last official census in 1950.

Oregon's certified population as of July 1, 1959, was 1,777,000.

The 1950 census listed the Oregon population at slightly over one and one half million persons. Multnomah county showed a jump of 14.5 per cent. The total is 540,000 compared to 471,537 in 1950.

Portland is listed with a population of 405,000 inhabitants. A total of 373,628 was noted in the 1950 census.

Eugene Over Salem
Oswego moved into a tie with McMinnville as the 23rd city in size, at 7,300.

Eugene had 770 more than Salem.

New population figures for Oregon cities above 5,000 with the 1950 figure in parenthesis included:

Eugene 49,870 (35,870); Salem 40,100 (43,140); Medford 25,300 (17,305); Corvallis 20,250 (16,207); Klamath Falls 20,200 (15,875); Pendleton 15,650 (11,774); Albany 14,300 (10,115); Springfield 14,000 (10,007); Bend 13,300 (11,400); The Dalles 12,050 (7,676); Astoria 12,000 (12,331); Grants Pass 10,200 (8,116); Roseburg 12,250 (8,390); La Grande 9,500 (8,635); Baker 10,120 (9,471); Ashland 8,900 (7,739); Oregon City 8,750 (7,682); Coos Bay 8,020 (6,223); North Bend 7,800 (6,099); Hillsboro 7,770 (5,142); McMinnville 7,300 (6,835); Newport 5,200 (5,241); Forest Grove 5,750 (4,343); West Salem 5,000 (3,053); Dallas 5,440 (4,791); Beaverton 5,000 (2,512); St. Helens 5,215 (4,711); Lebanon 6,500 (5,875).

Squaw Creek is on the rampage, and fear was felt at noon today that the bridge at the site of the old school mill north and west of Sisters would be washed out.

County road crews were standing by and making every effort to control the thick flow of debris to avoid as much backup as possible behind the bridge, County Judge D. L. Penhollow said this morning.

The huge volume of water is the runoff of early snow that started last Sunday in the Bachelor Butte and Three Creeks area. There was heavy rain all last night in the mountains.

Every year, Judge Penhollow said, uncoupled thousands of acre feet of water are lost because there has been no reclamation on Squaw Creek, and there are no dams to retain the overflow.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—A strong earthquake that registered between 6.5 and 6.75 on the Richter Scale was reported early today by the University of California Seismographic Station.

The quake's location was undetermined, according to Dr. Don Tocher, but it was centered approximately 625 miles from Berkeley. Tocher said there were indications it might have centered to the northwest, off the coast of Oregon.

The quake occurred at 37 seconds past 1:22 a.m. (p.d.t.). Tocher said the tremor was "potentially damaging" if it was near any inhabited areas, and that it could have centered in northern Mexico or some other direction other than the Oregon coast.

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI)—Prime Minister Solomon W. R. D. Bandaranaike died today of bullet wounds inflicted by a disgruntled Buddhist monk. The government moved swiftly to head off possible civil strife.

Heavily armed guards spread out over the city and took up positions outside the houses of ministers and members of parliament. The nation was under a state of emergency.

He said the skirmishes were at Ban Dontalet in Champassak Province and at Ban Van Mohn in Thanhkhek Province.

Acting Foreign Minister Sisook Nachampassak said five Communist Pathet Lao rebels were wounded and two captured in skirmishes with government troops in southern provinces.

He said the skirmishes were at Ban Dontalet in Champassak Province and at Ban Van Mohn in Thanhkhek Province.