Well, bleak months for television now in past

By Fred Dantz

NEW YORK (UPI) — The parched, bleak months of network TV — July and August — are behind us at last. Until next July and August, at best, and sooner at worst.

I sometimes have the feeling that the summer re-run cycle is inflicted upon TV viewers in order to make us look with eager, panting anticipation to the so-called "new" shows that will comprise much of the so-called "new" season. It's a little like hitting yourself on the head with a hammer because it feels so good when you stop.

However, as a public service, I propose to look on the brighter side of things. I'm handing out small puffs of appreciation for July-August programs that displayed some greenery amid the general summer-time desolation. My "cactus" awards go to the following:

Best summer variety series — "The Spike Jones Show," CBS. Best detective series — "Diagnosis Unknown," CBS. Best sets — "Moment of Fear," NBC.

Best musical program — "Music For a Summer Night," ABC. Best new series — "The Robert Herridge Theater," CBS. Seen only in the New York area. It'll be a proud moment for TV when and if it gets into network programming.

Best public affairs show — "Lippmann on Leadership," CBS. Best full-hour drama — "Shadow of a Pale Horse," on the "U.S. Steel Hour," CBS. With Dan Duray and Frank Lovejoy.

Best re-run series — "Silents Please," ABC.

Most welcome summertime re-run — "Hollywood Nights," NBC. With Tammy Grimes and Eddie Albert. Nicest horse — The spotted animal that Jason Evers rides on "Wrangler," NBC.

As for the low spots of the July-August famine period, I nominate the following: Sloppiest series — "Chevy Mystery Show," NBC. Worst casting — Red Buttons as a Cockney detective in a "U.S. Steel Hour" play.

Sickest play of the summer, non-Western variety — "The Third Party" on "Moment of Fear" series, NBC. Worst comedy pilot — "Magie," with Margaret O'Brien, seen on "New Comedy Showcase," CBS.

The Channel Swim: Teen-age idols Frankie Avalon and Fabian will join dancer Gwen Verdon and comedian Sherry Berman on the opening Perry Como show, Wednesday, Oct. 5 on NBC-TV. Como is taping a show with Bob Hope in Hollywood next Wednesday for viewing on Nov. 16.

Dick Clark's final Saturday night show for ABC-TV, on Sept. 10, will include filmed highlights of the series.

Jackie Gleason hopes to star in a one-hour CBS-TV sports special in which he would play golf against Arnold Palmer and billiards against Willie Mosconi.

August goes in record as cool month

Most Central Oregonians realize this fact, but it must go into the record:

August, 1960, was a cool month. The mean temperature for the 31 days was 58.2 degrees, which compares with a long-time average of 62.8 degrees.

The August chill was attributed to two periods of low temperatures, at the start of the month and in the final 12 days that dropped the mercury to 27 degrees in Bend one night and kept the daytime temperatures in the sixties on six different days.

Highest temperature recorded here in the month was 92 degrees, the lowest was 27. The mercury tumbled to freezing or below on three different nights.

Only 0.23 of an inch of rain was recorded in the period. Actually, that rain fell on the final day of July. Observations at the Bend station were taken at 7 a.m. daily, and precipitation measured is for the previous 24 hours.

Program given by swimmers

Special to The Bulletin PRINEVILLE — A Water-De-O with a Mardi Gras theme was held at the city swim pool yesterday evening at 7:30 p.m. as a special program to mark the approaching end of the summer swim season.

The hour-long program was staged by swimmers from the summer swim program under the supervision of all pool personnel. Lighting and other mechanical arrangements for the colorful show were managed by Tom Van Etten, pool supervisor for the summer, assisted by Robin Gerke and Curtis Sisco, lifeguards.

Jean Edwards, a life guard, was in charge of formation swimming. Carolyn Burr supervised a comedy routine, and Judy Wheeler, the pool cashier, managed the racing part of the program.

Enid Bolton was in charge of a water ballet, one for boys and two for girls. Miss Bolton was another lifeguard at the pool this summer.

In charge of the diving performance was Mrs. Earl Bankoff, water safety instructor. Each number in the show was given a title pertaining to a Mardi Gras.
