

WEATHER

Fair through Wednesday; highs 34-40; low 7-12.

THE BEND BULLETIN

CENTRAL OREGON'S DAILY NEWSPAPER

TEMPERATURES

High yesterday, 38 degrees. Low last night, 9 degrees. Sunset today, 4:27. Sunrise tomorrow, 7:26.

58th Year

Ten Cents

Bend, Deschutes County, Oregon, Tuesday, December 6, 1960

Eight Pages

No. 1

NO PAVEMENT—Typical Bend dirt street stretches off into distance. Bend has smaller percentage of its street mileage paved than any other Oregon city in its population group, save only Klamath Falls.

Future mulled by creditors of plant here

By Phil F. Brogan
Bulletin Staff Writer

Half a hundred chilled creditors meeting in a big, half-heated room of the Henslee trailer plant in Bend this morning considered the future of the now-closed firm.

Up until noon, when the large group took time out for lunch, no decision had been reached. It was agreed that the discussion should be considered this afternoon. A warmer meeting place, the Deschutes County circuit courtroom, was obtained.

Although no decision relative to the future of the mobile homes plant was reached at the morning session, a proposal that a committee of creditors and stockholders be named to study fully involved financial obligations of the firm appeared to be generally favored.

Possible Sale

This committee, if named, would explore the possibility of selling the operations to some trailer manufacturing firm.

Present for the conference was E. R. Fant of Dallas, Texas, major stockholder in the firm. He noted in his opening remarks that "I have one ray of hope": He said that in Dallas, Tex., there is a new mobile home firm interested in a northwest operation. That interest, Fant said, was made manifest only yesterday.

Fant said he would like very much to see the plant continued in Bend.

But financial reports and questions by creditors emphasized the fact that any attempt to reorganize the firm and place it in operation will result in many headaches.

The overall indebtedness of the plant, including the building cost, was placed at around $553,000. Total assets were tentatively listed at $406,000.

Business Bad

Furthermore, Fant mentioned, the trailer business has suffered badly in the past year. In the Los Angeles area alone, it was noted, 21 such firms entered bankruptcy.

A curtailed operation of the local plant was suggested. But, it was pointed out, such operation would result in a slow, long time payout of obligations.

Part of the big loss suffered by the local plant in the past year was attributed to a drop in the price of completed trailers.

That drop was around $1,000 per completed unit.

Here to advise with the creditors and local group was Frank Dudley of the Oregon Association of Credit Managers. Most of the creditors were from out of town.

Before the group at the time of adjournment for noon was the proposal that a committee be named to explore the plant's finances and its future.

Alva C. Goodrich, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce unit that worked to obtain the new industry, presided at the start of the meeting.

Reward boosted to over $2000

PORTLAND (UPI) — The reward for information leading to the discovery of Beverly Ann Allan, Washington State eed abducted and feared slain, was raised to more than $2,000 today.

Multnomah county commissioners put up $500 in reward money at their meeting today. Earlier the girl's parents offered $1,000 and $500 was offered by an anonymous Portland businessman in addition to an unknown amount raised by residents of Port Townsend, Wash.

TO INTEGRATE SCHOOLS
DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanganyika, (UPI) — The government announced Monday it is planning to integrate white, Negro and Asian students in its school system.

Post Office busy

This is no news to members of the Bend Post Office staff: Christmas is rapidly approaching.

The annual rush is well underway at the local office and will continue to gain in volume in the coming week. Between 12 and 14 persons will assist the regular staff in handling the yule mail.

Postmaster Farley J. Elliott said the extra crew, already signed, will be composed largely of persons who worked last Christmas. There were many applicants for yule mail jobs this season, Elliott noted.

Ike, Kennedy session marked by cordiality

Red China may soon join world 'nuclear club'

LONDON (UPI) — British experts were reported today to have warned the government that Red China can be expected to become a nuclear power in its own right "very soon"—possibly next year.

No details were available to substantiate the warning, but the suggestion of Peiping's advance in the nuclear weapons field was believed to have played at least some part in the Soviet Union's anxiety to get world communism lined up behind its policy of "peaceful coexistence."

A new "Communist Manifesto" adopted by a summit gathering of world party leaders in Moscow and released Monday revealed to the West that the Soviet Union had won the battle for peaceful coexistence—at least on the surface.

Although Red China's early nuclear potential is expected to be only rudimentary, the fact that Peiping has been able to develop itself in this field creates new problems not only for the West but also for Moscow.

