'Upper country' to receive increased voltage service

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE — Crook county's "upper country", from Prineville southeast to Izee near the Grant county line, is to receive increased voltage service in the near future, according to a contract which was awarded conditionally by the Central Electric Cooperative on October 21.

Six bidders submitted their figures for the installation of a line high-voltage line, to carry 69,000 volts from the Prineville Junction to a substation at the Porfily ranch near Post.

The present line carries 14,000 volts, and serves that ranching area from a Prineville substation, which will be abandoned when the new transmission line is installed. Low bidder with the Wilson Construction Co., Portland. The bid, $120,140.52, is to be sent to The Dalles for a review of the details of the contract, and from there the bid will go to Washington, D.C. for review by the REA.

About 30 days will be required for reviewing the bid. If it is approved, the company will have 30 days in which to begin work, and will have a completion schedule of 75 working days. All new poles and new line are to be installed.

The project is in line with the policy of the CEC to keep abreast with demand development.

Included in the contractor's agreement is a specification that working crews must not interfere with farm work as they proceed with their new installation.

The low bid was approved by the board of directors at the time the bids were opened. Alva Teeter is president of the board and John Norlin is the manager of the Central Electric Cooperative, Inc.

The group also announces that the annual meeting of the co-op will be held in late November. At this meeting, all members and their families are invited. There will be a program, a noon meal and other features of business and entertainment.

Cuban demands for 'invasion' debate spurned

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Rejection of Cuba's demand for urgent General Assembly debate showed the United Nations placed little credence in its charges the United States planned an invasion within hours, diplomatic sources said today.

The allegation was made Tuesday by Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa.

He charged also that the United States was preparing a staged incident at the Guantanamo naval base in connection with the presidential elections.

But the 20-nation Steering Committee turned down the demand for direct assembly debate and voted to send the issue to the Political Committee where it may not come up for several weeks.

The 99-nation Political Committee was engaged in debate on disarmament that was expected to continue for some time. Although two meetings were scheduled at 10:30 a.m., EDT, and 3 p.m., EDT, only Iran and Cambodia were listed to speak.

Fidel Castro's "aggression" charges against the United States occupied the Steering Committee for hours Wednesday.

Roa tried to convince the Steering Committee of the urgency for full General Assembly debate by leveling his charges of an imminent invasion and a faked incident.

He said a U.S.-backed invasion — which Cuba warned on Oct. 18 might come "within a few days" — now was expected within a matter of hours.

Later he told the committee: "At this very moment, the government of the U.S. is preparing a manufactured provocation at the Guantanamo naval base for the sake of the U.S. elections."

Newhouse probe has extended to other states

PORTLAND (UPI)—The probe into the shotgun wounding of Oregonian production manager Donald Newhouse has spread into other states, police said today.

Newhouse is recovering from the wound, suffered Oct. 16 while he was working in the basement of his home.

Two detectives were sent to Nevada Tuesday to check on a reported tip.

Detective Capt. O. K. Robinson said the investigation is taking more time than he had expected. Several tips have been checked out.

The Oregonian and Oregon Journal announced a special committee had been named to determine who would be paid the $10,000 reward put up by the newspapers when the case is solved.

Kennedy says it's time U.S. picked itself up, moved forward

By United Press International
Sen. John F. Kennedy: (In Barrington, Ill.): "The fact of the matter is that the administration has refused to make this matter (government report on U.S. prestige abroad) public."

"The reason is that it shows the administration and Mr. Nixon are wholly misinformed about our position in the world."

"If people around the world get the idea that Russia is the strongest power, how many will stay with us? It is time for us to pick ourselves up and go forward again."

(In Geneva, Ill.): "I have not detected any note of urgency in the speeches of Vice President Nixon. Is it your judgment that this country can afford to proceed as it has? Do you really accept the word of Mr. Nixon?"

(In Elmhurst, Ill.): Nixon has "mis-stated the facts (about the prestige report) either because he chose to misinform the public or because he was 'misinformed himself.'"

"Mr. Nixon has seriously misled the American people about his survey and its results in at least four important ways."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon:
(In nationwide TV speech from Cincinnati): "Kennedy shows dangerous and erroneous judgment on Quemoy-Matsu, the U2 incident and Cuba."

