Unheralded Hill grabs playoff in Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — There was a new star on the golfing horizon today and the little guy will take no back-talk from anyone when it comes to handling a set of clubs.

His name is Davey Hill, 145 pounds of power from Denver, Colo., who whipped the greasy Tommy Bolt, and another beginner, Buddy Sullivan, in a dramatic play-off for the $20,000 Tucson Open golf crown Sunday.

Davey, a baby-faced 23-year-old with a crew cut, a wife and tiny baby, rolled in a down-hill, twisting 15-foot putt on the third extra hole to top Bolt and Sullivan for top money of $2,300. The losers each collected $1,650.

"I'm going on from here to compete in the Baton Rouge Open," said the exuberant Hill after the victory. "I plan to play the full tour. This is the life."

It was a spectacular victory for Davey. He had started the day trailing Sullivan, a 29-year-old sophomore of the tour from Yuba City, by five strokes. He shot a five-under-par 65 on his final round—topping it off with a 13-foot eagle putt on the last hole—for a 269 total.

Chances fade for Oregon fives

By United Press International
If they go by records, Oregon State, Oregon and Portland can just about write off getting an NCAA postseason basketball play-off invitation.

Seattle's Chieftains made sure of this Saturday night.

The Chiefs, reversing an 11-point loss to Oregon last month in Eugene, recorded a 61-57 decision over the Ducks Saturday night at Seattle to almost insure—by records—the Northwest independents' at-large spot at the NCAA Western regionals next month.

The win ran Seattle's record to 13-7 with three games left. Oregon State, dropping its second in a row to improved Idaho 54-47 Saturday night at Moscow, slipped to 13-9.

Oregon and Portland, which lost to Notre Dame 69-49 Saturday afternoon at South Bend, Ind., stand 12-9.

Oregon State has four left, two with Southern California this weekend at Corvallis and a pair with Oregon.

Oregon has five games remaining, one with Portland at Vancouver, Wash., Friday night, two with Washington State and the two with the Beavers, and Portland has four left, one with Washington of St. Louis tonight at St. Louis, the one with Oregon and a pair with Gonzaga.

SCORING:
Oregon: Simmons 7, Warren 5, Moore 7, Hayes 3, Strickland 21, Mack 8, Kimpton 6.

Seattle: Butler 13, Mills 16, Miles 18, Shaules 4, Dunston 10.

OSC: Carty 6, Jacobson 3, Anderson 17, Rossi 2, Baker 19, Flynn 2, Woodland 7.

Sports Talk . . .

BY BILL THOMPSON

The plan to "save" Portland's Multnomah Stadium — ie, to enlarge its capacity to 40,000 — has been greeted with mixed feelings by loyal Northwest sports fans.

Writes nature-lover J. A. Coolhead of Beaverton:

"Summer at Multnomah Stadium is one of the quietest and most serene vacation spots in the West. By boosting the seating capacity, it should be even quieter."

But loyal Portland Beaver baseball fan R. G. Holdog disagrees:

"It's bad enough to get a cheering section together at the present plant. With more seats, the few fans we've got will probably get lost. I say we've got to stick together. The only solution is to build the Beavers a 250-seat stadium."

Football fan Ace McNutt of Sandy wonders whether there will be sufficient parking.

"Right now I have to leave my car three miles away. If they add all those seats, cars will probably be stretched clear out to Sandy. And I'll be forced to hitchhike. Thank God for television."

Bucky Buckaroo, current Portland hockey nut, has come up with what he feels is an ideal solution.

"Now look what you've got — a red-hot hockey town and an ice cold baseball bunch. I say throw out the Beavers and keep the Bucks all year around. When they get through with the current hockey season, the Bucks could switch to baseball. At least they've got some following. They couldn't do any worse than the Beavers, and we'd still love 'em for their great season this winter."

Icey Puck, another hockey enthusiast, believes the city should drop baseball and have hockey all year round.

"The only thing to do is to stick in an ice rink at Multnomah," says Icey. "Then maybe you'd have a reason for enlarging the stadium."

dium."

Ivy P. Leaguer, longtime feminine football fanatic, thinks the new stadium plans are just lovely.

"Oh, think of it. A whole 40,000 cheering all those wonderful hunks of beef on the Oregon University football team. And those magnificent mighty males on the pro squads. So what if it takes four hours to get to your parking place? Just the chance of rubbing shoulder pads with George Shaw is perfectly thrilling. Oooh, isn't it just tremendous?"

Writes O. A. Nostalgia, star quarterback on the 1903 Medford Midgets:

"Aw, that's a bunch of foolery, enlarging the stadium. Why back in my day, we rarely ever played before 50 people. And I tell you, it was a lot better game. Those were the days you had to be a man. You had to block - block-block and tackle - tackle - tackle. Now all they do is run - run - run and pass - pass - pass. Too commercial, that's what it is. I say tear out the stands they've got and just leave the field. Let's give the game back to the boys."

Oren P. Squeezehard notes there is a plan to sell seat rights for $200.

"So you've got a right to a seat. So you've got to buy your ticket. What do they think we are, a bunch of millionaires?" writes Squeezehard.

"They think they're going to sell 8,000 of these 'seat rights' a nd make a million, six hundred thousand. Hah, they'll be lucky to sell eight."

"Don't they read the papers? Don't they know we're in a depression? Don't they know this is a depressed area? Do they think we're a bunch of saps? They wouldn't buy a seat right. I wouldn't give 200 bucks for the whole stadium."

We Cut Out 2,000 Pounds Dead Weight Found in the Standard Half-Ton Truck

—STARTING WITH THIS REVOLUTIONARY ALUMINUM ENGINE

Dead weight in an engine is the enemy of efficiency. That's why airplane engines are made of aluminum. And that's why Volkswagen's engine is cast of aluminum and magnesium alloys (even lighter than aluminum). Volkswagen reduces dead weight in still other ways. The engine is air-cooled — no heavy, bulky, radiator, no water. Then we put it in the rear and got rid of the conventional heavy drive shaft.

As a result the engine weighs an honest, efficient 182 pounds (S.A.E.)—and it saves you dollars as long as you own it!

Did you know that the VW Panel Truck above holds 830 pounds more than a standard half-ton? But costs only half as much to run?

We created this unique vehicle to fill a basic need. A truck that would carry a big load (7 1/2 ton), yet would not be a scaled-down version of heavy, over-the-road trucks, or delivery trucks that were simply converted sedans. A truck that is economical to own and to operate.

This VW Panel Truck (without its 1,830-pound load and driver) weighs only 2,100 pounds—about half as much as standard half-ton trucks. Yet the VW gives you 830 pounds more load at half the usual operating costs. You save on gas, oil, repairs and tires. The VW Truck also saves your time. Since it is only 9 in. longer than a VW Sedan, it can be parked, or loaded and unloaded, where other trucks can't. You'll find all these built-in advantages only in the VW Truck. The VW Panel costs $2163 delivered locally. Try one. You'll be in good company, for in the past few years Authorized VW Dealers have delivered over 100,000 to businessmen whose trucking needs have been met efficiently through VW Truck design.