Authoritative sources said there was reason to believe that Peiping may not be far off now from exploding its first nuclear device. This would make it an atomic power along with the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union and France.

Last week, unsubstantiated reports from Moscow said Red Chinese President Liu Shao-chi had claimed before the Red summit that his country was on the verge of becoming an atomic power.

County to get record check in share of forest receipts

Deschutes County is to receive as a special "Christmas gift" a check for $485,079.28, representing an all-time high in returns from U.S. National Forest lands for the fiscal year ended June 30.

Last year's receipts aggregated $367,184. The previous high in receipts returned to Deschutes county was in 1957, when a big federal check for $440,273.02 was received.

J. Herbert Stone, U.S. Forest Service regional forester, announced in Portland today that checks totaling a record $19,117,917.88 have been mailed to state treasurers of Oregon and Washington. This money represents the share of the two states in receipts from various national forests in the past fiscal year.

The amount is based on revenue from 19 different forests. Oregon's total check was $12,629,206.82, and that of Washington $6,488,711.06. The total is nearly three million dollars more than last year.

The payments represent 25 per cent of the receipts from all uses of the national forests.

Under provisions of the federal law, 25 per cent of the total receipts is returned to the states for distribution to the counties in which forests are located.

The share of each county is in proportion to the acreage of national forest land within the county. The law provides that the money must be used for public roads and schools.

Three-fourths of the money goes to roads, one fourth to schools.

Jefferson county also shares in Deschutes National Forest receipts and will receive a check for $87,627.15.

In returns from the Ochocho National Forest, Crook county will receive a big check for $288,149.59.

Forester Stone pointed out that in addition to the money turned in to the federal treasury and local governments, national forests contribute to local welfare through money invested in permanent improvements and payrolls.

"Multiple use management of our national forest pays off in many ways," Stone said.

Thirty of Oregon's 34 counties share in the fiscal year receipts. Lane county, with about $2,500,000, topped the Oregon recipients.

Police busy with reports on red cars

PORTLAND (UPI) — The sheriff's office said today it had so many reports on red or maroon cars in connection with the investigation into the disappearance of a coed and the slaying of her boy friend that it assigned one clerk a full job of classifying them.

An all-points bulletin was put out earlier asking for information on a 1949 to 1951 model car of that color reported seen in the vicinity where Larry Ralph Peyton, 19, was slain and Beverly Ann Allan, sophomore at Washington State University, was abducted more than a week ago.

"The public response has been wonderful," said Capt. Gordon Auburn, chief of Multnomah County detectives. "There is tremendous interest in this case. It is cases like this which the public often helps break."

Three teenagers in Klamath Falls told police they spotted a dark red 1949 car parked on a city street there about noon Monday in front of a laundromat and that it had a broken grill and primer spots on both sides of the hood. City police there said they were unable to locate the vehicle.

However, authorities reported no new promising lead.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allan, Monday returned to their home at Port Townsend, Wash.

9th grade text comes under fire at Salem

SALEM (UPI) — The ninth grade textbook "Adventures for Today" came under heavy fire today at a public hearing conducted here by the State Textbook Commission.

About 55 persons, most of them from the Portland area, attended the hearing.

Mrs. James Willcock of Tigard was the first person to speak and she challenged the volume on two points, some of its material and some of the authors.

Stories in the text criticized included "The Restless Ones" by Leslie Waller; "Pygmalion" by Frank B. Gilbreath Jr. and Ernestine Gilbreath Carey; "I Can't Breathe" by Ring Lardner; "The Heart" by Louis Untermeyer; and "Osculation" by Henry Harrison.

Mrs. Willcock said "we parents try to guide and mold our children's thinking" on subjects of early dating, hazard of going steady, and "the alarming increase in teenage pregnancies and marriages."

"What a shock to us to pick up their literature textbook and find they are being given a different concept through trash in the classroom," she said.

Dr. Lloyd Millhollen of Eugene, chairman of the commission, said the state has a contract with the publisher of the book until 1963 and the book "cannot legally be removed from the approved list."

Millhollen said the commission does not read every approved text but every book is read by a regional network of committees made up of teachers and other educators. The books are in turn screened by the commission.

Another rabid bat discovered

PORTLAND (UPI) — Discovery of another rabid bat in Oregon prompted a state health official today to term the situation a "significant health problem."