(In text of TV speech but not actually spoken): Kennedy was a "utterly unknowing and irresponsible" in saying the Eisenhower administration tried to persuade Chiang Kai-shek to withdraw troops from Matsu and Quemoy.

Administration officials talked to Chiang "not about abandoning Quemoy and Matsu but only about how best to relate the defense preparations on those islands to the over-all objective of maintaining the security of Formosa and the Pescadores..."

(In statement on U.S. space accomplishments): "The Eisenhower administration has just about closed an inherited space gap. We have been hard at work on the related problem, the so-called missile gap — likewise inherited — and we have achieved great success."

"We have surpassed the Soviet lead in space competition in all respects but that of rocket thrust, where the failures of the last administration handed the Soviets a several-year lead; and even that lead is soon to be surpassed."

Apparel sales sag, bringing decline in use of U.S. wool

By Gaylord P. Godwin
UPI Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today U.S. mills were expected to use about 245 million pounds of apparel wool in 1960 compared with 261 million pounds in 1959.

The department said this decrease of more than 5 per cent was due to a decline in retail store sales of apparel items. With the continued strong competition of synthetic fibers, the increase in the imports of wool goods and no major change likely in consumer expenditures in 1961, total mill consumption probably will continue at about this year's level.

Carpet wool mill use was expected to total about 165 million pounds this year compared with 168 million pounds in 1959. The department said this drop was due, in part, to a decline in new residential construction.

The department estimated total wool consumed in the United States this year will be about the same as the 550 million pounds used in 1959.

World wool prices probably will remain relatively stable at present levels until late 1960, the department said, when some further decline can be expected, due to continued heavy offerings of wool and less mill consumption in the major manufacturing countries.

The United States uses more wool than it produces. In an effort to encourage domestic wool production, the government has set the incentive level for the 1961 marketing year (April 1, 1961, to March 31, 1962) at 62 cents per pound for shorn wool.

This is the same level as for each of the first six years of the wool incentive program. The support level for mohair for the 1961 marketing year has been set at 73 cents per pound, 3 cents higher than for the first six years.

The plentiful foods list for December is headed by broiler-fryers and fresh cranberries, according to the department.

This year's cranberry crop has been forecast at 1,315,500 barrels, record large and 32 per cent above average.

The department said that because December is not a peak demand time for broilers and fryers, the large supply of these tendermeated birds may mean that shoppers will find them marketed at lower-than-usual prices.

Other items on the December plentiful foods list include fresh dates from California, onions, peanuts, vegetable fats and oils, and turkeys.

Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle and calves into eight selected North Central states during September totaled 703,000 head, down 9 per cent from September, 1959.

Shipments of stocker and feeder sheep and lambs into the same states — Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota, and Nebraska — in September amounted to 722,000 head, compared with 554,000 head during September a year ago.

The beet sugar industry has estimated beet sugar production in 1960 at a record 2.4 million tons. The previous high, established last year, was 2.31 million tons. This year's record crop of sugar beets was expected to bring farmers cash returns of more than $240 million.

Johnson rites held on Monday

Special to The Bulletin

PRINEVILLE — Funeral services were held Monday at 2 p.m. in the Prineville funeral home for Mrs. Jennie McPheeters Johnson, who died October 21, in Salem. Mrs. Johnson was a pioneer resident of Central Oregon. She was born Sept. 21, 1873, at Medoc, Mo., and lived there until she was 12 years of age.

At that time, her widowed father took his family first to La Grande and later to Burns, where he was an early-day physician.

In May, 1898, Jennie McPheeters and B. J. Johnson of Prineville were married. They lived in Prineville for many years, with Johnson serving as county assessor and deputy forest supervisor. For many years he was connected with the Oregon and Western Colonization company, in which he was associated with Judge M. R. Biggs, a lifetime friend.

Mrs. Johnson was preceded in death by her husband in 1945. She is survived by her daughter Mrs. Dessell Clarke, Salem, and nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Johnson was queen of the Crook county Pioneer Association in 1936. She was buried in the town she wore on that occasion. Burial was in Juniper Haven cemetery.