Dr. H. Grant Skinner, health department epidemiologist, said the latest rabies finding was in a dead bat discovered in The Dalles area.

BURNS TO DEATH
MEDFORD (UPI) — A man, not yet identified, burned to death in his home here this morning. City firemen said he apparently fell asleep while smoking a cigarette.

Firemen said damage to the one-room house was confined to the bed and immediate area.

Joint pledge on U.S. peace aims issued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower and President-elect John F. Kennedy held a "cordial" three-hour meeting today and joined in pledging that the United States will continue "to seek peace with justice in freedom for all peoples."

Kennedy disclosed that Eisenhower assured him he would be glad to be of "future service to the country" if asked to serve in the new administration.

Kennedy told newsmen the assurance was given when he asked the President whether he would be willing to undertake an assignment if requested after leaving the White House Jan. 20. Kennedy did not say what he had in mind.

Today's friendly meeting on transition problems contrasted to the frostiness that has accompanied some other conferences between incoming and outgoing presidents.

In Jovial Mood

Kennedy and Eisenhower were in a grinning, jovial mood when they greeted each other on the White House front porch.

In a formal joint statement issued after their meeting, Kennedy and Eisenhower said they had discussed important world problems and described the conversations as "extremely informative."

"The government of the United States has and will continue to seek peace with justice in freedom for all peoples," the statement said.

Kennedy and Eisenhower said the talks will provide a better foundation for an orderly transfer of executive responsibility to the Democratic administration.

Eisenhower offered to hold a second similar meeting, Kennedy said he might take him up on the offer.

Kennedy, in talking to newsmen afterwards, stressed the cooperation and friendliness of Eisenhower in helping to solve the problems of transition.

Eisenhower Very Helpful

He said Eisenhower has been "extremely helpful" and that the President had "gone to great pains" to help in the transition.

In their formal statement, Eisenhower and Kennedy said: "We believe that through such orderly processes the continuity of government affairs will be assured and our people will continue to demonstrate that they are united in the nation's leadership toward peace."

"We reaffirm the historic American position that this nation does not covet the territory of any people nor does it seek to dominate the control of any other nation."

"The American people and their government have consistently sought to protect the freedom and have tried to help people throughout the world better their standard of living. These national objectives will be vigorously pursued by the incoming administration."

Discuss Dollar Problem

In their talk, the two men paid particular attention to the outflow of gold and dollar reserves from this country because of a deficit in the U.S. balance of payments.

Their statement said the discussions also covered "major problems of peace, security and freedom throughout the world."

On the domestic front, they took up operation of the executive branch of government, including those aspects related to national security, as well as the White House staff operation.

The cordial tone of today's meeting was set when Eisenhower and Kennedy met on the front steps of the White House. They grinned broadly and shook hands warmly.

Rainey notes reason for count change

Bend's official population as of April 1, 1960, is 11,936, according to final figures released by the U. S. Bureau of the Census.

This is a small gain over the preliminary figure of 11,748, announced in May.

The difference between the two figures, according to district census director Horner Rainey, is caused by enumeration of persons whose home is in Bend, but who were out of town on "enumeration day" — March 31.

These persons — away on vacations, business trips, or in the armed services — were enumerated at their temporary residences and the figures referred back to their home towns for final accounting.

Final figures announced for other incorporated towns in Central Oregon were as follows: Redmond, 3,340; Prineville, 3,263; Madras, 1,515; Sisters, 602; Culver, 301; and Metolius, 270.

Figures Given

Total population of Deschutes county was given as 22,100, of which 15,276 was classified as urban, the rest rural. Crook county's population was given as 9,430, with 3,293 urban. Jefferson county was listed at 7,130, with none of it classified as urban. (Urban population was defined, roughly, as population of areas of 2,500 or more.)

Total population of the three counties in the Central Oregon area was 39,660, of which 18,339 is classified as urban.

Don't get eager with shears, speaker warns

"Don't get eager with the pruning shears," Mrs. David Wilson warned members of Mirror Pond Garden Club at their meeting last Friday. It's still too early, she said.

As program chairman for the day, Mrs. Wilson spoke on care of shrubs and trees. She said that pruning should be done in mid-winter or spring. Then all cut surfaces from branches thicker than a pencil should be painted with a wood protection such as clear shellac.

Mrs. Wilson also showed a catalogue of greenhouses suitable for the Central Oregon climate. She expects to have one installed in her rose garden in the spring, she said.

Mrs. Bernice Coad was hostess to the group, assisted by Mrs. Robert Anderson. Twelve members were present.

Each woman brought a Christmas arrangement copied from a Christmas card. An exchange of gifts added to the Christmas spirit.

DOW-JONES AVERAGES
By United Press International

Dow-Jones final stock averages: 30 industrials 597.11, up 3.62; 20 railroads 128.82, off 0.48; 15 utilities 96.35, up 0.69, and 65 stocks 195.32, up 0.89.

Sales today were about 2.36 million shares compared with 2.29 million shares Monday.

Tough question

Too many dirt streets here?

(First of 2 articles)
By Michael Mahoney
Bulletin Staff Writer

Does Bend have too many dirt streets?

If we say that it should keep pace with cities in its population class, the answer is yes. If we say that it should keep pace with the state total for all city streets, the answer is no.

About 52 per cent of Bend's street mileage is paved. This is a lower percentage than that of any other city in the 10 to 25 thousand population class in Oregon, with one exception: Klamath Falls.

According to information furnished by the State Highway Department, 34 of Bend's 66 miles of streets are paved. Of the remaining mileage, 14 miles are surfaced with gravel and 18 miles are unpaved.

One Below Bend

Of the ten other cities in Bend's population group, only Klamath Falls has a smaller percentage of

Vandals hit pumice pit, probe made

Sheriff Forrest C. Sholes and his deputies were called yesterday to investigate vandalism at the Miller pumice pit, which caused damage estimated to be around $300. Equipment was damaged with guns, apparently on Sunday.

A large pumice loading machine bore the brunt of the destruction. Bullets were shot through windows and into the radiator, valued at about $200. Cost of replacement or repair is increased by the work delay while the equipment is unusable, Miller told officers. Shots also went through a large steel tank.

Sheriff Sholes said that the area of the pumice plant, about two and a half miles west of Bend, has been the destination of numerous young people recently, for target practice.

Officers warned those who visit the area that a careful watch is being made, and that areas containing buildings or equipment are out of bounds.

Mercury drops to nine degrees

Bend last night was chilled by its coolest weather of the season, but the low mark recorded here, 9 above zero, was "warm" compared with others in Oregon east of the Cascades.

The Oregon State Highway Department reported a low of -4 at LaPine and a similar reading at Chemult, to the south on U. S. Highway 97.

Colest reporting spot in Oregon was Austin in the Blue Mountains, where a low of -7 was recorded.

Clear, cool weather was general over Central Oregon this morning. More zero temperatures are expected in the area tonight.

Future mulled by creditors of plant here

Half a hundred chilled creditors meeting in a big, half-heated room of the Henslee trailer plant in Bend this morning considered the future of the now-closed firm.

Up until noon, when the large group took time out for lunch, no decision had been reached. It was agreed that the discussion should be considered this afternoon. A warmer meeting place, the Deschutes County circuit courtroom, was obtained.

Although no decision relative to the future of the mobile homes plant was reached at the morning session, a proposal that a committee of creditors and stockholders be named to study fully involved financial obligations of the firm appeared to be generally favored.

Possible Sale

This committee, if named, would explore the possibility of selling the operations to some trailer manufacturing firm.

Present for the conference was E. R. Fant of Dallas, Texas, major stockholder in the firm. He noted in his opening remarks that "I have one ray of hope": He said that in Dallas, Tex., there is a new mobile home firm interested in a northwest operation. That interest, Fant said, was made manifest only yesterday.

Fant said he would like very much to see the plant continued in Bend.

But financial reports and questions by creditors emphasized the fact that any attempt to reorganize the firm and place it in operation will result in many headaches.

The overall indebtedness of the plant, including the building cost, was placed at around $553,000. Total assets were tentatively listed at $406,000.

Business Bad

Furthermore, Fant mentioned, the trailer business has suffered badly in the past year. In the Los Angeles area alone, it was noted, 21 such firms entered bankruptcy.

A curtailed operation of the local plant was suggested. But, it was pointed out, such operation would result in a slow, long time payout of obligations.

Part of the big loss suffered by the local plant in the past year was attributed to a drop in the price of completed trailers.

That drop was around $1,000 per completed unit.

Here to advise with the creditors and local group was Frank Dudley of the Oregon Association of Credit Managers. Most of the creditors were from out of town.

Before the group at the time of adjournment for noon was the proposal that a committee be named to explore the plant's finances and its future.

Alva C. Goodrich, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce unit that worked to obtain the new industry, presided at the start of the meeting.

Reward boosted to over $2000

PORTLAND (UPI) — The reward for information leading to the discovery of Beverly Ann Allan, Washington State eed abducted and feared slain, was raised to more than $2,000 today.

Multnomah county commissioners put up $500 in reward money at their meeting today. Earlier the girl's parents offered $1,000 and $500 was offered by an anonymous Portland businessman in addition to an unknown amount raised by residents of Port Townsend, Wash.

TO INTEGRATE SCHOOLS
DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanganyika, (UPI) — The government announced Monday it is planning to integrate white, Negro and Asian students in its school system.

Post Office busy

This is no news to members of the Bend Post Office staff: Christmas is rapidly approaching.

The annual rush is well underway at the local office and will continue to gain in volume in the coming week. Between 12 and 14 persons will assist the regular staff in handling the yule mail.

Postmaster Farley J. Elliott said the extra crew, already signed, will be composed largely of persons who worked last Christmas. There were many applicants for yule mail jobs this season, Elliott noted.

Red China may soon join world 'nuclear club'

LONDON (UPI) — British experts were reported today to have warned the government that Red China can be expected to become a nuclear power in its own right "very soon"—possibly next year.

No details were available to substantiate the warning, but the suggestion of Peiping's advance in the nuclear weapons field was believed to have played at least some part in the Soviet Union's anxiety to get world communism lined up behind its policy of "peaceful coexistence."

A new "Communist Manifesto" adopted by a summit gathering of world party leaders in Moscow and released Monday revealed to the West that the Soviet Union had won the battle for peaceful coexistence—at least on the surface.

Although Red China's early nuclear potential is expected to be only rudimentary, the fact that Peiping has been able to develop itself in this field creates new problems not only for the West but also for Moscow.

Authoritative sources said there was reason to believe that Peiping may not be far off now from exploding its first nuclear device. This would make it an atomic power along with the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union and France.

Last week, unsubstantiated reports from Moscow said Red Chinese President Liu Shao-chi had claimed before the Red summit that his country was on the verge of becoming an atomic power.

Area Democrats favoring caucus

Executive committee members of the Deschutes County Democratic party favor organization of the state senate by a caucus of the Democratic majority of senators, without help from the Republicans. They also voiced strong support for Robert W. Straub, state party chairman.

The Democrats held a 20 to 10 edge over the GOP in senate membership of the 1961 legislature.

A resolution will be offered the central committee here December 11 calling upon the 20 senators to meet in caucus and select their leader by majority vote. The entire 20 senators would then back this senator under the unit rule and thus insure his election on the senate floor.

The executive committee members let it be known that they deplored the pre-caucus action by one Democratic senator in enlisting votes from Republican senators in an effort to win election with a minority of Democratic votes. This senator is Harry Boivin of Klamath Falls, who has already claimed he has enough GOP votes and Democratic pledges from senators to elect him president of the senate.

However, this has been challenged by the Democratic state committee, who has called on the Democratic senators to elect the senate president themselves, without aid from the Republicans.

Volume increases

The mailing rush this year appears to be a bit ahead of schedule. This has been attributed to several factors. One is the snow of the past week that graphically reminded residents of the area that Christmas is nearing.

Another factor, apparently realized by Post Office patrons, is that Christmas this year comes on a Sunday. Over the entire country Post Offices will face the triple holiday problem in delivering late mail.

In Bend, however, all parcels received on Sunday, December 25, will be delivered that day. The following Monday will be a general holiday.

At the Bend Post Office, the volume of outgoing mail is increasing daily. On Monday afternoon it was necessary, for a time, to staff an extra window to receive outgoing mail.

Christmas mail is also coming in to the Bend office in ever-increasing volume, with packages, letters and cards represented.

If the mailing tempo appears to be high, the Bend office will remain open on Saturday afternoon of this week. Only two Saturday mailing days remain, since Saturday, December 24 will be Christmas eve.

BUY FROM ISRAEL
BONN (UPI) — The West German Defense Ministry announced Monday it will order 120,000 infantry ammunition pouches from Israel.

Christmas mail rush begins

This is no news to members of the Bend Post Office staff: Christmas is rapidly approaching.

The annual rush is well underway at the local office and will continue to gain in volume in the coming week. Between 12 and 14 persons